The Popularity of Whitewashing

His Excellency Sir Ralph Williams is picnicking at Halifax. His Prime Minister is picnicking in Burgeo District. His Attorney General is pic nicking somewhere north.

It will be seen that the three prin cipals in the recent white-washing farce are taking a time off from their usual labours.

His Excellency arrived at Halifax or H. M. S. Sirius yesterday, and in due course he will learn that the Chronicle on Saturday gave him a surprising certificate of popularity which will go far in the direction of stinging him again. Sir Ralph, according to our centemporary, is in reality popular, and the proof of it is that the people were not hostile at the Regatta. How staggered the Governor will be has definitely decided on the course i when he gets his certificate of popularity. He is popular because the the people respected the high office he the British protest at the Foreign holds more than he respected it him- Office. However, it is said, no decisself in whitewashing Morison. However, His Excellency is now in Halifax, and it is to be hoped he will learn semething about responsible government there, and make no such bad breaks again as he did in holding a conference with Premier Gouin on the Labrador Boundary dispute.

The Premier's visit to the District of Burgeo is described as official. In the Government press the word is most elastic in meaning. We remember that the Governor's visit to Canada some little time ago, before he took his salmon and yachting picnic was described as official, and if we remember aright, his trip on the Fiona was also official. Small wonder then, with a word covering such a multitude of meanings, if the public interpret the Premier's official visit to Burgeo District as mainly political, while they laugh to scorn the suggestion that the Governor is popular. The Chronicle might as well claim that the writing of the Orange Bay letter has made Morison popular, as claim that the Governor is popular after whitewashing the writer of it.

Bullets Thrown In Stove

Causes Explosion- Lives in Danger. A party of a dozen boys who are spending the summer season under canvas in the neighbourhood of Kenny's Pond, and are enjoying camp life to their hearts delight, had a miraculous escape from serious if no fatal injury on Saturday night. About o'clock just before retiring a fire was lit in an oil stove outside one of the tents by two of the campers. Suddenly there came along a gang of fellows, who appeared to be semi-intoxicated. During the course of a brief conversation, the visitors, for reasons best known to themselves, lifted the damper of the stove and threw in a handful of 32 calibre bullets. A terrible explosion followed while the miscreants fled. he lives of the boys some of whom were asleep in the tents at the time, were in jopardy and how they escaped without injury is miscreants fled. The lives of the boys. articles contained therein were blown to atoms. The names of the perpetrators have been secured and they will be made answer to the magistrate for their conduct.
