quarter. Queen's Avenue Auxiliary during the quarter had experienced a growth in method, business and enthusiasm. Eighten members had been added, making the total membership 114, while the average attendance had been 37. An earnest desire was growing to raise money by direct giving, and avoid all appearance of appealing to the world.

Wellington Street Auxiliary showed receipts of $26 19 with a membership increasing slowly, but surely. The prospects for the future were bright.

London South Auxiliary reported a good quarter, with well attended and enthusiastic meetings. The sum of $20 had been raised by the energy of the ladies.

Arva Auxiliary had collected $9 and had sixteen members. This branch possessed a vigorous life and was making rapid strides. The auxiliaries of London West, Grove, ambeth and Thorndale were not repre-

Lambeth and Thorndale were not represented by reports.

Queen's Avenue Mission had had a prosperous year, several having signed the roll of membership, upon which there were 70 names. The mission expected to raise the necessary funds.

Dundas Street Center Mission received four new members during the quarter, which had been a satisfactory one. A physical culture class had been formed, which already had 30 members.

London South Mission had 63 members on the roll, 54 of whom had paid the necessary fees. A balance of $20 was left for the treasurer, and the success of the branch had recorded expectations.

Mrs. McMechan, with a few explanatory words, introduced the following resolution:
That we respectfully urge upon the General Board W. M. S. the serious consideration of the establishment of an organ for the W. M. S. in which the claims of the society, its objects and aims, the internal working of auxiliaries and mission bands together with news from the various fields both of our own and other churches may be presented and all schemes pertaining to the successful conduct of our growing society and the elevation of women both in heathen lands and at home may be freely discussed.

The sneaker calculated that with a cir-both in heathen lands and at home may be freely discussed.

The speaker calculated that with a circulation of 5,000 copies the publication would be able to pay all expenses.

On motion the resolution was carried and a committee appointed to report on the matter at the June quarterly meeting.

Mrs. (Rev.) Ballantyne, as president of the W. M. S. in connection with Knox Presbyterian Church, conveyed the best wishes of that society to those present in a thoughtful address. She gave some details of the workings of the Presbyterian sister society, which last year raised over $31,000 Mrs. Evans concluded with an apt recital, bearing upon the efficacy of liberal contribution to religious work.
