ice reserved expressly for their use. The cold was so intense in England during the week ending December 12 that several steep echase and hurdle-race meetings had to be postponed. At Malton, in Yorkshire, several trainers and riders indulged in a well-contested curling match. The floating ice in the upper Thames on December 11 was so bad that the race between the Oxford trial eighths, from which to select a crew to begin practis-ing for the next University race, had to be postponed.

Ing for the next oniversity face, had to be postponed. Last night articles of agreement were signed for a fifteen-round sparring contest for the receipts of the house between Harry Gil-more and George Fulljames' unknown, to be decided on Feb. 1. The "unknown" is a young Englishman aged about 30, called Jack Lead, standing 55f. 6in, and weighing in condition about 130 lbs. He is a hard-looking customer and has the appearance of being able to take a world of beating. On Saturday night Mark Checkley meets one of Harry's pupils in a six-round contest at Gil-more's boxing academy, King street west.
