RUSSIAN SOCIALISTS MAKE BLOODY DEMONSTRATION.

They Throng St. Petersburg Streets Demanding Cessation of the War and a Constitution—Mounted Police Trample Crowds Into the Earth

St. Petersburg, Dec. 11.—A popular anti-government demonstration, the participants in which included large numbers of students of both sexes, began at midday in the Nevsky Prospekt, and lasted about two hours.

Hundreds of police and mounted gendarmes who were hidden in the courtyard of the public buildings, emerged and charged the crowd at full gallop, driving the demonstrators in headlong confusion and terror, upon the sidewalks and into adjacent streets. This led to serious encounters, fifty persons being more or less severely injured. Large numbers were arrested.

Not since the riots of 1901 when Cossacks stretched across the Nevsky prospekt, from building to building, charged down the boulevard from Moscow station to the dore, has the Russian capital lived through such a day of excitement as this.

The authorities last night got wind of the big anti-government demonstration planned for today by the Social Democratic party to demand the cessation of the war and the granting of a constitution. At the same time extensive preparations were made to quell any disturbance. At the main time extensive preparations were made to quell any disturbance. At the main time extensive preparations were made to quell any disturbance.

The newspapers' warnings, however, giving notice to those not apprised of the prospect of a demonstration, defeated the whole object for which they were signed, attracting attention to the whole population of this vast city to the broad thoroughfare, and long before the hour fixed, despite the pleadings of the police, literally lined the sidewalks. The throngs on the pavements were so dense that movement was almost impossible while the snow covered boulevard was filled with a tangled mass of black and white.

THE CLAIMS OF ACADIA.

Rev. Dr. Trotter Speaks in the Interest of the Baptist University.

The president of Acadia University, Rev. Dr. Thomas Trotter, spoke in German street Baptist church yesterday morning, and in the evening, on the financial needs of the institution, dealing particularly on what is known as the second forward movement. He sketched the history of the movement of several years ago, told of the circumstances leading up to the second movement, which in aim and character is similar to the first, and urged all to start the movement so early as possible.

When he assumed the presidency of the college he found it in a state of debt, and the object of the first forward movement could be found in that. The sum of $75,000 was raised, but it was not all used to eliminate the indebtedness. The college movement, fund was added, out of the money obtained, $40,000 and the balance was wisely expended to meet urgent necessities.

Subsequently more steps were taken in the interest of the university's finances. The board of the university, who had made several trips to New York in connection with the movement of John Rockefeller, submitted to the university board a report dealing with Mr. Rockefeller's plan to endow the institution. He had expressed the opinion that Acadia was in a position to receive a grant of $100,000.

He was very much impressed with the institution, but would not consider it wisdom to put one dollar in the movement fund. The next meeting of the board was held on the 10th of the month, and was held on the 10th of the month, and was held on the 10th of the month.

Dr. Trotter was asked how Mr. Rockefeller would consider the proposal, and he thought the magnate would put dollar for dollar for any sum the board might want. A resolution, in line with what was under consideration, was accordingly passed.

Subsequently Dr. Trotter again went to New York, and introduced the decision of the board to Mr. Rockefeller, secretary to Mr. Rockefeller. Mr. Rockefeller, who had been in New York for some time, was very much impressed with the institution, but would not consider it wisdom to put one dollar in the movement fund.

POTATOES AS PENWIPERS.

They're Not Pretty, but They Answer the Purpose Better Than Anything Else.

Homey, ugly, without beauty of any kind, yet serving a purpose and serving this purpose so well that no substitute can be found which will perform the same task as well, the Irish potato, that protector of the hungry and sturdy of the poor, is still better than any penwiper which can be devised by the ingenuity of man.

It is used not only by the small country hotel, but also by the most fashionable and costly of the city. It is simply plain potato, too, in all places. No attempt is made to disguise its appearance. In the Irish potato is the best penwiper which can be found is not known. The man remains unclean and his name is not written on the long list of American inventors. But he deserves something. Some historian, diving into the past and endeavoring to dig up lost events of the past which are important in the present, should find the name of the man who first jabbed a pen into a potato and found that it would cleanse and preserve the pen without attaching to it small fibers which would smear the ink if the pen was put to use.

Louisville hotels have been using the Irish potato for years, and they still use it. On the desk in each of these hotels is a box containing a pile of potatoes, and it is a surprising array of penwipers, the points stuck deep into the ink sides of the nibs. Many substitutes have been tried, but all of them have been found wanting, and the potato rules supreme. At Seelbach's Hotel a new device of a new desk stand was bought. It had an arrangement for holding the pens, but a few days' trial showed the steward was called up, and a potato was hurried to the front. The new device occupied the place of its aristocratic substitute.

"There is a peculiar acid in the potato which cleanses the nib on the pens and prevents them from rusting," explained H. M. Seelbach, the hotel manager, "and that is the main reason for using them."

We Paid $100,000

For Liquezone, Yet We Give You a 50c. Bottle Free.

We paid $100,000 for the American rights to Liquezone, the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others. We cured all kinds of germ diseases with it—those of the most difficult cases obtainable. We proved that in germ troubles it always accomplishes what medicine cannot do. Now we ask you to try it—try it at our expense. Test it as we did; see what it does. Then you will use it always, as we do, and as millions of others do. You will use it not only to get well, but to keep well. And it will save nearly all of your sickness.

Kills Inside Germs.

Liquezone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an order of $100,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetative and Liquezone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter.

There lies the great value of Liquezone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact that gives Liquezone its worth to humanity. And that worth is so great that we have spent over one million dollars to supply the first bottle free to each sick one we learned of.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON

My disease is..... Give full address—write plainly accept it 3-day, for it places you under no obligation whatever. Liquezone costs 50c. and $1.

They keep the pens clean, too, and there is nothing hanging to the pen when it is drawn out. It is the best thing we can find, and I suppose the potato will be used for a long time to come. Louisville Courier-Journal.
