GERMAN PLOT AGAINST U. S. SHIPS UNCOVERED

Washington Agents, Together With Canadian Officials, Working to Bring Conspirators to Justice.

Secret investigation by United States government agents has disclosed the existence of a great conspiracy to destroy or hinder shipping on the Great Lakes and thereby delay organization of American war armies and check the flow of food and munitions materials from western states to the Atlantic coast.

No conspirators have been captured and the identity of none has been made public, but it is learned that the state, navy and justice departments are cooperating to bring the offenders to punishment and that the Canadian government probably will be called upon to help.

The plot, engineered by Germans assisted by sympathizing American citizens is believed to have been responsible for the succession of "accidents" to lake shipping, especially in the neighborhood of the Sault Ste Marie canal, which began about a month ago.

All of these vessels concerned in these mishaps had been or were about to be taken over by the department of justice and the navy department have tended to the conclusion that what were believed to have been accidents were the acts of conspirators seeking to hamper the government in the prosecution of the war.

Just how much the government agents have learned is not revealed, but officials have concluded that the public should know of the situation in a general way, believing that publicity may make the operations of the Germans more difficult or impossible.

Co-operation of the Canadian authorities is needed to run down the criminals and it is probable that by agreement between the American and Canadian governments law officers on either side will be authorized to follow their quarry across the international line.

The plotters are believed to be responsible for the sinking of the steamers Saxonia, Pentacost Mitchell and Venetian Maid; the burning of the Kasaga II; the attempted dynamiting of the Macinaw; and the wrecking of the machinery of the Jay Dee III and the Niagara.

Seeing a tramp hurrying away from a large house a fellow professional asked him what luck he had met with.

"It ain't worth askin' there," was the reply. "I just 'ad a peep through the winder. It's a poverty-stricken 'ouse, mate. There was actualy two ladies playin' on one planner!"

THROBBING PICTURE IS FEATURE AT GEM

Famous Clara Kimball Young in "The Badge of Shame"—Also Rib-tickling Comedy Playlet is "The Badge of Shame," a five-reel photoplay featuring Clara Kimball Young at the Gem.

This picture has been filmed from the stage play bearing the title of "The Yellow Passport" and it gives Miss Young one of the most scintilating roles of her career. She portrays the character of a beautiful young Russian girl who is forced to secure the yellow passport that is given to women of the streets in Russia to enable them to travel anywhere they wish in that country. The girl has to get this passport in order to get out of the country and escape persecution heaped upon her and her family. But the stigma of the badge of shame follows her to America and when she is about to be happily married to a young American, it becomes known that she had this passport and for a time it appears that the marriage will never take place. But the girl's uncle comes to her aid at the crucial moment and makes it possible for her to marry the young man after all.

Miss Clara Kimball Young takes the part of the young girl and she plays it to perfection. Aiding her is a particularly capable cast including very well known film players. The scenes shown in this production are notable for their beauty. Miss Young wears very beautiful gowns. The play is filled to the brim with exciting and tense situations and the interest is sustained and constant from the first flash of the first reel to the last flash of the last reel. It is a glowing, thrilling romance that will charm and delight everyone who sees it.

The comedy element is all-sufficiently supplied by the Gem's Own Comedy Co. in "Hotel Topsy Turvey." See Dick Baird as the landlord and if you don't laugh then go see a doctor. You need professional advice. The scene is the lobby of the genial Richard's hotel, Mr. McHenry is the porter, the rest of the company are patrons of the house. It is a wonderful institution, this hostlery, particularly noted for its exhilirating water. The things the proprietor does would shame the host of the Waldorf. It certainly is a very funny playlet, with Mr. Baird and Mr. McHenry chief funmakers. Miss Randolph's best solo yet was "The End of a Perfect Day." She sang it to her own accompaniment, and it was a dainty bit. Miss Lyston and Hugh Conley again proved winners in duet and dance. Mr. McHenery contributed a jolly song and Miss Davis assisted in the general good time. Two well-sung choruses pleased well.

The Gem will continue this programme until and including Friday night, with entire change on Saturday afternoon.

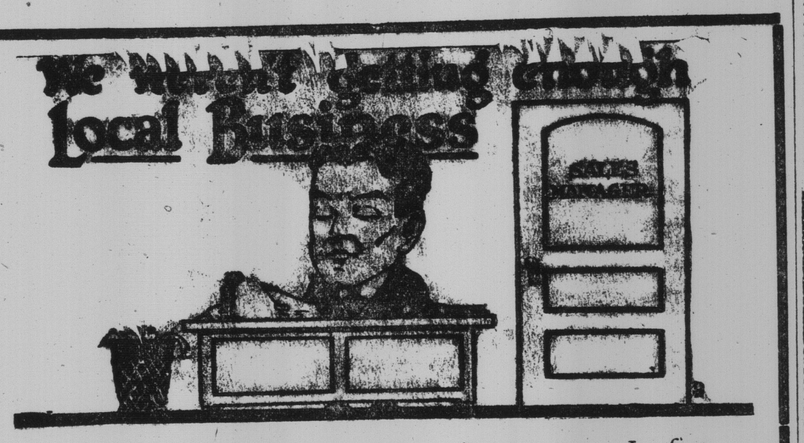
Blind Soldiers as Typists

The following is a passage from the report of St. Dunstan's Hostel for Blinded Soldiers and Sailors: "Whatever occupation the men train for, practically all of them learn, as well, to master Braille and the use of the typewriter, and to do netting work of various kinds. Typewriting is not taught as an occupation, except to those learning shorthand-writing, but to keep the men in touch with their friends by correspondence. The hand-writing of a blind man almost inevitably deteriorates, and sometimes this deterioration is very rapid. It is therefore necessary that he should quickly learn to feel at home with a typewriter. Men who have never seen, and never will see, a typewriter have learned to tap the keys with dependable accuracy and at a fair speed in a very few weeks. Every man is given a typewriter as his own personal possession when he has passed the writing test imposed."



Far away from home we were cleaning up. In fact business was great with the salesmen on the road.

But at home where it was easy for us to handle a big volume, our business amounted to next to nothing. And there was no reason why our product shouldn't be as saleable right in our own town as in any other.

I found out the reason. We weren't going after it. We expected it to come in unsolicited. So I concluded that what we needed were some live wire city salesmen. But where were we to get them? Ah! A clever hunch! A want ad. in the Times-Star will find them. So we put in an ad. which cost only a trifling amount. It worked fine. I had many applicants.

-and the next week three hustlers were flying in with Orders
