

NEWS

the Man

perfectly fitted of neckties

8 inches lined with blue draw in, $1.00, and sizes, long street.

silver, The designs, intro-

et at Sets

$1.35. at se Street.

CO-CAR 78 AND BABY CARRIAGES REMOVED TO THIRD FLOOR, QUEEN STREET

men's Parties or Parties come Entertainment and in-ers

O., Ltd., Toronto

Day Excursion to 10, via Grand

Windsor Express, leave Wednesday, Nov. 23. All Buffalo Library-cards or books in a carte. Only Secure tickets at the west corner King Phone Main 419.

ESTABLISHED 1864. JOHN CATTO & SON

Special Values

now offering in Ladies' Suits, Coats, Cloaks, etc., etc.

Evening Cloaks

Handsome assortment on view, plain or elaborate, but all the newest designs—$22, $25, $27, $30 to $100 each.

Gents' Handkerchiefs for Xmas appropriately boxed. These make useful and pleasing gifts. Hemstitch, 1-2-inch hems—all pure Irish linen—full size, boxed, per 1-2 dozen or one dozen as desired.

Three Initial Lines

- 1. Irish hand-embroidered, 5-8-inch neat block letters, $3.00 dozen or 25c each. 2. Fine Irish hand-embroidered, 3-4-inch scrip letter—very fine linen, $4.50 dozen, or 40c each. 3. Fine Irish hand-embroidered and hand-hemstitched 1-2-inch fancy block letter in diamond and square—superfine linen, $7.00 dozen, or 60c each. (Postage 15 cents extra per dozen).

Ladies' Gowns and Suits to Order

Orders to these departments, if wanted for Holiday delivery, should be placed at once, as impending Christmas vacations will deplete our working staff to a certain extent and make deliveries harder during December.

Down Quilts

Magnificent stock of New Down Comforters in great variety of fine patterns and shades, from fine Satin-Covered at $6.00, to Silk and Satin at $90.00.

New Scottish Blankets

Just arrived, new stock of Fine Scotch Blankets; unexcelled for warmth and good wear; all sizes; extra value.

MAIL ORDERS—Carefully Filled.

JOHN CATTO & SON 55 to 61 KING STREET EAST, TORONTO.

THE SAVOY (YONGE AND ADELAIDE STS.)

SPECIAL LUNCH every day, 12 till 2, in the Japanese Tea Room. ICE CREAMS, Ices, Sodas, Hot Beef Tea, Bouillions, Omelet and Chicken Broth, Etc. Open evening till 11 o'clock.

20 MINERS LIVE AFTER A WEEK IN TOMB

Continued From Page 1.

Powell. I believe somebody is alive in there. Other men said, 'No, impossible, nobody could live down here seven days.'

'Again came the muffled pounding sound. Grabbing hold of the picks and axes, our men then began to tear down the pile of earth and rock. It took several minutes to make headway. 'It was a weird scene. The lights of our torches on our caps bobbing up and down filled the place with moving shadows.'

'Now, let's listen again,' said Powell. Much to our grief, the pounding sounds came louder. A few more digs and a little black hole appeared. 'Two or three of us climbed over the dirt and yelled, 'Are any of you alive in there, boys?'

'An answer came back: 'Yes.' 'Our men gulped at the dirt again and a large yelp appeared. 'We'll save you in a minute, boys,' we yelled.

'Alive and Hungry. 'In faint hoarse voices the men called back: 'Yes, we are alive and you bet we're hungry. 'I crawled as near the hole as I could. 'God bless you men, we will get you out in a minute and give you all the lunch you can eat. 'I could not see anything for the men were in total darkness, so I climbed back and prayed God to make the number to be rescued as large as possible.

'By that time the hole was wide open and a dozen pair of glistening eyes appeared. 'One of the men inside called out: 'One of us are all right, but there's one poor fellow—Frank, a Frenchman—who is almost gone, and I'm afraid he'll soon be dead if he doesn't get fresh air. 'So, with a shout we jumped in and met them, throwing our arms around their necks. Their joy was inexpressible. They laughed and cried aloud. 'We wanted to carry the men to the hoisting shaft, but they insisted they could walk. They were practically blinded by the torchlight. So we threw blankets over their heads and started to escort them. 'One Man's Death. 'My first concern was to get after

THE WEATHER

OBSERVATORY, TORONTO, Nov. 21. (3 p.m.)—Light showers have occurred to-day generally over the lower lake region and the Ottawa and St. Lawrence valleys. The weather has been partly fair and mild from the lake region to the Atlantic. In the west coast, temperatures have been unusually low, accompanied by local snowfalls.

Probabilities.—Lower Lakes—strong breezes or moderate gales, northerly to north-easterly; partly cloudy and cool; local rain or snow, chiefly in the southern portion.

THE BAROMETER.

Table with 4 columns: Time, Bar., Wind, and other weather indicators for various times of the day.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVALS.

Table listing ship arrivals from various ports including Philadelphia, New York, Southampton, etc.

DEATHS.

BARR—Suddenly, in Ottawa, Friday morning, Dr. John Barr, M.P. for Durham. Funeral Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 2 p.m. to St. Michael's Cemetery.

BLAKE—On Sunday morning, Mrs. John Blake, aged 65 years. Funeral Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 2 p.m. from the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. Temple, 1376 West Queen-st., to St. Michael's Cemetery.

BOECKH—At 188 St. George-st., Toronto, on Saturday, Nov. 20, 1909, Jean Evelyn Boeckh, beloved daughter of Emil C. and Margaret Evelyn Boeckh, aged 18 years. Funeral private on Monday, 22nd inst.

DUGGAN—On Saturday, Nov. 20, Margaret J. Duggan. Funeral on Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 8:30 a.m., to St. Agnes's Cathedral, thence to St. Michael's Cemetery.

HELMAN—On Saturday evening, Nov. 20, 1909, at his residence, 98 St. Nicholas-st., Toronto, the beloved husband of Mary A. English, in his 62nd year. Funeral on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. interment in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

MURPHY—At the Toronto General Hospital on Saturday, Nov. 20, Joseph Murphy, beloved husband of Constance Murphy, in his 30th year. Funeral on Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 8:45 a.m. from the residence of Mrs. Murphy, 385 Dundas-st., to St. Helen's Church, thence to Mount Hope Cemetery.

PALMER—On Saturday, Nov. 20, 1909, Mary Louise, beloved wife of John Christie Palmer, and only daughter of Henry M. and Mary E. Blight. Funeral from her late residence, 132 Madison-st., Toronto, on Monday, the 22nd inst., at 3 o'clock.

SMITH—On Sunday, Nov. 21, 1909, at his residence, 317 Brunswick-avenue, Toronto, Thomas Perley, widow of John Smith, late of Sunnyside, Toronto, and daughter of the late Col. Perley of Burford. Funeral notice later.

SEMPLE—At his late residence, 52 Dundonald-st., Robert William Semple, in his 71st year. Funeral on Tuesday, at 3:30 p.m. to St. Michael's Cemetery.

THOMSON—On Nov. 20, 1909, James, third son of the late Allan S. Thomson, aged 53 years. Funeral (private) from his late residence, 1 Breadalbane-st., on Monday, at 3 p.m. Please omit flowers.

WRIGHT—At the Toronto General Hospital, Nov. 19, 1909, Lena Wright, in her 21st year, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Wright, 346 Kingston-road. Funeral from the above address on Wednesday, 2:30 p.m., to Bethel Cemetery, Scarborough.

IN MEMORIAM. HASLAM—In loving memory of Rena, beloved wife of Geo. H. Haslam, who died in Montreal, Nov. 22, 1908. If I had my finger touch my brow, And still the quaking of the breath That stirs with life's full meaning now, So long my feet must tread the way, Of my long-remembered paths alone, I should have prized your presence If I had known.

the poor little Frenchman. I found him outstretched on his back breathing his last. He turned over his face I said: 'Do you give your soul to God?'

'He answered: 'Yes. I administered the last sacrament and in a minute he was dead. 'At the shaft occupied one of the greatest acts of heroism I know of. Waiter, Waiter, one of the rescued, hearing that there were others alive in another part of the mine, threw off the blanket from his head and shouted: 'Well then, by God, I am not going out until I get them. 'We reinstated, saying it would mean his death, and we actually had to use force to get him into the cage.

GOOD RUBBER IN 'SURE STEPS.' They are made of good rubber, with slipless discs of fabric on the wearing surface. Put on by all shoemen. Dunlop 'Sure Step' Rubber Heels.

STEP SURE ON 'SURE STEP' HEELS. They are better than an accident insurance policy—Dunlop 'Sure Step' Rubber Heels. They keep the feet under one and save broken bones. Put on by all shoemen.

Kindling $4 per cord for immediate delivery. P. Burns & Co., 44 King-st. East.

AT OUR BUILDING SALE

BIG SILVERWARE SALE THIS WEEK

All this week we are going to specialize on Silverware, making big price reductions—reductions such as will make you realize the advantage of purchasing your Xmas gifts now. Our Silverware must go; it's very bulky, taking up an immense amount of space and we want to clear it out. This week's specials will include Bake Dishes, Fern Pots, Tea Sets, Candelabra, Bread Trays, Waiters' Butter Dishes, Salad Bowls, Casserole Dishes, Etc.

We cannot give you individual prices in this announcement on account of new goods arriving—yet come every day to this Silverware Sale of ours—you will be rewarded in the special price advantage we offer you.

Our windows and daily newspaper announcement will contain interesting news about this sale.

A small deposit will secure your selection until required.

Ambrose Kent & Sons, Limited 156 Yonge Street

Oil Trust Not Dissolved Victory is Theoretical Women Determined to Win Franchise

The case seems to be very similar to that of the coal roads, which were forced to separate from their coal business, and it is difficult to see, even if the decision is upheld by the supreme court, how the government can prevent the control of Standard Oil properties remaining in the same hands, even if it is split up into its constituent parts.

Continued From Page 1.

MRS. PANKHURST

The same decision was relied upon by Edinburgh University. They held that a woman might be a person to pay fees, and even to take the degree, but she was not a person when it came to voting for a member to represent the university in parliament.

Mrs. Pankhurst ridiculed the fact that intelligent women were disqualified, when the convict as soon as he came out of prison, the lunatic in his lucid intervals, and the foreigner who could not speak English were allowed to vote.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the granting of votes to women was no abrogation of the responsible position they occupied in the home, but was only a question of the right to be heard.

BROTHER DECIDES THEORY OF DEATH BY SUICIDE

Says Late Mrs. McLachlan Was Never Troubled With Melancholia—A Traveler's Evidence.

UKBRIDGE, Nov. 21.—(Special.)—Although not summoned to appear at the Monday night session of the McLachlan inquest, Mr. Denis, brother of the late Mrs. McLachlan, arrived in town Saturday evening, with the hope of being permitted to hear the remaining witnesses to be examined. These will be Prof. Ellis, Dr. J. A. McClintock, Dr. W. C. Sizer, Mrs. E. G. Gold, a neighbor, Mrs. Deacon, and a Mr. Creighton of Hamilton, a commercial traveler, to whom McLachlan, after telling him that he had been given notices to leave, owing to certain rumors that were going around town, had made the remark "that he would give them something to talk about before the week was out. This conversation took place the Tuesday before the fire.

Mr. Denis is staying at the Bascom House. When asked by a World reporter if his deceased sister or any other member of the family had ever suffered from mental trouble or melancholia, he simply replied: "No, she was never troubled with melancholia in her life."

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.

When Mrs. Denis was visiting her sister here in August, Mrs. McLachlan told her that she had had a letter for the children, she would have left her husband then, as they were not getting on very well, owing to the inquest. Mrs. Denis, however, stated that she had never heard of her sister ever talking about taking her own life, and considered this story a myth; she would be the last person to do such a thing.