Miss Johnston was presented with a very han some china amp. The teacher presented the pupils with bags of popcorn, can be and books. Miss Johnson is engaged to teach at Glen Morris for the year

Despite the very disagreeable eather, a large crowd assembled at Charleston school on Friday evening at an enter:ainment given by Miss Ethel Rabb, who has taught our school for the past two years. The entertainment was a decided success. The school house was so decorated as to present an elegant appearance Mottoes, evergreens, flags and bunting were in profusion. Music was furnished by Messrs. M B. Slack and M. J. Kavanagh. The Misses Gainand's cornet solos were loudly applauded. The remainder of the programme consisted of songs, recita-tions and dialogues, interspersed with choruses by the school. A wand drill by six pupils was very much appre-ciated, as was also the tableau, "Rock of ages." The teacher presented each of the pupils with a token of remem brance, and the tree presented a charming appearance. The pupils in turn presented their treacher with a clock. The entertainment closed with the national anthem. We are very sorry to lose our teacher, Miss Rabb, and the good wishes of a host of

To License Cheese Factories

A movement is on foot to have all cheese factories placed under the supervision of the Government, which, according to the scheme, would grant licenses to such only as were properly equipped and managed. The matter has been discussed off and on for years by those interested in the dairy, but a very aggressive movement has recently been started which is thought will have definite results. The question is being written up in several of the leading Canadian dairy periodicals and many dairy men and exporters are taking the matter up enthusiastically.

In some districts both in Ontario and Quebec there are tactories which are not in a fit sanitary condition to manufacture butter and chee-e, and there are many dairymen wio are manifestly i competent. The patrons of many of the factories seem to care only for the cost of production and pay no heed to the quality of the pro duction. They are willing to use improper utensils and employ incompetent men in order to save a little in the cost of production. Those who have the interests of the Canadian dairy produce trade at heart are anxious to see steps taken to force factories to afford sanitary and up-todate methods and dairymen to prove their ability before being given charge of a factory.—Ex.
