EVENING HYMN FOR CHILDREN.

BY MRS. FOLLEN.

[illegible] never part,
Love [illegible]
Thou, who canst every heart,
Listen to our evening prayer.

Father, fill our souls with love,
Love unfailing, full and free;
Love to injuries can move,
Love that ever rests on Thee.

Heavenly Father! through the night
Keep us safe from every ill;
Cheerful as the morning light,
May we wake to do Thy will.

VARIETY.

CAUGHT IN A TRAP—YES OR NO.

The following is from the Courier des Etats—Two Norman peasants were accustomed to meet every night to play cards. One of them, Antoine, was a widower, and he had a charming daughter named Sophie. The other Philippe, was ten years younger than his friend, unmarried, and the possessor of an easy fortune.

Sophie, unaccustomed every day to see Philippe, became greatly attached to him, perhaps somewhat attached to his little fortune, although Philippe was well preserved, notwithstanding he had already reached a certain age. However, their marriage was agreed upon; but as the day of its celebration drew near, Philippe began to grow cool, and when the party came before the civil authority, who was to tie the nuptial knot, he replied with a strongly accented 'No,' when asked whether he would take Sophie to be his wife.

It may be well supposed the anger of Antoine was very violent, and Sophie was greatly distressed, and the consequence was that the evening entertainment was broken up. At the end of some hours Philippe met Sophie, and thus addressed her:

'Believe me, my dear child, I had no intention to insult you, and I greatly regret the breaking up of our friendship and the card parties; but how can I make Pere Antoine forget the insult he thinks I put upon him? I assure you, I reproach myself with it every day.

'I think,' replied Sophie, 'that I can discover a means. Go and speak to my father; say you repent of what you have done; tell him you are willing to marry me, and fix upon an early day for the wedding, and when we come before the Mayor, I will in turn say 'No,' and we shall be quits.

Charmed with the idea of so cheaply recovering the means of pursuing his favorite recreation of cards, Philippe threw himself at the feet of his old friend, asked all sorts of pardons, and begged that he would suffer him to lead his daughter before the Mayor as soon as possible.

After some hesitation the old man showed himself generous, and tendered his hand to his future son-in-law.

'Philippe——,' said the young Mayor, 'do you consent to take for your lawful wife, Sophie——, here present?'

'Yes, replied Phillippe.

'And you, Sophia——, do you consent to take for your lawful husband, Phillippe?'

'Yes, monsieur,' replied the young maiden loudly and firmly.

The deceitful bridegroom was fairly caught, Sophia was his wife in spite of him. He made the best of it, and it is said he never had reason to regret the trick that had been played upon him. He passed his days happily, playing cards evenings with his father-in-law, and lived to be himself the father of a happy family of children.

OLD DEACON SAPSOSH.—Old Deacon Saffs.d—— or as he was familiarly called, Deacon Jo—was a rigid disciplinarian, and being the senior church deacon, looked after the delinquents with a sharp eye. Deacon Jo was in the habit of 'parcelling out the sermon,' giving to each one of the congregation their portion according as they needed.

One warm Sabbath afternoon, the pastor, thinking as usual that those who had no interest in the subject of religion would most likely fall asleep, prepared himself to preach directly to the church. The lesson was on hand to "parcel out the sermon," when it came from the lips of the minister. The pastor commenced with his close-fisted, penurious brethren, plainly, but earnestly. That belongs to brother Grant, said the deacon.

The next remark was designed for those who went about doing good, but made so much noise and parade about it, as to destroy a great part of the good they intend to do.

That is Sister Grimpkins, said Deacon Jo, 'he mistaking that.'

The pastor continued his sermon, but the deacon had worked hard through the week, fell into a dozing slumber. Nevertheless, although the body of the deacon was sleeping, his mind was active, and whether ears performed their functions or not, each portion was as faithfully 'parcelled' out as though the deacon had been wide awake.

"Finally, my brethern," concluded the parson, 'there is a class of persons who are so freehearted and benevolent, that they do not retain any of it for themselves, but parcel it out among their brethern and sisters.'

'That's me, by thunder!' said Deacon Jo, the sound of his voice awaking him, 'and I deserves it!'

Whether the deacon continued the practice of 'parcelling out the sermon' afterward, we are unable to say, but we presume if he did that he kept a small portion for himself.

ECCENTRICITY AT A PREMIUM.—'May it please the Court,' said a Yankee lawyer, before a Dutch Justice the other day, 'this is a case of the greatest importance; while the American eagle, whose sleepless eye watches over the welfare of this mighty republic, and whose wings extend from the Alleghanies to the rocky chain of the west, was rejoicing in his pride of place—'

'Shtop dare! Shtop, I say, vat has dis suit to do mit eagles? Dis has notin to do mit the wild bird. It ish von sheep,' exclaimed the justice.

'True, your honor, but my client has rights.'

'Ye glient has no right to de eagle!'

'Of course not, but the laws of language—'

'What cares I for de laws of de language? I understand de laws of de State, and dat ish enough for me. Confine your talk to de case.'

'Well then, my client, the defendant in this case, is charged with stealing a sheep; and—'

'Dat will do! dat will do! You guinst is charged mit stealing a sheep, just nine shillings.' On court will adjourn.'

HOW MUCH DID HE LEAVE?—The question is asked concerning the property of every rich man that dies, and it was answered very happily by Isaac, who was executor upon the estate of the late Mr. Snodgrass. His neighbor, Mr. Mallrod, was an exceedingly inquisitive man, and it was believed that he knew as much, almost of the affairs of people of his neighborhood, as they did themselves. But Mr. Snodgrass had never been communicative, and all that he could glean of his circumstances was from the guesses and speculation of the outsiders. The day after his neighbor had been put into the earth, Mallrod visited Isaac, and with an interesting face, began to question him. Says he, 'Isaac, if it not improper—I wouldn't wish to ask the questions if it is the least improper, nor expect you to answer it—will you tell me how much my friend Snodgrass left?' 'Certainly,' said Isaac, 'I don't see the least impropriety in your asking, and can perfectly willing to answer it. He left every cent he was worth in the world, and didn't have a copper with which to settled his estate, not even a penny-piece, and words both—Boston Post.

The Subscriber having been appointed Agent to the above Company for New-Brunswick, begs to announce that he is prepared to receive Proposals for FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE. The large Capital of the Company, and the number and influence of its Proprietors, enable it to rank with the most eligible Offices, either in America or Europe, with respect to the advantages offered to the Public.

FIRE BRANCH.

Persons insured by this Company are not subject to any covenants or calls to make good losses which may happen to themselves or others, nor do they depend upon any uncertain fund or contribution, the Capital Stock of this Company being an unquestionable security to the Assured in case of Loss or Damage by Fire.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of insurance, the Company likewise Assures Life on any of the following contingencies:—

For the term of One Year, Seven Years, or any other definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life.—The Premiums to cease, after a limited number of Annual Payments.

For Two Joint Lives.—The sum assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the longest of Two or Three Lives.—The sum assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor; or,

The Survivorships.—To secure the payment of the sum assured, if a life A die before another life B.

For a sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums may remain on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Exemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership.

Moderate Premiums.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured amounting to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance:—1st. By the immediate payment of the sum so apportioned.—2nd. By an equivalent reduction of the future Premiums.—3d, 3rd. By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.

Policies lapsed by non-payment of the Premium may be renewed within three months, by paying the Premium, with a fine of 10s. per cent., on the production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Directors of the good state of health of the life assured.

The Company will always be prepared to Purchase the Policies of this Office, at their equitable value or will grant a New Policy in lieu thereof without any further payment of Premium, for a sum to be agreed on.

Extra Premiums, suitable to special circumstances, will be accepted, to enable a party possessing a Policy on the life of another to guard against the possibility of its being vitiated by the Life departing beyond limits, or by any other cause.

Thirty Days are allowed for the Payment of Premiums after the day on which they respectively fall due.

Additional Advantages offered to Lives Assured with this Company at St. John, N. B.

I.—RESIDENCE.—Persons assured for the whole term of life will have permission, without the payment of extra Premium, to reside in any part of Europe, or in any place in North America to the north of 38 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of the Mississippi River.

II.—VOYAGES.—They will also, if not seafaring by profession, be allowed, without any extra charge—

To cross and re-cross the Atlantic Ocean, in steamers or first-class sailing-vessels;

To pass from any part of Europe to any other, or from any part of North America to another, within the limits above specified; also,

To pass to and from, but not to reside in any place which shall not be further south than 35 degrees of North Latitude, but not to the westward of Mississippi River.

(From the "New York Tribune.")

The scenes are laid alternately in New York, on the coast of Africa and Ægian Sea. We have laughed almost to side splitting at the eccentricities of Old King Ke-tle, the Lounge Chief; and we have alternately rejoiced and wept over the history of Zuleika, the Greek maid and matron.

We fancy, too, that there is some satire hidden beneath the character of Merdaunt, but we do not wish to forestall the author's narrative—there are some exceedingly beautiful touches of pathos in various portions of the volume. It must have a large sale. For sale by

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A most astonishing cure of deformities effected.—A case certified by the Mayor of Boston.

Copy of a Letter from J. Nield, Esq., Mayor of Evesham, Worcestershire.

To Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—Mrs. Sarah Dixon, of Liquorpond-st., Boston, has this day deposed before me that for a considerable period she was severely afflicted with Scrofulous Sores and Ulcers in her arms, feet, legs, and other parts of her body; and although the first of medical advice was obtained, at the cost of a large sum of money, she obtained no abatement of suffering, but gradually grew worse.

Being recommended by a friend to try your Ointment, she procured a small pot, and a box of the Pills, and before that was all used, symptoms of amendment appeared. By persevering with the medicines for a short time longer, according to the directions, and strictly adhering to your rules as to diet, &c., she was perfectly cured, and now enjoys the boast of health.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours truly,
August 12th, 1852. (Signed) J. NOBLE.

AN EXTRAORDINARY AND RAPID CURE OF ERYSIPELAS IN THE LEG, AFTER MEDICAL AID HAD FAILED.

Copy of a Letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Yeates, of the Post Office, Alnwick Road, near Bognor, Sussex, dated June 14th, 1852.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I suffered for a considerable period from a severe attack of Erysipelas, which at length settled in my leg, and resisted all medical treatment. My sufferings were very great, and I quite despaired of any permanent amendment, when I was advised to have recourse to your Ointment and Pills. I did so without delay, and am happy to say, the result was eminently successful, for they effected a radical cure of my leg, and restored me to the enjoyment of health. I shall ever speak with the utmost confidence of your medicines, and have recommended them to others in this neighbourhood similarly afflicted, who derived equal benefit.

I am, Sir, your obliged and faithful servant.
(Signed) ELIZABETH YEATES.

A DREADFULLY SCORBUTIC ANCLE CURED AFTER BEING GIVEN UP BY THE FACULTY AT MALTA AND PORTSMOUTH HOSPITALS.

The following important communication has been forwarded to Professor Holloway for publication by Mr. H. Dixon, Chemist, King-st., Norwich.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Smith of Great Yarmouth, dated January 19th, 1853.

To Mr. Dixon.

Dear Sir,—I send you the particulars of a cure effected by Professor Holloway's invaluable medicines: Mr. John Walton, late in Her Majesty's Service, in the British Fleet at Malta, had a very bad ulcerated ancle, and after having been in the Malta Hospital for six months, was sent to England as an invalid to Portsmouth Hospital, where he remained an inmate four months, there, as at Malta, refusing to have the limb amputated, he was turned out incurable. He then came to Yarmouth, and was under a medical gentleman for about three months, but his ancle became so much worse, that all hope was lost. At this period, by my advice, he tried Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which by unremitted application, healed all the ulcers, and restored him to perfect health and strength.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours very truly,
(Signed) JOHN SMITH.

Albert Hotel, Great Yarmouth.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

Consumption cured of a bad nature, aggravated by asthma, and general ill-health.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. T. F. Re, Manufacturer, &c., Lower Mosse Lane, Manchester, dated February 2nd, 1852.

To Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in forwarding to you the particulars of every remarkable cure of a bad breast, effected solely by the use of your celebrated Ointment and Pills, by Mrs. Martha Bell, of Pitt-street, in this town, her case for a considerable time labouring under nervous debility, loss of appetite, and general ill health, occasioned by ulcerated wounds in the breast. She had had much experience in the use of all the known remedies for the above of but without any beneficial result, in fact she had nearly lost all faith and hope of a cure being effected. In this distressing and painful condition of body and mind, she was persuaded to have recourse to your invaluable Ointment and Pills, which she immediately did, and in the course of a very short time the effect produced was most astonishing; her appetite was speedily improved, the sores and ulcers in the breast gradually healed, and the nervous excitement of her system was wholly removed.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours faithfully,
T. FORSTER KER.

The Pills should be used conjointly with the Ointment in most of the following cases:
