

Seeded Raisins 10c a P'kg

There's nothing surer than this—that seeded raisins at 10c a pound is remarkably cheap when you consider that it takes at least a pound and a quarter of raisins to make a pound seeded and that the work is done for you, they are cheaper than ordinary raisins.

Ald. John Edmondson considers that he wasn't fairly treated Friday night. The meeting was called for 7.30. Mr. Edmondson was there at that time, and patiently waited till 7.45, but his colleagues not showing up he went away. Then later, when he wasn't there, the meeting was held. Mr. Edmondson says that he has always considered the Mayor's time valuable, as he has always been in his place on time.

THE REOPENING

missing contraltos and a clever pupil of Samuel I. Slade. Miss Peate sang exceptionally well. She has a pure contralto voice and gives promise of becoming one of Chatham's foremost singers. In the evening Willie Hoig, one of the choir boys sopranos, gave a solo. Willie is a pure soprano and sang remarkably well. R. W. Angus, another pupil of Mr. Slade's, also sang The Nanny and one in the evening.

Prof. Walter Dolman, the talented organist, performed his important part faultlessly. Mr. Dolman is an organist of exceptional ability and Christ Church is fortunate in having his services. He played two excellent voluntaries at each service, one at the opening and the other during the offertory, and his accompaniments to the solos and chorus singing were perfect.

The man who deserves the credit for the formation of this vested choir is Rev. Mr. McCosh, the popular rector of the church. Mr. McCosh has advocated this move for some time and has worked faithfully and earnestly in securing the surplices and vestments, and arranging the services to suit the choir. He is indeed deserving of great praise for his work with the choir and also for the great work he is doing in the church.

The choir is composed of fifty voices, who are as follows:

Boys—Willie Hoig, S. McKeough, S. Bennett, D. Ripin, Roy McLean, W. Labadie, C. Higley, R. Glassford, Mac Sheldon, R. Pope, R. Bounsell, J. Edgington, H. Kellar, B. McLean and S. Poole.

Ladies—Misses Edith Holmes, Amy Bales, Gertie Tighe, E. Hales, P. Eberts, Nita Bounsell, F. Glass, Verna Heyward, Edna Dennis, May Peate, May Taylor, E. Barassain and Helen Thomas.

Tenors—Messrs. Watson, Russell, W. G. Bounsell, C. Gaudson, O. K. Lawson, H. Hughes, T. Waddell, J. Reeves and R. W. Angus.

Basses—Messrs. J. W. Paves, Chas. W. G. Bounsell, C. Higley, G. Higley, A. Glassford, W. Head, R. Bell, H. Hoy, H. Anquetil and J. W. Wilson.

The special collection which was asked for yesterday amounted to about $1,000, which was considered highly satisfactory.

DRUGGISTS Corner King and Fifth Sts.

BURGLAR BOYD PAYS HIS RESPECTS

Boyd, the burglar, was seen yesterday morning about one o'clock on King St., by an acquaintance, and after taking a good "rubber" to see if a cop was in sight, moved on toward Fifth St. bridge, presumably to meet his pal, Trembley, in North Chatham. He said to his acquaintance, "Give my respects to the turnkey," meaning, of course, our Kent County official. For cool, consolidated nerve this takes the cake.

ALLEGED HE PAID MONEY

There is some anxiety to ascertain the whereabouts of J. D. Lamont, of this city, who figured so conspicuously in the Soo election trial recently. Wilson & Co. have received a summons for service on him in which he is requested to appear before Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Trevel and show reason why he should not be committed to jail for bribery in connection with the election of C. N. Smith, who was recently unseated owing to corrupt practices on the part of his agents on election day. The summons alleges that J. D. actually paid five dollars a piece to thirteen men, bought them railway tickets and provided them with board and lodgings. He must have had an awful lot of the stuff if he did all that. Mr. Lamont is well known here.

Probate of the will of the late Jane Newham, of Raleigh, has been granted to R. A. and E. A. Newham. Thomas Scullard is acting for the executors.

LET'S GET ACQUAINTED.
