CABINET ANGRY AT PLACARD

Paris, Mar. 29.—The question whether the postal strike will be resumed still hangs in the balance. The Government has received another vote of confidence in the matter of the strike. The sentence in the strikers' placards denouncing M. Simey was declared by M. Clemenceau, "an act posterior to the strike." When M. Barthou, Minister of Public Works referred to this passage tonight in the chamber, a voice from the Left interjected: "They are only doing what you are doing." M. Simey is still being eliminated from the whole question.

Considerable feeling had been aroused among the employees by reports that the Government intends to dock their pay for the days the strikers were absent and to reward the non-strikers, but M. Barthou denied the latter intention.

M. Clemenceau said the Government was determined to dismiss those responsible for the manifesto if they could be discovered. He refused to accept the order of the day pure and simple, which was rejected by a vote of 277 to 204, and the order of the day which the Government accepted was voted by sentences. The first, inviting the Government to apply the legal statute to civil servants was carried unanimously; the second, excluding them from the right to strike was excluded; and the third, expressing confidence in the Government was adopted by a vote of 341 to 237. The order was then a whole voted by a show of hands.

Owing to the fact that the Government has threatened to punish the members of the committee that controlled the recent strike of telegraphers and postmen, for issuing an offensive manifesto after terms of settlement had been arranged, the committee has announced its intention of organizing a general strike on a larger scale if the Government carries out its intention. The committee men claim that the manifesto, as published, was adopted at the mass meeting that brought the strike to an end.
