IN THE COURTS

In the case of Francis Kerr vs. C. K. Cunard, an action for specific performance or damages in lieu thereof with respect to a farm at Oak Point which was tried several months ago, Chief Justice McLeod yesterday gave judgment for the plaintiff, assessing the damages at $280. The amount claimed was about $400. At the trial J. King Kelley, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff and R. G. Murray for the defendant.

Hearing in the matter of the winding up of the May Queen Steamship Company, Limited, has been further adjourned until the 21st, owing to the absence from the city of D. Mullin, K. C., and Recorder Baxter, K. C.

In the case of Mary L. Merritt, administratrix, and widow of Arthur Merritt vs. the St. John Railway Company, an action under the workmen's compensation act, the plaintiff has closed their case, and adjournment has been made until the 20th inst. Francis Kerr appeared for the plaintiff, and F. R. Taylor for the defendant.

25c. RE-PAPER YOUR ROOM
Are you thinking of having your parlor papered this spring? Before deciding we would suggest you get from your nearest dealer a tin of Smoky City Wall Paper Cleaner. Try it on your present paper, and you will see at once that it will not be necessary to have the room papered, as Smoky City Wall Paper Cleaner makes old paper look like new. Ask your friends about it?

The wedding of Raymond Archibald of Saskatoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Archibald of Musquodoboit, N. S., to Miss Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacPhee, took place at the home of the bride's parents in Vanlue Hill, Ont., on March 11.

The Man In The Street

After two "renowned eaters" of Smith Centre, Kansas, had eaten eighteen bananas each in a "gorging" contest this week, they decided to call it a draw in order that they could go home to dinner. We hope they're not living on their parents.

We suppose March is still debating whether to make a peaceful exit in a gentle lamb-like manner, or to make a noise like a lion and then call it quits.

The motto of the New York police department seems to be just "one big graft after another."

The Montreal woman who made the statement this week that "her husband's

WHAT MRS. H. BEST SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Alberta Woman Voices the Sentiment of the Women of the West That Dodd's Kidney Pills are Woman's Best Friend.

Redlaw, Alta., March 12.—(Special)—"Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me wonderfully," so says Mrs. H. Best, a highly respected lady living here. And Mrs. Best expresses the sentiment of thousands of women in Alberta. Like most women Mrs. Best does not care to talk about her troubles, but she does wish others who have suffered as she has to know that they can find relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills. "I found them entirely satisfactory. They helped me wonderfully," she says, "and I give you my full permission to tell the public what they have done for me."

Women who suffer in silence can be cured just as silently. The keystone of woman's health is the kidneys. If they are kept strong and healthy, they keep the blood pure, and pure blood means good health all over the body. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Kidney Disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy kidneys and good blood. That's why they are known as woman's best friend.

ghost came back and visited her," evidently believes him to be a better man than Jeffries—he couldn't come back.

All we can say about that St. Louis wedding of a few days ago, where the bride kissed 180 of the guests, is that the bridegroom must have been a cheerful sort of soul.

Positive sign of spring—"Bock Beer" is on the market again.

We're all waiting for the hens to resume business after their winter's rest. A Chicago doctor says that "tears are the best eye wash." That should help some in married life.

It's all very well for students of human nature to say that "champaigne and pessimism do not travel in the same company," but how about the morning after?

To "The Man in the Street."

Dear Mr. Man—Is not all this talk about "Home Rule" useless and foolish? I have not followed it much more than the daily headlines, but it seems to me if they want to decide the question, they should leave it to the women. There is no reason why the husband should rule any more than the wife. Kindly inform me as to what your views on the matter are.

Yours gushingly,
GWENDOLINE WYSE.

We fear, Miss Gwendoline, that you have placed the wrong interpretation on the question. It is not in the domestic sense that "Home Rule" is referred to for that question has long ago been decided—there is no longer a doubt as to which member of the union rules the household. As we may be married ourselves some day we shall not dispute your views as to whether or not the husband should rule any more than the wife. Our advice to you, Miss Wyse, would be that you get full value for your copper by reading deeper than the headlines, with regard to the foreign subject, but with reference to the question in its domestic sense we are utterly unable to say a word, for we know which way the rule will work anyhow.

Yours just as gushingly,
"THE MAN IN THE STREET."

When representatives of the Dominion Camera met the wholesale grocers here the other day, one of the visitors, who is an Ontario M. P., remarked on the advisability of having a good publicity agent here. "Why not Mr. Gutelius?" was facetiously suggested by a local man. "Who is Gutelius?" queried the M. P., and his brother Ontario man had to enlighten him. Such is fame.

As the meeting adjourned, the M. P. congratulated the local chairman on his able conduct of the business of the session. "Well, we managed to get along without the clearest," smilingly replied the chairman, who is a good Liberal.

The Clerk and the Constable.

If you are looking for a good lively fight just mention the word "constable" to a certain young man employed in a local office. Since an episode which occurred this week he is sensitive on the subject.

The hero of the tale was crossing the hall from one office to another when he noticed coming up the stairs a constable whom he had "sawed" for some time. Quick action seemed necessary; he looked around for a means of escape; none other was available, so up the lad der leading to the roof he sped. A moment's fumbling with the latch and he was through the hatchway and safe from the eye of the constable. It was not a case of out of the frying pan into the fire, but something almost as bad. He had escaped from a warm office into the teeth of a biting March gale with a bit of sleet in the air, and his only protection in the way of an outer garment was a light weight alpaca office coat. It was not comfortable, but it was better than the prospect of arrest.

Shivering with cold he took up a strategic position near the parapet, being found on the roof by the search below and watch for the exit of the representative of the law. Five minutes passed and he was cold; ten minutes drifted by more slowly and he was colder; at the end of half an hour he thought the limit of his endurance was reached; at the three-quarters mark he had gloomy visions of his frozen body being found on the roof by the search
