A Mr. Hammer, of Effingham, Ill., lately recovered $15,000 from a railroad company for cutting his leg off, while a woman in St. Louis could only get $5,000 for the whole of her husband, who was killed by another soulless corporation. Perhaps the justice of this thing is to be found in the fact that the man could not get another leg as good as the old one for twice the money, while the woman with her $5,000 may be able to get a better husband.

The Baby's First Tooth. [From the Danbury News].

Mr. and Mrs. Harbison had just finished heir breakfast. Mr. Harbison had pushed ack, and was looking under the lounge olding the infant Harbison, and me chanically working her fore-finger in its mouth. Suddenly she paused in the motion, threw the astonished child on its oack, turned as white as a sheet, pried open its mouth, and immediately gasped, 'Ephraim!" Mr. Harbison, who was on at once came forth, rapping his head sharply on the side of the lounge as he did so, and, getting on his feet, inquired what was the matter. "O, Ephraim," MASON & HAMLIN'S said she, the tears rolling down her cheeks and the smiles coursing up. "Why what is it, Armethea," said the astonished Mr. Harbison, smartly rubbing his head where it had come in contact with the towner. "Raby—" she gasped. Mr. "Baby-" she gasped. Mr. Harbison turned pale and commenced to sweat. "Baby has-O, O, O, Ephraim! Baby has—baby has got a tooth!" "No!" screamed Mr. Harbison, spreading his legs apart, dropped his chin, and staring at the struggling heir with all his might. "I tell you it is," persisted Mrs. H., with a slight evidence of hysteria. "O, O, it can't be," protested Mr. H., preparing to wear if it wasn't. "Come, and see for yourself," said Mrs. H "Open it's 'ittle mousy wousy for its own muzzer. That's a toody woody; that's a bessed 'ittle 'ump o' sughar." Thus conjured the heir opened its mouth sufficiently for the author of its being to thrust in his finger, and that gentleman having convinced himself by the most indubitable evidence that a tooth was there, immediately kicked his hat across the room, buried his fist in the lounge, and declared with much feeling and vehemence that he could lick the individual who would dare to intimate that he was not the happiest Baby has—baby has got a tooth!" "No!" with much feeling and vehemence that he could lick the individual who would dare to intimate that he was not the happiest man on the face of the earth. Then he gave Mrs. H. a hearty smack on the mouth, and snatched up the heir, while that lady rushed tremblingly forth atter Mrs. Simmons, who lived next door. In a moment Mrs. Simmons came tearing in as if she had been shot out of a gun, and right behind her cane Mrs. H. at a speed that indicated she had been ejected from two guns. Mrs. Simmons at once snatched the heir from the arms of Mr. H. and hurried it to the window, where she made a careful and critical examination of its mouth, while Mrs. H. held its head, and tright do still the throbbings of her heart, and Mr. H. danced up and down and snapped his fingers to show how calm he was. It having been ascertained by Mrs. Simmons that the tooth was a sound one, and also that the strongest hopes for its future could be entertained on account of its coming in the new of the moon, Mrs. Harbison got out the necessary material, and Mr. Harbison at once proceeded to write seven different letters to as many persons, unfolding to them the event of the morning, and inviting them to come on as soon as possible.
