GRIP'S GALLERY OF NOTABLES.

DR. LANDERKIN, M.P.

THIS medical gentleman is a practitioner of the Grit school, and is much in demand for consultations at by-elections. A large part of his distinction as a member of Parliament arises from the fact that he has safely passed the ordeal of an election trial. The man who can do that now-a-days without being disqualified, or at least unseated, is entitled to special notice. He also shines in the House as the humorist of the Opposition, though there is reason to believe his alleged witticisms are not regarded as in the least funny by the Ministerialists. His forte, in this line, is what might be called interpolation. He injects something nasty into the midst of an opponent's speech. For example, when Sir John Thompson was explaining that it was the intention of the Government to have the Caron charges investigated by a royal commission, Landerkin interrupted with, "Judge Elliott?" It is only natural that a man who does that sort of thing should be looked upon as a boor by persons of culture. On the other hand, it is equally natural that he should be considered a great wag by his friends and enjoy the utmost popularity among them.
