

S. C. M. Celebrates At Golden Jubilee

Association Was Established As Y.M.C.A. in 1882

The Student Christian Movement of McGill will reunite on the occasion of the golden anniversary of its establishment as the old McGill Y.M.C.A. This reunion will take the form of a banquet, and will be held on Saturday, December 10th at 7 o'clock in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

Dr. H. M. Torry, a past president of the McGill Y.M.C.A., and past-Principal of the University of Alberta, will be the principal speaker of the evening. Sir Robert Falconer, who resigned his presidency of the University of Toronto last year and who is one of the leading educationalists of Canada, will be one of the noted out-of-town guests visiting here for the banquet and Sunday morning service. Dean Adams, emeritus vice-principal of McGill, will preside. Sir Arthur Currie and a number of the governors are to be present, as well as graduates and representatives of various other student organizations.

Poetry Enriched By American Influence

This new tradition has grown to such proportions that it is an important side of English poetry. "The regional and cultural differentiation of the United States has produced much poetry that is distinctive and fresh and vivid and appealingly human," said Dr. Files; and he quoted several selections from leading Negro poetry, as representative of this, showing its distinctiveness.

Distinctive Vocabulary
In general the American poets have been distinguished by being adventurous with vocabulary. The opinions of Mrs. Virginia Woolf and Miss Rebecca West on this subject were read. Frost and Lindsay are particularly brilliant in this sort of work. Whitman has started this tradition. Among the names quoted by Professor Files in this regard are Crane, Arensberg, Gould, Kreyenbourg and Carlos Williams, the latter being especially cited for his experimentation in this regard.

The limit to which this can go is illustrated by Gertrude Stein's work. Intelligent experimentation has a definite use. Professor Files believes that modern American poetry has more confidence and power than that of England. Most critics agree that English poetry is more traditional, while the American is more adventurous, but as is usual with generalizations, it has to be qualified. American poetry does not necessarily concern itself with American life and environment.

Lives of Poets
Dr. Files then took up in detail the lives of what he considered the five most representative American poets—E. Arlington Robinson, Robert Frost, Carl Sandburg, Vachel Lindsay and R. Jeffers. He read selections from each of their poems and commented upon their virtues.

Novice Actors Make Favorable Progress

Workshop Players May Use Moyses Hall For Productions

Rehearsals for the forthcoming Workshop productions are progressing very favorably, and it is confidently expected that the new actors will give a good account of themselves despite the fact that many of them will be making their first appearance on the stage.

The plays chosen are in no way ambitious, since the available talent is more adaptable to plays which do not call for acting of a difficult nature. The plays chosen are "Wurzel-Flummery" by A. A. Milne, to be directed by Harriet Colby; and "What Have You," by N'importe. This play was written by a McGill student, and will be produced by Howard Silkman. It is hoped that this play will inspire others to present their own works for presentation by the Workshop. The third play is to be "Cheezo," by Lord Dunsany, under the direction of Fraser Macquodale.

It is hoped that Moyses Hall will be obtainable for the performance of these plays, and if arrangements can be made, there will be two showings. Full announcement regarding this will appear in the "Daily" shortly.

Education Will Be Topic Of Address

At the meeting of the People's Forum this Sunday at three o'clock in the afternoon an address will be given by Sir Norman Angell whose subject will be "Education and the Social Chaos."

The Musical part of the program includes the compositions of Bach and Richard Wagner and are "Toccata and Fugue in F," Trio—"Sonata, No. 5," II: "Largo; Chorale—Preludes: (a) "Sleepers wake, a voice is calling," and "In This is joy" and Prelude to Act III "Tristan and Isolde."

On Monday there will be a lecture on Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" illustrated by Gramophone Records and by George M. Brewer at the piano, in Channing Hall, rear of the Church of the Messiah.

Minister, REV. LAWRENCE CLARE
Evening Services, 7:30 p.m.
(Free Christian, Constructive and Devotional)

Mr. Clare will deliver a series of addresses on

"Religion in this Modern World"

Subjects:

Dec. 11—Belief in Man.

" 12—Belief in God.

" 13—The Jesus of History and the Christ of Experience.

Jan. 1—The Mystical Element in Religion.

" 8—Immortality and Eternal Life.

" 15—Christianity and Social Organization.

" 22—Science and Religion.

" 29—The Christian Antidote to Pessimism.

These addresses are intended to bring the wisdom and experience of the Church of Christ—tested by the strain of nineteen hundred years—to bear upon the difficulties of today; and that with courtesy and without evasion.

Members of Staff and students of McGill University will be thoroughly welcome. All seats free.

Sunday Evening, December 11th, 7:30 P.M.

Sermon Subject:

"BELIEF IN MAN"

Many modern novelists, dramatists, biographers and poets are teaching us to despair of Man. Is not pessimism a form of cowardice? And our great enemy?

From Astronomy comes the idea of Man's insignificance in the immense universe; from Biology that of his humiliating animal descent; from Psychology that of the futility, unreason and uncertainty of his inner life; from History that of his failure amid boundless opportunity. What answer can there be?

Belief in Man is a necessity for wholesome individual, social and political life. What can each of us do towards this restoration?

Mr. Clare will outline replies to these and similar difficulties.
