The North West Committee.

In the North west Committee on Monday, Mr. Fntvoye, Deputy Minister of Militia, was examined. It is understood that he deposed to the effect that on the 19th May, 1870, Sir George Cartier, then acting in Sir John A. Macdonald's absence as First Minister, said to the Rev. Mr. Richot, in the presence of witnesses, "I will guarantee everything you demand."

Afterwards, on several occasions, Sir George told witness he had promised to obtain a general amnesty. He said the murder of Scott was a difficulty, but would be got over ultimately. Witness, under Cartier's instructions, drew up a very long and confidential memorandum for Lord Lisgar, of which the notes are still in witness' possession.

Governor Archibald's evidence was completed. He deposed that his first instructions to secure a seat for Sir Geo. Cartier in Manitoba, in 1872, came from Sir John A. Macdonald, who at the same time cautioned him not to let it appear that the "late Provincial Governor" had retired in Cartier's favor. The witness adopting the role of an electioneering agent, at once went to work, with what result all the world knows.
