Sturdy Case. A Warning to Evil Doers—A Fitting Rebuke to the Tory Organs of the County.

THE LIBERALS HANDICAPPED With blackmail, perjury, gerrymandering, and manipulation of assessment rolls against them the Libraryman rolls against them, the Liberals were heavily handicapped in the last Domiouion election. But time and justice are on their side.—[London Advertiser.

A Mr. Sturdy of Goderich got the le-nient sentence of three days imprisonment with a small fine for perjury in taking the oath that he was entitled to vote at the late election. Light as the penalty is, it may be a warning to persons inclined to undervalue their oath. He voted the Tory ticket.—[Waterloo

The conviction of an election of Huron for perjury and unlawful voting, and perjury will, perhaps serve as an and perjury will, perhaps serve as an example to other over-zealous electors. The sentence was a fine of a hundred dollars and three days' imprisonment. The offence is not by any mean a com-mon one, but it is known that it is now and then committed, instances having and then committed, instances having been cited in connection with elections in our own city. The Huron voter has doubtless by this time realized that it was hardly worth while to violate the law in order to get in an additional vote for his party.—[Toronto Telegram.

ANYTHING TO BRAT CAMERON.

"Beat Cameron by hook or by crock" was his opponents' watchword in West Huron, and the action of Mr. J. L. Sturdy, in perjuring himself to get in a vote, was only one of the many flagrant acts of wrong-doing practised in order to defeat the Reform candidate. When the devices adopted for that end are taken into consideration, it becomes evident that Mr. Cameron was contending against tremendous odds, and made a remarkably good fight. It is hoped that the lesson taught Sturdy will have a salutary effect on a good many others, no matter to which side they belong, who might, on a future occasion, be tempted to vote, when they have no legal right to do so.—[New Era.

A PATRIOTIC CONSERVITIVE.

J. L. Sturdy is his name and he lives in Wingham. He is a patriotic Conservative and he believes in the principle of voting early and often, but he got of voting early and often, but he got caught at it up in Huron, and he don't believe in it any more. He was tried at the Goderich assizes for perjury and unlawful voting, and was fined $100 and sent to gaol for three days, and he has to thank the man he perjured himself to vote against for getting off with a punishment so light for 'his offence. We know several for 'his offence. We know several cases just like Sturdy's which occurred in Dundas at last election, and it is a pity that the men who perjured themselves here were not punished for their offence. The law sn such cases should be strictly enforced.—[Dundas Banner.

A SHARP REMINDER.

A Wingham hotel-keeper named Stur dy, has been convicted of perjury at the Dominion elections and sentenced to boast of one of the handsomest banks we take the bride who keeps even one pin Dominion elections and sentenced to three days's mprisonment and a fine of $100. Another person in South Norfolk has had the penalty for election bribery imposed upon him by the courts. The Wingham man is a Conservative and the Norfolk one is a Reformer, so that we cannot be accused of being biased by party leanings when we express our gratification at seeing signs of a determination to enforce the penalties for infractions of the election law. It is only by making examples of those who wilfully violate the law that a stop can be put to the prevalent practices of false swearing, personation, and bribery, that are so common at our elections. Mensrs Cameron & Campbell was and the province, and the proincetors, Messrs. Cameron & Campbell, are to be congratulated on the enterprise and taste exhibited in the matter. The building is a substantial brick one, two and a half storeys high, and is finished throughout in the mest modern fashion. The interior is finished in dark and light woods and presents an attractive and cheerful appearance. Inside the vaultwhich is large and substantial, personation, and bribery, that are so common at our elections. Men who in other matters would shrink with horror from the commission of crime, appear to excellent manner in which they have from the commission of crime, appear to have no scruples about breaking the law finished their contract.—[Sentinel. themselves or inducing others to do so, when it is done for the benefit of a candidate or a party during an election contest. A few sharp reminders that crime has its penalttes, election crimes as well as other kinds, and the evil will be wip-

FIRE. -At aabout 11 o'clock Thursday night, the Record printing office was discovered to be on fire and the sounding of the fire alarm quickly brought out a growd who soon had the engine on the square, but for some reason it could not e got to work. Entrance being gained to the premises by the front windows the application of a few pails of water soon extinguished the fire, but not before it had done considerable damage. How the fire originated is not known, but it the fire originated is not known, but it is supposed that a lamp had been left burning which exploded, the oil taking fire. A number of cases of type were completely destroyed, the metal melting and ranning on the floor, the racks or frames on which the cases stand, being also burned.
