CHINA'S NEW PRESIDENT

Peking, Sept. 27.—Hsu Shih-chang, who recently was elected president of the Chinese Republic, announced to-day that he would assume office on Oct. 10 and will follow a policy of peace inside the Republic.

"I am unworthy of you." "Ah." "Totally unworthy. But I shall try to make myself worthy." "Why bother? I am perfectly willing to go through life with that understanding."—Kansas City Journal.

THE LLOYD GEORGE TYPE

The one thing we all admire in Lloyd-George is that we know where to find him. He acts definitely. He is no luke-warm weakling. He fights on like our splendid boys are doing despite the 25,000 casualties since August 6th.

Are you doing your part as well? Have you taken your stand in the thrift question? Have you definitely decided that out of your good returns this year, you will lay by such-and-such an amount for a Victory savings account?

If you have done nothing in the matter, you are not of this Lloyd-George type. You have heard the call to bring your dollars into the service of the country when she calls. And having heard you have not acted. Make the decisive move now. Start the fund at once!

THRIFTING, ARE YOU?

By Edmund Vance Cooke
We think we are thrifting,
But maybe we're drifting.
And the coin that we clink is not saving but shifting.

For seemingly spending
Goes on without ending
And heedlessness still is the tend of our trending.

In gleaming my meaning,
You'll find gasolining
Is still used for dusting instead of for cleaning;

And most of us batten
On fine fare and fatten,
While robing our softness in purple and satin.

Oh, maybe you're guilty and maybe you're not,
But ask: "Have I thrifted as much as I ought?"

Our thrifting is fickle,
Its runs in a trickle.
We pickle a nickel to give us a tickle,
Then ride on the trolleys
To go to the Follies
And hand ourselves thanks and a couple of jollies.

Man still goes on puffing,
Imbibing, and stuffing,
And holding enough yet without "Hold enough!"-ing,
While woman still poses
And shows us her hoses,
All silken and sheer to excuse her dis-closes.

At the end of the day, if you're feeling too good,
Ask this: "Have I thrifted as much as I should?"

HOW "PA" WROTE THE DEED

Judge Henry A. Shute in a recent sketch tells of the visit to his New Hampshire law office of a country J. P. and his wife, and the assistance he was permitted to give the old man in making out a deed:

"I will make out the deed and take your acknowledgement," and I took down a case of blanks.

"Ne'mind, Squire," she answered quickly, "Pa can make out a deed as good as you. Pa has made out lots of deeds. He has been seelickman, 'n sealer of weights and measures, 'n fence viewer, 'n treasurer of the cemetery," pride in her versatile husband shining in her bright eyes.

It was not long, however, before they were at a standstill. Remembering my rebuff I decided to sit tight and wait for a call for assistance, which was not long in coming, for Pa appeared at my door with his whiskers standing out in every direction, and a smudge of ink on his nose and ruined his blank in the no-thoroughfare of the habendum and tenendum clause, but was obstinately "set" on justifying his course.

Seeing that the situation was serious and that tact of a high order of excellence was required, I told Pa that for a long time that question had been much mooted, at which both Pa and Ma were very much interested indeed.

That personally I still believed that Pa's contention was correct, but unfortunately the statute of "Quia Emptores" had been passed in England abolishing subinfeudation, at which both Pa's and Ma's eyes bulged out quite a bit.

That the question had gone to the Queen's Bench on a question of "ne plus ultra" and that Lord Decimus Finucane had argued the case from the standpoint of "Quoad Hoc," "Quo Warranto" and "Quousque tandem abutere nostra patientia" rather favoring Pa's views, and that the Court of Queen's Bench had inclined that way. But that a writ of review in the nature of "Tenentibus in Assisa non Onerandis" had been granted and that the House of Lords had reversed the decision, stating that

Tenor est qui legem dat feudo

Also

Bis dat qui cito dat.

And that

Omnia Gallia divisa est in partes tres.

Pa and Ma were so astonished at this that they could only gasp, "Shaw! ye don't say," scarcely above their breath, and I had no further difficulty in inducing Pa to accept my suggestion, which I made as tactfully and deferentially as possible. Indeed I feel quite sure Pa thought the suggestions were his.—Boston Transcript.

CANADA FOOD BOARD INFORMATION

The attention of the Canada Food Board has been called to the practice frequently adopted by Licensed Dealers in Apples, Turnips, Potatoes, and other Fruits and Vegetables, of having men living in different parts of the country acting as their Agents, buying or contracting such produce, superintending the loading of same on cars ready for shipment, and receiving a commission from said dealers for such work.

All such Agents operating in the manner mentioned without first having secured a licence from the Board, are doing so contrary to the Order dated 13th day of December, 1917, within it states—

"That on and after the 1st day of February, 1918, no person shall deal wholesale in fresh fruits or fresh vegetables, without first having obtained a licence from the Food Controller," and in violating such order are guilty of an offence, and subject to a penalty not to exceed $1,000.00, and not less than $100.00.
