

SUPPLY—ST. ALDWYN POST OFFICE—
Con.

McCraney, G. F. (Saskatoon)—5922.

The village of Broderick, on the C.P.R., now called on the time table, St. Aldwyn, originally Cromar—5922. There was great confusion in the postal service to Broderick because its name was changed. There was a St. Aldwyn post office south of Moosejaw. A letter from E. W. Beatty—5923. In Broderick before the election they did not seem to know anything of the change of name. The community want the name of Broderick—5924. A letter from Mr. Duval. Hopes the minister will consider the convenience of the people. G.T.P.R. names—5925. If the Postmaster General insists the C.P.R. will change the name. Reads the correspondence—5927. That is contrary to the information Mr. Beatty gives him—5928.

Pelletier, Hon. L. P. (Postmaster General)—5926.

The C.P.R. changed the name to avoid confusion with another station called Roderick. The difficulty can be settled by reference to the Railway Board—5926. Thinks the post office name is still Broderick. All letters for both Broderick and St. Aldwyn go there—5927. The department has requested the C.P.R. to keep the name of Broderick. Will send the correspondence—5928.
