Samuel and Mrs. Maria Bonart, who pre-deceased him over twenty years ago, and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. George Howie of St. John, and three sons, Samuel, Anne, near Montreal, Que., Leslie, of London, Ont., and Harold of Bear River, with whom he resided. Another son, Victor, was mishalphen on H. M. S. "Good Hope" when she was sunk in Southern waters in the early days of the war. The remains were brought to Granville on Friday and interred in the cemetery at Stoney Beach.

EVAPORATOR NOW BUSY

Apples Coming in From Far And Near—Sketch of Operations—Improvements Made at M. W. Graves and Co's. Plant.

Work for the season opened up briskly on Thursday last at M. W. Graves and Co's. Evaporator and all the piling machines are in Commission. The Monitor man made a short visit there a few days ago and will endeavor to give a brief resume of the work.

At both sides of a long table which runs the length of the room are found the full complement of busy workers. On one side are the piling machines, each of which keeps one person busy feeding. Speed is regulated to the deftness and quickness of the operator. The machines peel and core the apples which pass through to the other side of the table where the small amount of skin left on either end is trimmed off. They then go on to an endless chain conveyor and are carried up to the second floor where they are bleached to prevent any discoloration and pass over the knives of the slicing machine and drop into barrels placed to receive them. They are taken to drying rooms with slat floors through which heat comes from furnaces below. Here they are thoroughly dried or evaporated, the period of time required being from 18 to 30 hours according to atmospheric conditions, etc. They are then packed into boxes ready for shipment.

The plant has a capacity of 300 barrels per day.

Apples are now being received from all over the country, considerable quantities coming from New Germany and places adjacent through Lunenburg county. Recently the railing siding put into their property by M. W. Graves and Company has been extended so that three cars can be loaded at one time from the plant. While practical side has been full taken care of the matter of beautifying the premises has not been overlooked and this season a large plot has been seeded and around its borders is a fine variety of beautiful flowering plants now in full bloom. During the past year or so additional new buildings have added greatly to the appearance of the plant and testify to the enterprising and progressive policy of the management.

AGAIN AFTER AUTO SPEEDERS

Problem Still Annoying Town-Fathers—Queen Street Repairs Again to The Fore—Improvements For Railway Crossing.

The Town Council held its regular monthly session on Friday night and approved a number of miscellaneous bills O. K'd.

A short time ago Councillor Harry T. McKenzie took up with Mr. M. K. McQuarrie, D. A. R. Engineer at Kentville the question of having improvement made on the railway crossing here. Experiments by means of extra rails had some time ago been carried out at Kentville and Coldbrook. It is understood, successfully, Mr. McQuarrie informed Mr. McKenzie with letter that rails would be sent to be used here. The contents of the letter were received with approval by the Council.

The question of repairs to Queen Street came up once more and was referred to the Street Committee. Temporary repair work was begun on Tuesday.

Fast auto driving within the town limits again came up, particular complaint being made of furious driving on East Granville Street. The chief was instructed to use his best endeavors to put a stop to speeding.

AN OLD FRIEND IN THE HOME.

The following letter from Roxbury, Mass., is typical of many which we receive and speaks for itself:

I was then living in Port Lorne. Wishing you great success in the future. I remain

Yours truly,

Note.—Mr. Miller has been established in business in the U. S. for 24 years and has associated with him his son, Mr. W. E. Miller and his many friends in this county who are pleased to note that the recollection of past friendship is pleasing to him.—(Ed. Monitor.)

LOCAL MEN DROWNED

Edward Sabean and Earle Goldsmith Lose Lives by Overturning of Canoe in Medway River.

Earle Goldsmith and Edward Sabean were drowned on Wednesday night by the overturning of a canoe in the Medway River.

The scene of the accident was about ten miles from Kent and somewhat nearer DeLong settlement and about 55 miles from here. Word was brought by Vernon Greeno, who with the victims was employed by the McLeod Pulp and Paper Co., of which F. J. D. Barnum is the leading spirit.

Greeno drove through from the scene with Otto Schierbeck, Barnum's chief surveyor. It appears that four men, Arnold Smith, of Fredericton, Edgar Bent, of Young's Cove, Earle Goldsmith, of Halifax, but formerly of Bridgetown, Edward Sabean, of this town, after completing the days work were going down the Port Medway River in a canoe to camp.

The stream is varied by swift runs and still-waters. Passing through one of the latter they came into swift water and Smith advised Goldsmith who was steering to get the canoe ashore. The latter thought it impossible at the rate the craft was travelling. The party shot the rapid successfully but just after entering a stillwater the canoe capsized. All were believed to be swimmers. Smith struck out for shore and looking over his shoulder saw Sabean also swimming strong but no sign of Goldsmith. Bent was clinging to the canoe. A few moments later Smith noticed that Sabean had changed his course and was heading for a point a short distance down and was apparently getting along alright. When he reached shore Sabean had disappeared. Alarm was at once given and constant search made for the bodies which were recovered Saturday morning. Great distance from telephone or telegraphic communication prevented news reaching here till late last Thursday.

Goldsmith was an overseas man and was severely gassed while in active service. He was a former resident here but his father Henry Goldsmith, now resides in Middleton. Mrs. Guy Tufts of Annapolis is an aunt and he resided with her while in Annapolis. He was a nephew of Mr. James Goldsmith, formerly Chief of Police of this town.

Edward Sabean was also an overseas man, was a brother of H. R. Sabean, engineer at the Bridgetown Electric Light, Heat and Power Co. plant. Much sympathy is expressed for the relatives of the deceased.
