

June 27, 1929

My dear Miss Lichtenstein:-

I cannot let you leave the University without expressing on behalf of all your colleagues and of myself our heartfelt appreciation of the services you have rendered to Music and to McGill.

You have been a friend as well as a teacher to the students who have come under your instruction, and scores of others who have known you as a friend only will always think and speak of you with affection. This alone would be a rich reward for any teacher, and you have another reward,- the satisfaction in work well done and the joy of knowing that you have brought many to an understanding of the art you love.

With sincere wishes for your happiness in the future, I am,

Yours faithfully,

Miss Clara Lichtenstein,
McGill University.

Principal.