

which lay on the little silver card-tray on the hall table, and as she tore it open, she saw that it contained but a single line:

“Dearest mother, I am coming home to you,
“HARRY.”

THE END