Why Do We Advertise?

YOU may think that because we are big manufacturers, and you are only one consumer out of several million, we have no special interest in you, and you have no real interest in us. Nothing could be farther from the truth than that.

Our future as manufacturers depends in the end, upon just one thing: the satisfaction which our product gives to you, the consumer. And your satisfaction depends to a large extent upon the attention which you yourself give to the buying of shoes.

For, bear in mind this fact: no matter with what care we select the materials which go into a shoe—no matter how perfect the workmanship may be—it will not give you the full measure of satisfaction unless it is correctly fitted to your foot. And that is something which we cannot control.

We do insist that the materials which go into our shoes shall be the best quality possible at the price: we do make sure that the workmanship is as nearly perfect as our human organization can make it—but we must stop there. We cannot insure ourselves that you will buy the type of shoe which will give you the best service, or the size and width which alone can give you comfort and satisfactory wear.

And so we speak to you through this advertising—the only method by which we can hope to reach you all. Our object is not merely to sell more of our shoes. We seldom ask you to buy A. H. M. shoes. Our purpose is rather to tell you how you may obtain better comfort and better service from the shoes you buy.

Of course we hope that you will buy A. H. M. shoes, and we are confident that sooner or later you will do so. But we want to make sure that when you do buy them you will get all the comfort and satisfaction which we try to build into them. Our booklet, "How to Buy Shoes" goes into the subject more fully than is possible in newspaper space. It is sent on request to any address in Canada. May we send you a copy with our compliments?

By The Duchess

It would be impossible to convey on paper the amount of venom he manages to hiss into these last words. They are spoken low, but they impress his listeners with the idea that he means them thoroughly, and that he would be rather glad than otherwise, were occasion given him, to put them into execution.

You fully understand," he says, still looking at Griselda. Discreet me and out you go. Then see what this lover of yours will do for you, the one! turning a malignant look on Vera, who dares to thwart a plan of mine will do it to her cost. Beware therefore!"

He signs to them to leave the room.

CHAPTER XXII.
She raised a sigh so piteous and profound.

As it did seem to shatter all her bulk.

And end her being.

It is two days later and a delicious afternoon, though it would be quite useless to try and get Griselda's agreement about her Discreet and feeling like one cribbed, cabined, and confined," she has seated herself upon the parapet at the end of the garden and given herself up to a pre-occupied foreboding. So far good indeed is she in her dismal thoughts that she is deaf to the sound of approaching footsteps at the other side of the wall and almost calls aloud as a hand is cautiously lovingly placed upon hers. Hush," says a well-known voice in a very subdued key.

Stiffening the cry that has risen to her lips she looks first at the strong hand that clasps her own, and then over the parapet to find there Mr. Peyton clinging like a limpet to the wall. His hand has come above it, his head is not. He is a young man in his own generation, and has calculated to a nicety how far the visual organ as directed from the windows opposite can be brought to bear with effect on that portion of the wall to which he clings.

You cries Griselda in a whisper—a glad whisper though tempered with reproach. For quite a minute she gazes at him, as if spellbound, out of her sorrowful eyes, and then something that is more than sorrow fills those charming features—a little fear, a little astonishment, a great deal of resentment.

Oh, you shouldn't have come here, you shouldn't indeed," she says. "How could you, and when it is all your fault too, every bit of it?"

What has happened?" demands he eagerly. Something awful, I suppose? When you didn't put in an appearance yesterday, I felt as if I must come up here and find you. When to-day still showed the wood a howling wilderness I came. What can have happened to you darling you look as pale as a death? You're staring anxiously at her you've got them, I think."

I shouldn't wonder if I look a skeleton," says Griselda, blinking her eyes to keep back the tears. After all I have gone through, I have fretted myself to fiddlesticks. Oh, you ought to be sorry. And I am never to speak to you again, never to look at you—that is part of my orders—so you must go away at once. If you were caught here, I shudder to think of that would happen. Oh, with a sudden frightened glance toward the house, "go, and don't come back. I hope you will not come back."

Here, seeing the look of blank despair and grief that darkens his face, this cruel hope" is given to his ears, her face softens somewhat and a deplorable expression creeps round the corners of her mouth. You must never see me again—never, never," she says, and two large tears run down her cheeks.

But why?" implores he, still clinging to her hand as though that is now all that is left to him. He forgets even the windows and so far raises himself on a friendly projecting stone in the wall as to so bring his own face into much closer proximity to the lovely workwoman on which the traces of tears are still wet. Tell me that has happened?"

He saw us that day I knew it," says she miserably. Oh," with a reproachful glance at him, that reduces him to despair. If only you had a few grains of sense, one even. To think of your kneeling down within view of

Says Acid Stomach Causes Indigestion

Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Sour The Food and Forms Gas.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents a complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoon in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Girls! Girls! Try It! Stop Dandruff And Beautify Your Hair

Hair stops falling out and gets thick, wavy, strong and beautiful

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandereine hair cleanse". Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandereine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandereine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few days you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty soft hair and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowledge's Dandereine from any druggist or toilet counter for a few cents.

the dirty high-road and holding on by my shoe-string—Oh, what a situation. Well," with a sign expressive of pious resignation it is all over now, and I am forbidden to leave this garden ever again."

Nonsense! "That's absurd!" "It isn't all however, I am forbidden also ever to speak to you again."

That's absurd!" says Mr. Peyton with a fine disregard of the deencies of language. Is it? You don't know my uncle them, let me tell you. I wish you could have stood in my shoes when he said it, and watched his wicked old face. Go if you like," he said plump and plain and without the shadow of a blush of shame but if you do, I shall turn you upon the way-side to starve."

She has risen from her seat in the passion of her anger and is looking at him with eyes once more suffused with tears. "I was ashamed," she says, her mind going back to that insulting interview with her uncle. Oh, I could not tell you half of what he said, I shouldn't care so much about it for myself, but there is Vera. I must think of her. As for me, I tell you this," pining again and clasping her hands together. I have quite made up my mind to one thing. I shan't say here. After a little while, when he cannot accuse Vera of knowing anything about it, I shall run away."

With me, I hope," says the young man tenderly surprised into this speech by the spectacle of her distress. Then he stops shocked at his own temerity. What I mean is," he stammers that whenever you feel inclined to leave Greycourt you may depend upon me to keep you."
