The Happiness of Poor Folks.

After a day of labor and fatigue the surety of work for the ensuing week is happiness to poor folks. For them there are no costly pleasures, no play-going, no dinking in taverns, no pleasant excursions. But for the heart, the soul, there are are truer, sweeter, and inexpensive enjoyments. To embrace your wife, to support the steps of your feeble father or mother, to dance your infant on your knee; these are the pleasures of poor people.

The capitation is disturbed by the variations of exchange; the ship owners fear the tempest; the man of business makes hazardous speculations; the merchant who has not effected a sale is frightened at the approaching pay-day, another trembles for his debts; the clerk dreads a reduction in his salary; the house owner from burnings; the rich man thieves. To be ignorant of all these troubles is the happiness of poor people.

The good liver is often sick from intemperance; the Englishman pinned to his chair, swears at the gout which he has gained by diet of roast; the young coxcomb has head ache for having drunk a half a glass of champagne; that great sinner is under regime, the result of a great dinner. Labor and sobriety preserve health and gaiety along with it. This is the happiness of poor folks.

If at times ambitious desires glide into their souls, they depart in haste, as indolence enters not along with them. Custom makes labor a pleasure. Contentment with little makes them despise the good which they have not. They blush for having a moment envied the rich man his riches, and return to their families lifting up a song.

Mechanic's Wives.

Speaking of the middle ranks of life, the solid and best position of society, a modern writer makes the following excellent remarks:—"There we behold woman in all her glory; not a doll to carry silks and jewels; not a puppet to be flattered by profane adoration reverenced to day, discarded to morrow; always jostled out of the place which nature and society would assign her, by sensuality or contempt; admired but not respected; desired but not esteemed; ruling by passions, not affection; imparting her weaknesses, not her constancy, to the sex she would exalt; the source and mirror of vanity; we see her a wife, partaking the cares and cheering the anxiety of a husband, dividing his toil by her domestic dilligence, spreading cheerfulness around him for his sake, sharing the decent refinements of the world without being vain of them, placing all her joys and happiness in the man she loves. As a mother we find her the affectionate, the ardent instructress of the children whom she has tended from their infancy, training them up to thought and virtue, to piety and benevolence; addressing them as rational beings, and preparing them to become men and women in their turn. Such mother's daughters make the best wives in the world.

THE GOOD QUEEN.—Queen Victoria had he children of the workmen on the Osborn estate assembled on Christmas, where a Christmas tree loaded with presents, was arranged. Assisted by members of the Royal family, the Queen spent the afternoon in distributing the presents to the children, consisting of wearing apparel, books, toys, &c. Afterwards she gave great coats, blankets, &c., to the laboring men and women. A few days before, the Queen dispensed liberally to the blind and paralytic in and around London. The English people are accustomed to the bestowment of charity during the Christmas holidays, and their amiable Queen is giving strength and beauty to the fashion by her bright example. Her sad heart finds comfort in the relief of sorrow and poverty.—[N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

NEGLECT OF CATTLE IN WINTER.—The Maine Board of Agriculture forcebly remarks on the above subject:—A good sized one year-old, in usual flesh at the commencement of winter, will weigh about 600 pounds, a four or five year-old ox, 1,500 pounds. It is not so uncommon as it ought to be for them to fall off during the winter, from one fourth to one-third in weight, for want of proper food and shelter. The result is the owner has lost on the year old 200 pounds, and on the ox 500 pounds of beef during the winter, which is worth in the one case $8, and in the other $20. The animals have really consumed one-third of themselves to carry them through the winter. Often our neat cattle are fed in the winter on beef and tallow, sheep on mutton, hogs on pork and lard, horses on horse-flesh—all expensive articles of food, compared with hay, grain, and the various root crops.

When the Channel fleet was lying in the Mersey, young Lord Beresford, one of the "middies" of the Defence, gallantly jumped overboard one day and rescued a gentleman who had fallen into the river while visiting the fleet. We notice that the same young nobleman has just saved another life at Plymouth under similar circumstances.

MIXED UP.—The New York Commercial Advertiser thus epitomizes our municipal contest:—"The election in Toronto has resulted in a rout of the Bower faction. Mad cough has been re-elected Mayor."—Leader.

CURIOSITIES OF THE CENSUS.—Among the reported occupations of the people of Massachusetts, as given in the late census are the following:—Anything that pays, two; excavating dung on rock, two; female physicians, three; ax; black of all trades, five; hosiers, six; misers, two; poets, one; practical Christian, one; retired mechanic, one; restorationer, one; ruler, one; scholar, one; nothing, a very large number; wild men of Borneo, two.

☞ The Richest Individual in England is the Marquis of Westminster, whose daily income is estimated at $5,000. The Rothschilds, four of them, are the richest house in Europe, and their income is estimated at about nine millions a year, or a thousand dollars an hour.

☞ The Montreal Transcript says that Justice Smith rendered judgement in the case of Redpath against the American consul-general, Joshua T. Giddings, on Thursday last. The judgement was given at great length, and went to sustain the capias, and, as a consequence, hold the bail—Mr. Harrison Stephens, and Mr. Ira Gould—good for the appearance of the defendent, and the damages, should such be given. The affidavits placed on the record by defendant's counsel were ordered to be struck off as irrelevant and calumnious. An appeal was taken by Mr. Giddings's counsel.

☞ A crime similar to that committed by the notorous Palmer is the subject of judicial investigation in Paris. A physician insured the life of his wife for 500,000f. (£20,000) and shortly after the payment of the first premium the young woman died. The suddenness of the death and large amount for which the life was insured created suspition in the minds of the directors of the insurance company, and they determined to make the case to the highest law authority. An investigation was commenced under the direction of the Imperial Attorney General, in consequence of which the physician was arrested and committed to the prison of Mazas.

☞ The Detroit Free Press:—The river St. Clair is now frozen so solid that teams can with perfect safty cross over to Windsor on the ice. Several enterprising individuals have taken advantage of this means of transit and established "sleigh ferries," which cross and re-cross at convenient intervals for the travelling public. Another individual has erected a half-way house on the boundary line from which he dispenses tangle-leg and "total disability" to those who favor him with a call. This is a novel mode of eluding the license laws and one which has not for many years been used the time. A large number of passengers evidently ladies, portunity of crossing in sleighs or a bag, walked the fare is low, only five quite a convenience.

POWER'S PATENT, AUG. 3, 1863.
THE VICTORIA
WASHING MACHINE!
Obtained the FIRST PRIZE at the Provincial Exhibition in London in 1861.
THIS
LABOUR-SAVING MACHINE
WAS tested by the Bureau of Agriculture, and declared to be the best yet brought under their notice. It is simple in its construction easily worked, and not subject to get out of repair.
The cleansing process is effected by the rapid action of the water in the Machine, and not by pressure or rubbing, thereby avoiding the slightest injury to the finest fabrics, with a much less quantity of soap than under the hand-washing system. Persons who have used them are satisfied that the machine is capable of doing as much work in two hours as can be accomplished in a day by the ordinary process, thus
Saving 4-5 of the time and Labour
And two-thirds of the Soap generally used.
The undermentioned persons purchased Machines, and having given them a full trial express their entire satisfaction:
J. J. Wright, Huron Hotel; Isaac Frederick, Jeweller; W. I. Cox, Signal Office; Alex. Nasmyth; Hr. Horton, Esq.; Peter Nolan; D. Cameron, Collector of Customs; Dr. Melvin; Peter Gilbert; E. Runciman, Esq.; Rev. Chas. Fletcher. Many other names might be added, if necessary.
CASH PRICE ONLY $8.50.
The Subscriber having purchased the Patent Rights for the County of Huron, is now prepared to supply the machine of which he solicits a trial, feeling assured that all who test it will be pleased with the rapidity and ease with which an otherwise tedious and laborious wash is performed.—Ladies will confer a favor by allowing the machine to be tested at their residence, to which it will be conveyed by the proprietor, and removed again should it not be purchased. All the subscriber desires is that the merits of the Machine should be thoroughly tested. Parties wishing to try it will communicate with the proprietor.
