

THE HOME.

"The Bright Side." "There's many a rose on the road of life... And many a tone from a better land... And the querulous heart would wake it!

violets at her breast; she did not display a single trinket. Of course the elegant simplicity of a fashionable woman is more expensive than any...

Don't Touch It. "What's that?" asked Johnny, pointing to a queer-looking thing he had never seen before.

"It must have been on my table." An old lady, now left alone in the world, tells in the Union Signal her own sad experience as a warning to wives and mothers...

"I was years ago for my hair is silvered and I feel old, all unconsciously, my hair and forehead pronounced the doom of those dearest to me."

THE FARM.

On a farm to-day, as a rule, are an intelligent and independent as any other class of people, and there is no reason in the world why they should not be content with their lot...

"My boys, too! Beautiful as the morning! My boys whom I should have shielded from evil as far as I lay in my power."

"Do you wonder how I bore it? The hand of the Almighty above me, I felt that there was something in my hand to help me, but not too late for my energy, and so all my time, all my strength, and all my power were thrown into the work of saving other mothers' boys."

"Poetry Culture," by I. K. Foley, contains fifty illustrations, and gives considerable attention to its last chapters on turkeys, ducks, and geese, which other poultry may be raised with profit.

WHAT AN EGG WILL DO.—For burns and scalds nothing is more soothing than the white of an egg, which may be poured over the wound.

MRS. AS A BEAUTIFUL.—Milk beaten to much above 100°. Fahrenheit loses for a time its degree of its sweetness and density.

Some of Husk's sharpest and most trenchant words are directed against what he describes as "immoral cheapness," cheaper so much below the actual value of the article that it sells of dishonest workmanship or underpaid toil.

A GHOST is a myth, but solid reality will be known by those who try to Hallette & Co., Portland, Me., thereby learning, free, about work that they can do, and live at home, wherever they reside, at a profit of $5 to $25 and upwards daily.

A GENTLEMAN from Nova Scotia writes us a long letter, which, for want of space, we cannot give in full, but he says: "I had read your paper in the most judicious form, and was glad to see that you were so full of sympathy for the poor."
