TROUBLES OF SUBWAY LIFE DROVE A GUARD TO SUICIDE

New York, Aug. 21—The troubled life of a subway guard proved too much for John O'Connor, 50, of East Eighty-fourth street, who committed suicide in the rest room of the Matheson Lead Company factory, in Long Island City.

O'Connor worked at the factory until about a year ago, when he got a job as a subway guard. From time to time he returned to the factory and told the workmen that the rush of the crowds and the jibes directed at him were getting to be too much. He turned on all the gas jets of the kitchen stove, then sat in a chair beside the stove. His body was found by one of the workmen.

Mrs. Medley McKell, of the Manawagonish road, entertained a number of children and their parents yesterday afternoon in honor of the birthday of her little daughter, Leona. The party took the form of a picnic on the lawn and the afternoon was pleasantly spent. The children played games, while the grown-ups enjoyed social converse. Refreshments were served.
