REFORM IN RACING.

An important meeting of the jockey club directors this week considered the question of short distance races, the increasing number of which it is contended is causing a degeneration of the standard of the thoroughbred, and converting the horse into a mere instrument for gaming. The jockey club decided that half of the total amount of the added money at every race of a mile or over for three-year-olds and upwards, and that half of this money shall be devoted to races of over a mile and half. It was also agreed that prior to June of each year, there shall be no two-year-old race of greater value than 200 sovereigns.
