Parties in England will bear in mind that Timber sold in the raft, subjects the purchaser to great expense in dressing, butting, and at times heavy loss from Culls—if sold in shipping order, the expense of shipping only is to be added.

PEMARKS.

In issuing our Annual Circular, last December, we stated our fears that further modifications would be made by Sir Robert Peel in the tariff, and these have, we regret to say, been realized, and must ultimately affect Red Pine and Deals, especially Sprace, when these come into full effect in 1848.

However able the Colonial producer may be to compete with the Foreigners in the Home Markets, it must be evident to all that if the latter can send his timber to England at a freight of 17s. 6d. per load, and by a short voyage, and while the former employing solely British shipping, has to pay 38s. 9d. per load and can only make two outward voyages in the year, that to meet on equal terms, the protection should be 21s. 3d. and not 14s., which it will be in 1848, when the foreigner will pay 15s. and the Colonist 3s. per load duty.
