

The prizes for the objects just mentioned will be distributed at the meeting.

Concerts.—Shortly after our removal to Crescent Street, we had a most successful and enjoyable gathering in the new School rooms. The programme was one which seemed to give much satisfaction, not the least part of which was that contributed by the Revd. Mr. Mackay, of Brighton, whom we should be pleased to have with us again at a similar gathering. We hope to have a concert at an early day.

Hymn Book.—There is no change in this connection, the book in use last year being found very acceptable and suited to our wants.

Conclusion.—From the summary of our work just read, we take it there is much cause for thankfulness, and we cannot but feel that the blessing of God has rested upon us. We have made the change in our place of meeting without any serious severance of old friends, and the success which has attended us thus far should encourage us in our labors; knowing who has called us to this work, may we ever look to Him for guidance and direction. We would bespeak an increasing interest on the part of the congregation, in our school, and a continued remembrance of us at the Throne of Grace.
