Fichu Revived—New Neckwear, Skirts.

Though her thoughts may be 'way over on the western front, and her interest in the humbling of the horrible Hun has not lessened one bit, there are certain matters close at hand which require some consideration. Since one must be clothed, there are smart and becoming clothes to choose—and does not behoove Madame to look her best at all times and for all occasions?

Just now we hear so often that "things have changed," and they tell us how many things are different. One is reminded of this in connection with summer millinery, for time was—and not so long ago!—when we adhered rather closely to the straw hat for the summer months. But not this year of 1918! Perhaps it is because spring pushes so hard into the lap of next winter and we don our straw chapeaux along in January, that we are quite willing and anxious to wear something else in June. At any rate, the hat of Georgette crepe is the thing just now.

We believe MINARD'S LINIMENT IS the best.

THE SMALL HAT.

For morning and tailored wear Madame adjusts a close-fitting, trim little Hindoo turban, or a wee toque of crepe Georgette over her sleek coiffure. It is usually untrimmed, save for some effective draping of the crepe, or perhaps a little edge of white next the face. And usually this small hat is of dark blue.

For afternoon wear and other moral occasions, when she wishes to wear a large dress hat, does she choose a straw hat? Not at all! She chooses another of crepe Georgette! It may be of dark blue, or of the lovely shell pink, or a soft, creamy tan, or one of the orchid shades, or a delicate blue, or white—but it is of crepe Georgette. This filmy, transparent weave has had quite enough attention in millinery, it would seem, but are of crepe Georgette, and often in dark blue. It is really an ideal summer fabric, being so light and clinging and becoming to practically every woman. And the fashions and themselves to its use admirably.

Frocks of dark blue taffeta are another fashion of the moment. The latest trimming is a deep silken fringe, for fringe is having quite a revival at present. It is used around the neck quite often (and the fashionable neck is round, too), and on the long tunic and to edge the ever-present sash.

Sleeves are long. And usually they are tight at the wrist, though there is some vogue for the loose sleeves. When they are tight it gives Madame a chance to wear a pair of dainty, snowy cuffs to match the white collar with which she relieves sombreness of her attire. And that reminds us that is daintier and prettier than ever this summer. Organdie, crisp and sheer and fine, is particularly modish. And if it is hand hemstitched, so much the better. Or it may be edged with tiny frills, and this is a fashion many women find becoming. And if one does not wish to confine herself to white neckwear, there is ecru or pink or blue or pale violet.

The fillet lace collars and cuffs are still worn by well-dressed women (particularly those who possess the real fillet), but this, of course, is not a fashion brand new this season, although there are new shapes in the collars.

There are lovely new hand-made gimpes of net and of organdie, with hemstitching and tiny tucks, and some times lace for their adorning, and these are in new shapes and styles. And one may have white or ecru in the net.

THE FICHU REVIVED.

Fichus are a quaint, old-time fashion revived again this summer. They look well on the organdie and other thin summer frocks. These, too, are of net or of organdie, and are frilly, with lace and wee ruffles.

NEW SKIRTS.

are of silk tricolette, and are exceedingly smart. They are soft and graceful and women like their clinging lines. Usually they are most simply made, for the material is beautiful enough to be unadorned. One shop had tricolette skirts in the loveliest colors—Chinese blue, navy blue, rose, a shimmering taupe, pale gray, pink, and, of course, black and white.

Canada's River of Mud.

What is perhaps the most wonderful river in the whole world and one which is certainly unique of its kind was discovered by a party of prospectors exploring what is known as the "Smoky river region" in northern Alberta, Canada.

Briefly, it is a river of mud—that is to say, although its course is well marked, with banks clearly defined, as in an ordinary river, its bed contains not water, but thick liquid mud of the consistency of molasses.

The mud river flows, as does a water river, but, of course, much more slowly. In fact, its progress during the time the party were observing it more nearly resembled that of a glacier. Unlike a glacier, however, there is no terminal moraine. A glacier at its foot melts and flows away, leaving an accumulation of rocks, but any heavy masses that may be in this river of mud must settle to the bottom and remain concealed by the mud itself. This mud river debouches on a plain, spreading out fan-like and forming a morass of unknown depth and extent.—London Mail.

SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand, the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EGG-EATING.

National Differences Are Very Clearly Shown.

Nearly every nationality has some special way of cooking and serving eggs for breakfast, and quite unconsciously the average person's order of eggs will reveal his nationality.

Americans are said to prefer poached eggs. The foreigner, when traveling, who sees a man order a couple of eggs poached on toast, almost immediately jumps to the conclusion that only an American could have given the order. Hard-cooked eggs served whole are another American dish, and "devil'd eggs," where the yoke is mixed with various condiments, is strictly American. Fried eggs, too, are more common in America than elsewhere.

Hard cooked eggs are eaten in Germany, too, but they are usually prepared in a glass, chopped with butter, salt and pepper. The German likes his soft cooked eggs very soft indeed, and breaks the contents into a china cup, eating them from the cup. The "egg cup" is an invention of Germany, but the German cups are large enough to contain several eggs. "Sour eggs" are eaten in Germany, too.

A Positive Luxury in Infusion

Pure Tea, without admixture . . . of Any Kind, foreign to its growth.

has the reputation of nearly a quarter of a century behind every packet sold.

The average Englishman likes his egg cooked for three and one-half minutes, no more and no less. He is particular about the time. He prefers a small egg cup that holds one egg, the shell of which is not removed. The Englishman then removes the top of the shell. Bread and butter, instead of the toast of the American, is eaten with the Englishman's eggs.

The Frenchman removes the top of his egg, too, but then he stirs the contents vigorously and adds bits of bread and butter to the egg. Sometimes squares of bread are dipped into the egg.

No Spaniard would dream of letting an egg boil three minutes—that is, if he prefers his eggs prepared strictly in the native fashion. The egg is allowed to boil only one minute and is then broken open and the contents poured into a glass, the real Spanish custom drinking it off as if it were water.

In Italy eggs, to be perfectly prepared, are started on their boiling by being put into cold water. When the water comes to a boil, the egg is done. It is eaten on a large plate with bread.—Exchange.

Typical Pipes of the Nations.

The clay pipes used by the natives of various countries and nationalities are quite numerous and have their own individual fashion almost characteristic of each country. The French clay pipe is gay in color and for a few cents one can buy one decorated with the carving of animals' heads, and other adornments. The Hungarian clay pipe has a bowl of clay, and a long stem of either wood or bamboo. This pipe is usually large, with a big bowl, and the average cost is ten cents.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the Eustachian Tube. Catarrh acts through the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All druggists 5c.

HOT BATH IN BOGOTA.

It Took Quite a Lot of Difficulty to Get.

Ever since our arrival Hays and I had been threatening to patronize one of the two public bathhouses with a first-class bogotano reputation rumor had it existed in the capital, says Franck's "Vagabonding Down the Andes." But in a land where the temperature rarely reaches 60 and the floors are tiled, it takes courage, and we had been satisfying ourselves and our duty to humanity by bravely splashing a basin of icy water over many forms each morning on rising. By dint of strong resolution often repeated to be up at six and visit one of the cases re-bathed, we did finally manage one morning to find ourselves wandering the streets by eight, with towel and soap under our arms, and stared at by all we met. We discovered La Violeta at last, next door to a blacksmith shop. The keeper we woke up told us we might have a cold bath, but that the sign on the front wall: "Hot baths at all hours," was to be taken with a bogotano meaning.

A few mornings later we did actually find the other establishment open. We entered a large patio, the most striking of several buildings, within which was a round, or, more exactly, an eight-sided house, and in time succeeded in arousing the place to the extent of bringing down upon us a young hugely excited at the appearance of a crowd of two whole bathers all at one time.

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD

Railway Official's Conclusions Following Western Tour.

"After an extended tour through the west, both over the C. P. R. and other lines, during which I looked carefully into crop prospects, I think it is safe to conclude that, with the increased acreage under cultivation, Western Canada this year will produce at least as many bushels of grain as last year, provided, of course, that conditions continue as favorable as they are at present." This was the statement made on July 15 by Mr. C. E. McPherson, assistant passenger traffic manager of the C. P. R. at Winnipeg, while in Montreal on a business trip.

The youth assured us there was plenty of hot water. I won the toast and was soon stripped. But the shower was colder than the ice fields bounding the pole. When I had caught my breath I bawled my repertory of profane Spanish at the youth, who could be seen through a hole above pottering with some sort of an upright boiler and firebox, and now and then peering down upon me. Suddenly the water grew warm, not boiling, then, just when I had soaped myself from crown to toe in the steam, it turned as suddenly cold again, and an instant later stopped entirely. My eyes tight closed I shouted at the youth above. "Es que el agua caliente se acabo," he droned. "It is that the hotel water has finished itself."

There being no deadly weapon at hand I turned on a tap of ice-cold water and raced to the dressing room still half soaped. Hays, scantily clad, was gazing fiercely at the youth through a hole in the door.

"Then there isn't any more hot water?" he demanded.

"Not now, señor, but there will be soon."

"Good. How soon?"

"Early to-morrow morning, señor." "Well, you cross-eyed son of spigdom," exploded the ordinarily event-tempered ex-corporal. "I came here and stripped to an undershirt that I might dance in my bare feet on this tile floor in honor of Jose Maria de la Santa Trinidad Simon Bolivar! Get up on that roof and fire up or . . ."

The youth was already feverishly stoking armfuls of wood under the upright boiler, and by the time I left for home Hays was shadow boxing to keep warm, with a fair chance of getting a bath before the day was done.

The Tongue.

(Anonymous.)

"The boneless tongue, so small and weak,"

Can crush and kill," declared the poet. "The tongue destroys a greater horde." The Turk asserts, "than does the sword."

The Persian proverb wisely saith, "A lengthy tongue an early death." Or sometimes takes this form instead, "Don't let your tongue cut off your head."

"The tongue can speak a word whose speed,"

Say the Chinese, "outstrips the steed." While Arab sages this impart, "The tongue's great storehouse is the heart."

From Hebrew writ the maxim sprang, "Though the feet should slip, never let the tongue." The sacred writer crowns the whole, "Who keeps his tongue doth keep his soul."

tion, Mr. McPherson said the prospects were particularly good, with a largely increased area of wheat acreage, and every prospect of abundant yields.

So far as passenger business was concerned, Mr. McPherson said that the roads in the west had never done better than during the present year. As to American tourist business, particularly toward the far west, Mr. McPherson said it was too early to make any predictions, but the prospects pointed to at least as good a season as last year, while the number of visitors to the Rocky Mountain resorts was well up to the average.

Mr. McPherson will return to Winnipeg in a few days.
