THE LATE-LIEUT. COLONEL

Lieut, Col. Arthur Kennedy of the 10th Hussars, was the third son of the late John Kennedy, Esq., of Culting County Down. Arthur Kennedy entered the British Army as an Ensign in the 24th Foot, in 1803, and rose through the various grades to that of Lieutenant Colonel in 1837. He served with much colat during the Peninsular War. He was in Portugal in 1808, and in Spain in the advance and retreat of Sir John Moore, which terminated so gloriously at Corunna, January 16th 1809. He was in the Campaign of 1813 '14 under the Duke of Wellington, which included the passage of the Esia and the Douro, the battle of Moreles, the battle of Vittoria, the siege of l'ampeluna, the battle of the Pyrences, and all those other famous engagements of which the victorious entrance into France was the result. In 1815 Mr. Kennedy shared in the glorious campaign of that memorable year, and was with the Duke of Wellington's forces on their entry into Paris.

Lieut. Colonel Kennedy died at Hallybronk, Randalstown, County Antrim, on the 15th September last, aged Seventy-four

Mr. Kennedy was uncle to the Rev. . Kennedy, Missionary at Mersea, C. W.

ATTEMPT TO BUNEN THE PORT SARNIA On the 8rd instant to burn the Gaol and Shirtings, Striped Shirtings, Real White Flan-Court House at Port Sarnia. The framing Silk Pocket and Nock Handkershiefs with a of one of the back windows and a large quantity of the wood-work of the ceiling of the passage into which it opened was destroyed, and for some time it was feared to be impossible to save the gaol. Had the fire extended, the prisoners in being conveyed out would have had to pass through this passage at great risk. It is supposed that the attempt was made by the friends of a man named Watson, now under sentence for horse stealing, who probably thought to rescue him during the confusion.

The London Times has a noticeable article, touching the American expansion, and says; The English Government is omitting no opportunity of roinforcing the West India Squadron, and thus interposing a powerful barrier between Britain and the North American Continent. At this moment North America in her ports is fitting out pira-tical filibustering expeditions, destined to carry war and bloodshed into the dominions of unoffending neighbors. We cannot believe that those who are engaged in enrolling men in these desperate and criminal enterprises fully contemplate the success of a descent on Ireland, for instance—as probable or even possible. If we can prevent, the expodition from sailing mid ocean, we shall have done much towards averting the damages which would arise, should they be carried out, towards their development.

The Churchman's Friend, FOR THE DIFFUSION OF INFORMATION

BELATIVE TO THE United Church of England and Ireland Her Doctrines and Her Ordinances.

Edited by Clergymen.] [Published Mourbly PARIS, 1st OCTOBER, 1655. PROSPECTUS

The Churchyan's Friend is intended to supply a want, which, we believe, every Canadian Clergyman must have often and painfully experienced. We cannot perhaps be surprised that in a land where the number of the mir sters of the Church is so disproportionate to the population and extent of the country, there should be a laand extent of the country, there should be a lamentable degree of iguorance respecting the history of the Chorch, Her doctrines, and Her ordinances. Yet it is plainly impossible to bring there subjects prominently forward from the pulpit; there we must needs speak on more glorious themes, and preach the glad tidines of our common redemption. The Churchman's Friend has been projected to meet this difficulty: it is in-ended literally to fusit the promise made in the title; namely, to convey information, relative to the subjects indicated.

tive to the subjects indicated.

The Theology which we wish to impart is aptly and housefly expressed in the first motto which we placed at the head of our publication, Quod semper, quod ubique, quod ab omnibus, creditum est, teneamus, "Let us hold fast that, which slunys, which every where, which by all has been believed," for that only is the faith of the Catholic Church. While the temper and spirit in which we desire to convey these ruths, is with equal simplicity and correctnes indicated by our second morto, In necessariis Unitus, in dubiis liberatas, in omnibus cartas

"In necessary things unicy, in doubtful things liberty, in all things charity."

With this object in view, we purpose to usue, for the present, one number mouthly, commencing on the let October; but we hope considerably to enlarge, or to publish more frequently, as soon as we receive the requisite amount of the present a large properties. of encouragement. A large proportion of each number will be filled with original matter in the form of short tracts, dialogues, and takes; witch, with anecdotes, scraps of information and other selections, all strictly tending to illustrate the principles we wish to advocate, will make up the contents. While we hope to offer that the ufficiently interesting as to make it not without value even to the more highly educated, it will be our endeavour to clothe it in such plain and be our entisayour to clothe it in such plain and simple languinge, as to render our little publication a welcome visitor in the farm house and the cottage, and a source of pleasure, as well as prifit to both young and old. For the young especially, some portion of our space will always be set apart; and we venture to suggest to clergymen and superintendents of Sunday Schools, the advantage of encouraging their elderly scholars to avail the mselves of the reduced terms offered to those who subscribe for a number of copies.—
They vill thus be furnishing the young persons They will thus be furnishing the young persons committed to their charge with a supply of read-

We beg particluarly to call attention to our

ALTHOUGH these works are distinguisted by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journats of their class. Blackwood, still under the fatherly care of Christopher North, vanistains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the setial works of Bulwer and attractive, from the setial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel," (both by Belwer, "The Green Hand" "Katie Stewiri," and other serials, of which numerous rival aditions are issued by the leading publishers of the country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Missers. Scott, & Co., so that Subscribers to the reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these ways rely on having the earliest reading of these ascinating tales.
