

The first of these vessels should be ready for use by next year. This means that we are in a position to solve the problem of transporting timber on lake Baikal much more quickly than was foreseen. The decision now rests with the loggers.

Lesnaya promyshlennost

25 August 1988

Page 2 (Full text)