uniformly high-class animals that Mr. Kennedy has succeeded in getting together.

In looking over the herd, one might be disposed to single out here and there some outstanding female or bull, but they are so uniformly good that the task is not an easy one.

Without going further, we might say that Fashion Primrose, a bull white in color, and calved Oct. 3, 1916, and bred by John Burton of Claremont, is a splendid type, and will develop into a magnificent animal.

Roan Archer, calved Jan. 4, 1917, and bred by John McKenzie & Son of Raglan, is a wonder of the highest strain of breeding, and the direct descendant of a $10,000 bull and winner of the Grand Champion at Toronto, and afterwards sold to the United States at a big figure.

And so it is all down the line, and from the interest manifested, it looks as the Thursday's sale will bring in a great crowd of breeders and femers from all
