

eleven yards and three-fourths of crêpon forty inches wide, with six yards and an eighth of flouncing ten inches and a half wide.

thirty inches wide, or fourteen yards thirty-six inches wide, or eleven yards and three-eighths forty-four inches wide.

Price of pattern, 1s. 8d. or 40 cents.

FIGURE No. 200 T.—This illustrates LADIES' AFTERNOON GOWN.—The pattern is No. 3607 (copy-right), price 1s. 8d. or 40 cents.—(For Description see this Page.)

FIGURE No. 200 T.—LADIES' AFTERNOON GOWN.

(For Illustration see this Page.)

FIGURE No. 200 T.—This represents a Ladies' costume. The pattern, which is No. 8607 and costs 1s. 8d. or 40 cents, is in thirteen sizes for ladies from twenty-eight to forty-six inches, bust measure, and may be seen in four views on page 270 of this magazine.

This is a charming gown for afternoon wear. The present combination of plain and polka-dotted blue silk and white lace over white satin produces a very pleasing result. The fanciful waist is made with a closely-fitted lining and its perfectly smooth whole back is bias. The full fronts flare toward the middle of the shoulders over a smooth plastron and about the lower part of the waist is a wrinkled girdle that is drawn out to be deepest at the front, where its frilled ends are closed. The close-fitting sleeves are made fanciful by short bouffant puffs at the top and by deep frill caps that stand out stylishly over the puffs. A wrinkled ribbon about the bottom of the collar is knotted at the front and bowed at the back, and a bow of similar ribbon is tacked to the girdle at the left side. Jet beading and lace points and insertion are effective as decoration.

Long lace points are placed on the side-front seams of the skirt, which is in five gores. The skirt spreads broadly at the front and flutes deeply at the sides and is gathered at the back.

Less elaborate costumes will be made up in combinations of woolen goods and silk. Much simplicity may be attained by making the back in the ordinary fitted style and omitting the girdle and frill caps.

LADIES' COMFORT GOWN (SPECIALLY DESIGNED FOR ELDERLY LADIES). (TO BE MADE WITH OR WITHOUT THE COLLARS AND KERCHIEF.)

(For Illustrations see Page 288.)

No. 8377.—Another illustration of this gown is given at figure No. 204 T in this number of THE Delineator.

Quaintness and simplicity are combined in this most comfortable gown for elderly ladies. Gray Henrietta was here chosen for the gown, with dotted white illusion for the kerchief. The front of the body and the entire skirt are in one, the skirt being gathered at the top back of the front and joined to a body back that is smooth at the top but has fullness drawn to the center by gathers at the bottom. At the center the front is slashed to a convenient depth for a closing, which is made invisibly. The fullness at the waist-line in front is regulated by cords or tapes

Of one material, it needs eighteen yards and seven-eighths twenty-two inches wide, or sixteen yards and seven-eighths convenient depth for a closing, which is made invisibly. The fullness at the waist-line in front is regulated by cords or tapes