Life and Death.

So he died for his faith. That is fine. More than most of us do. But stay, can you add to that line, That he lived for it, too?

In his death he bore witness at last As a martyr to truth. Did his life do the same in the past From the days of his youth?

It is easy to die. Men have died From a wish or a whim— From bravado, or passion or pride, Was it harder for him?

But to live; every day to live out All the truth that he dreamt, While his friends met his conduct with doubt

And the world with contempt. Was it thus that he plodded ahead, Never turning aside? Then we'll talk of the life that he led— Never mind how he died.

A Result of Drink.

(From a Chicago Newspaper.) Last night Ralph Maxson Green died of alcoholism in a cheap hotel on State street. Unless relatives are heard from his body will be buried in the potters field. A few hours before his death Greene called for pencil and paper.

This is what he wrote: "Six months ago I was earning $300 a month as a civil and general engineer. I had a wife and little daughter and a nice home in Winnipeg, Canada. I did not drink. Then I was employed by the United States Government on the marine barracks at Washington, D. C. One night I took a drink. Since that night I have taken many drinks.

I lost my speed. Then I lost my job. Then I continued to drink, and soon discovered that I couldn't get another job. I felt that I didn't want another job as long as I could get something to drink. I lost my home. Then came to Chicago.

"I am going to die. I don't care. I

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Years, Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Canadian women are continually writing us such letters as the following, which are heartfelt expressions of gratitude for restored health:

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of womb and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully for years until I began taking your medicine. I also recommend it for nervousness and indigestion." — Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ont.

Chesterville, Ont.—"I heard your medicine highly praised, and a year ago I began taking them for falling of womb and cramps trouble. "My left side pained me all the time and just before my periods which were irregular and painful it would be worse. To sit down caused me pain and suffering and I would be so nervous sometimes that I could not hear to see any one or hear any one speak. Little specks would float before my eyes and I was always constipated.

"I cannot say too much for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Live Pills, for there are no medicines like them. I have taken them and I recommend them to all women. You may publish this testimonial." — Mrs. SYDNEY J. MAXSON, Chesterville, Ontario, Canada.

want to say this before I go. Let booze alone. It can't be whipped. It's too fast for me and it's too fast for you. For booze I gave everything I had, and now that I haven't anything left, booze will take me."

The body of Greene was taken to the country morgue. It was learned from the authorities in Winnipeg that Greene formerly had been one of the best known engineers in Canada. He was one of the engineers of the Broad street depot in Philadelphia and had been superintendent of the Dominion Bridge company and later the Manitoba Bridge and Iron works.

Efforts to locate relatives or his wife last night failed. Tired-out Kidneys. Kidney troubles are frightfully common because the kidneys are so easily upset by over-work or excesses of eating or drinking. Care is effected not by whipping them on to renewed effort, but by awakening the action of liver and bowels by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This rests the kidneys and makes them well. Backache and urinary disorders then disappear.

Realizing Its Danger.

"During my travels through Europe, recently," says Archbishop Ireland, (Roman Catholic), "I have discovered that the war against alcohol is spreading through every country on that continent. There is not a single country in Europe to day that does not have its annual congress of antialcoholic workers, and these congresses are made up of the best physicians and the leading thinkers of each and every country."

This is to certify that I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family for years, and consider it the best liniment on the market. I have found it excellent for horse flesh. (Signed) W. S. FISHER, Woodlands, Middleton, N. S.

Germany's Drink Bill.

Germany has a population of 60,000,000 and a drink bill of $672,588,000, or something over thirty-seven dollars a year for each person over fifteen years of age. Her army and navy expenditure is considered very heavy, but it is over sixty million dollars less than one third of her liquor bill. And yet people wonder sometimes why it is so many live in poverty and want.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c. is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops drops, plugs in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. See a box, blower free. Accept no substitutes. All doctors or druggists. Chase & Co. Limited, Toronto.

Twelve San Franciscos.

Putting the San Francisco loss at two hundred millions, it is only as much as the loss caused by the liquor business in the United States for one month. Stating it another way twelve cities as valuable as the burned area of San Francisco could be built in a year with the money the liquor traffic costs the nation.

Teach Children the Art of Entertaining Conversation.

We teach our children to eat nicely, and walk gracefully, and dress themselves neatly, and all the rest of it but very few take the trouble of teaching them how to talk in a really interesting way, though the art of entertaining conversation is about the most valuable that any man or woman can possess.

If you listen to the ordinary gossip in an average family you will notice that the youngsters very generally use the same set of words again and again. They have half a dozen adjectives which they sprinkle their conversation, and they help out their lack of expression by such tags as "Oh, well, you know what I mean," or "it was a sort of what-do-you-call-it" or "all that kind of thing, you know," and so on.

It is a great pity to allow such slovenly habits of speech to be formed. Even when the accent and grammar are quite good—and teachers at school generally see to that—the speech is often very uninteresting just because of the lack of thoughtless style of expression used.

Don't let your children drop into such ways. Take pains to encourage them to say what they really mean in the most expressive words that can be found. When they tell you what they have seen and done during the day praise the one who tells her little tale most simply and clearly, with all the facts in the right order.

Dreaming Again.

Are you the girl who started the day with the intention of making it so full of good service and cheer, and ended it with a dull sense of failure? Perhaps the most likely cause of dreaming of some one big, glorious service; and while you gazed off in the distance in search of it, you passed by unheeding the little, humble, needful things that would have filled your day with well doing.

Sometimes I think, remarked the timid young man in the earlier scene, that if I—er—had money I would—er—get married. "Well," suggested the dear girl who was occupying the other end of the sofa, why don't you try and—er—borrow some?"

Peep again in your oven. See those loaves, those pleasing loaves you've made. How fat—rounded—substantial. No, they won't fall when colder. Because the Manitoba strength that is in FIVE ROSES will hold them up till eaten. This sturdy elastic gluten has kept them from dropping flat in the oven. No unsightly holes 'twixt crust and crumb—never. All risen evenly—to stay risen. Never heavy—sodden—soggy—indigestible. Yours are the FIVE ROSES loaves—Crinkly and appetizing of crust. Golden brown and tender. Snowy of crumb—light as thistledown. FIVE ROSES helps a lot. Try it soon.

If Britain Were Neutral.

The Italian paper "Secolo" publishes a weighty article answering the question, "What Britain is doing in the war?" The article says that Britain's impetuosity in one sense did her honor. Unlike Germany, which pursued a policy of threatening nobody, while Germany nursed dreams of world domination, the journal goes on to ask whether what Britain has done is not the best guarantee for the triumph of the Allies.

She is mistress of the seas, which is not a mere phrase. It is a fact which all the German submarines and German seaplanes are unable to controvert, and the best proof of the assured success of the British blockade is the rage of the Germans. Britain's mastery of the sea has bottled Germany's fleet up completely and stopped her sea trade. It prevents her protecting her colonies or exporting her merchandise.

To realize the vastness and complexity of this function performed by Britain it is sufficient to consider what would have happened if Britain had remained neutral. Undoubtedly the war would have ended in six months, and all Europe would have been under the heel of the Kaiser. If the British in the past did not realize the gravity of the situation and were too optimistic they have qualities of resistance, tenacity, untiringness and inflexibility which will be the deciding factors in the end.

The "Secolo" ended by saying "Let us do justice to what Britain has done. Liberating the world from the Germans is the most noble success so far obtained by the Allies, deprivng the enemy of its does of territories which will be of the greatest weight when peace is discussed. Britain has done all that is possible with the forces at her disposal. She has given millions to the needs of her Allies, and has lifted up the spiritual deal of this war, being the first to raise the cry for peace, as against militarism and the principle of nationality as against imperialism."

An Apple 'Stunt'.

When you wish to mystify and amuse one of your friends, try the trick of cutting an apple into quarters without apparently baking the skin. It is so old a trick that it will probably be quite new to many of the people you know.

Select a large, red apple. Thread a long slender darning needle with about a yard of strong white linen thread, and beginning near the stem of the apple, take a shallow stitch, an inch or so in length toward the blow end.

Draw about two thirds of the thread through, and be careful to make the break in the skin as small as possible, and when you take the second stitch, set the needle exactly in the place out of which it came. Sew entirely around the apple to which you started.

Now, hold the apple firmly between your knees, and crossing the ends of your thread, take one in each hand and give a strong, steady pull. The thread will cut its way through the fruit and come free in your hand. Repeat the process, beginning again at the stem, but going at right angles to the first cut. When your friend peels the fruit, she will find it neatly quartered. The small punctures that your needle makes will pass unnoticed, unless the apple is very closely examined.

OLDER BUT STRONGER

To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. At any drug store, Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.

Soldier's Swagger Cane.

It is one of the regulations of the British Army that every soldier when walking out must carry in his hand a stick, in order to preserve a soldierly appearance and prevent anything like slouching in his gait. The rule applies to all ranks, and should any one seek to evade it he would find his progress barred by the sentry at the barrack gate or entrance to camp. Privates generally carry light canes or "swagger sticks," non-commissioned officers fairly stout sticks, and officers invariably go in for the more expensive kind. It is a question that has often been asked—Who first suggested the idea? But nobody seems to know. From the earliest times drill sergeants and drum majors have carried sticks, and the fashion may have come from the fact. Soldiers as a rule buy their own sticks, but in one or two regiments a recruit is presented with one when he gets his uniform. There is a story told of a soldier one day who couldn't find his cane and knew he would be challenged if he didn't have something in his hand quietly picked up a poker, and passed through the gate all right with it in his fist.
