Style, Quality and Economy Go Hand in Hand When Making a Purchase at This Store.

"The smartest and best fitting suits we've seen anywhere." "You've got 'em all beat for good fitting suits and overcoats." "These prices don't look as if clothing was up." These are the kindly comments we're getting every day in the week from critical buyers who have made the rounds. Clever salesmanship doesn't induce compliments like these; it's just the downright smartness of the garments, the wonderful fitting qualities and the unusualness of moderateness of the prices. We invite you to see this splendid array. You can look them over and welcome without buying if you so decide, but we do seriously advise your early choice, for there will be no duplicates of these values.

hundreds, even thousands of citizens, and from these depositories will be drawn whatever sums are required for the purpose. But the Provincial Act, based as it is on the principle of the greatest good to the greatest number, lacks nothing in generous provisions. It is especially framed to meet the call from the returned soldier whose purse is not full. But it is an excellent all-round measure and the stimulus it will give to the erection of moderate-sized, compact and sanitary houses for workmen will largely solve the problem for growing municipalities. It is in accord with the spirit of the times as noted in most of the co-operative movements of the day. Further eulogistic comment on either the provisions of the Act or the motives actuating its authors, is quite unnecessary. It has successfully run the gauntlet of professional, municipal and legislative criticism and that is sufficient to secure for it the confidence and approval of our people. Projected as the plan has been in Galt, The Reporter sees only the achievement of the aims of its promoters to a degree that will prove satisfactory all round. The City Council has selected four well-known citizens to serve on the Housing Commission—Alex R. Goldie, John H. Hancock, N.E. Palmer and Charles Cumming—and initial operations are, therefore, not likely to be long delayed. While $250,000 of the Provincial Government Loan will be applied for, it is expected, in fact is announced, that this will be drawn from in sums required as the work of construction proceeds. No more than is necessary for the plans in hand at the time will be placed to the credit of the local Commission. In this as in other matters coming under review and calling for careful supervision, the

Housing Commission Organized in Galt

A report in the Galt Reporter on the Housing situation and Housing Commission says: "Galt is today in possession of a Housing Commission, and can heartily congratulate herself on that fact. She is one of the first to accept the conditions named by the Provincial Government and will be one of the first to undertake the construction of Workmen's houses according to the plan outlined in the legislation passed by the Provincial House. From out of many conferences and controversies has come the decision to embark in the undertaking. The path to success is not littered with any difficult obstacles, chiefly owing to the great shortage of houses and to the ability of those seeking homes to meet all the financial obligations pertaining to construction and transfer from the Housing Commission.
