A HUNGRY WORLD.

(Toronto Globe.)
Predictions of a surplus or sufficiency of food based upon fanciful estimates of supplies below the equator are deplored by the British food controller, Hon. Mr. McCurdy. "Every untrue story of a glut of foodstuffs in some parts of the world," he says, "puts some producer out of business for the season, and so reduces crops that would otherwise be available. In this country during 1919 nearly 8,000 acres of land growing wheat and potatoes went out of cultivation because British farmers believed the stories of world gluts and falling prices. The British consumer is paying higher prices and has less supplies available because of that unfounded optimism."

If the reports be true that the German crops will be much below normal Europe will have to tighten its belt still more this year. The German food mission has been in Great Britain pleading for help on the ground that without heavy importations Germany will not be able to maintain even the present rations, which are less than half the 3,000 calories a day essential to working efficiency. In the whole of Central Europe the condition is the same. Any possible store in Russia that might be released by agreement with the Moscow government would be speedily absorbed even if the railway equipment could be found to transport it. A hungry world desperately needs the crops of the United States and Canada. Not even during the war was a greater harvest on this continent necessary to the sustenance of Europe than is demanded this year.

crop in Canada like that of 1915 would be providential for other nations besides the dominion.

ROD AND GUN.

Anyone who has essayed to climb any of the Rockies will recognize in John Harker's "Mount Stephen With Martha" the actual portrayal of experience of the novice in mountaineering. The author of this, the first of a series of humorous Martha stories, is a well known member of the Canadian Alpine Club and his amusing story appears in Rod and Gun in Canada for July. "At the Mercy of the Flames" is the title of a thrilling story of actual experience with a bush fire written by a fire ranger, Earl Dalton Tipping. The concluding instalment of Harry M. Moore's interesting story, "The Silver King," appears along with several other good stories in this issue of Canada's national sportsmen's monthly. The various departments dealing with the activities of rod, gun and canoe in Canada are up to their usual high standard. Several valuable articles appear giving valuable hints to campers and outdoorsmen in this month's issue. Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

GETTING WOMEN IN FARM WORK

One Camp in Niagara District Building Special Quarters.

(Toronto Globe.)

That girls have made good on Ontario farms, filling all sorts of positions, from that of fruit-picker to general farm hands, is evidenced in the fact that the farmers are offering inducements to get them on the land again this season. War-time agencies have ceased to operate some of them, while others are turning their attention to different problems, so the farmer has to start out on his own to a great extent, to get and keep his help. The government does not interfere, excepting in case of dissatisfaction on either side.

To meet the changed conditions many farmers are preparing quarters calculated to attract girls to the country, and they are co-operating to reopen the most successful of the camps run in wartime by the Y. W. C. A.

A big camp at Fenwick, in the Niagara district, is to be accommodated in a fine new house put up for the purpose, in which the girls will keep house themselves. The farmers are paying the cook and other help and most of them are offering $2 a day, but are not paying railway fares. In spite of this girls are coming from as far as New Jersey, Detroit and Montreal, to work on Ontario farms. The demand is great and the girls are responding. A good many stenographers are taking their holidays in this way, also many high school girls and W. A. A. C.'s and women of the Land Army, who have come out from England, are entering the work in numbers, some camps being made up almost entirely of these women, who have seen war service in England and France, and who turn from old employments into to body and mind, to the get-of-doors.
