Farmer's Calendar.—Things a farmer should not do! A farmer should never undertake to cultivate more land than he can do thoroughly; half tilled land is growing poorer; well tilled land is constantly improving. A farmer should never keep more cattle, horses, sheep or hogs, than he can keep in order; an animal in high order the first of December, is already half wintered. A farmer should never refuse a fair price for any thing he wishes to sell. A farmer should never allow his wood house to be emptied of wood during the summer months; if he does, when winter comes, in addition to cold fingers, he must expect to encounter the chilling looks of his wife, and perhaps be compelled, in a series of lectures,
