Birds Without Wings.

Large sums are paid for the eggs of the apyrornis or moa, a gigantic wingless bird of from twelve to fourteen feet in height, which as long ago as 200 years was already dying out in Madagascar. In appearance the bird much resembles the ostrich, and its egg was one foot in length. The first specimen was brought to Europe (Paris) by a French merchant in 1851, and caused quite a sensation from the amount of interest it attracted.

WORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

Toronto Junction, March 23.—At the police court this morning Wm. J. Brown, proprietor of the Weston-road Hotel, was fined $50 and costs for selling liquor without a license. He pleaded guilty. The man Blake who was summoned for selling bags of potatoes under 50 lbs. was fined $2 and costs, and was given one hour to pay the fine or go to jail for 15 days. He paid. The magistrate told Blake that if he ever came before him again on this charge he would not give him the option of a fine.

There are some complaints being made as to the way building permits are being secured. In some cases the plan of the building was roughly sketched on old brown paper, and then, in some cases the building was not in accordance with the plans. The opinion amongst town authorities is that a blue print should be filed with the town clerk.

Application was made to the mayor this morning for assistance in the removal of a family who were recently found on the verge of destitution, to more comfortable quarters. It appears that certain local carters refused to do the work without anything more substantial than the woman's promise to pay. The town's team did the work to-day.

The True Blues held a social gathering in Thomson Hall to-night, which was well attended. The funds were in aid of the Pictou Orphanage.

C. F. Wright has purchased No. 59 Uxbridge-avenue for $1300.

The death of Mrs. McMillan, mother of Miss Via McMillan, former directress of the College of Music, is reported from Guelph. A sister of Miss McMillan died last summer.

Wm. Hindes of Dundas-street is critically ill.

Robert Black has purchased Wm. Hindes' Maple Cottage on Dundas-street west for $1425.

The Sons of Scotland, Lord Aberdeen Camp, held a concert and dance in St. James' Hall to-night.

The first collection in the schools for the Penny Savings Bank was made to-day, and in the neighborhood of $300 was collected. The success of the first collection passes all expectation.

The Late Mrs. Carberry.

The many friends of Rev. Father Carberry of Schomberg will regret to hear of the death of his mother in this city on Thursday. Mrs. Carberry was a resident of Toronto for over 58 years, having spent her childhood in County Limerick, Ireland. Her husband died 28 years ago. The funeral services were held in St. Michael's Cathedral yesterday morning.

An Interesting Case for Farmers.

In the case of John Martin against Robert Cowan before Justice Magee, the jury brought in certain findings which resulted in the plaintiff's action being dismissed with costs. Both plaintiff and defendant come from the Township of Scarborough, where they are both well known and the action was of considerable interest to the farmers of Scarborough, the court room being crowded. The plaintiff, Mr. Martin, was in charge of a cutting box and the defendant, Mr. Cowan, was in charge of an engine which operated the cutting machine. The plaintiff lost two fingers in the machine and claiming that the defendant started the machine in operation without any warnings, sued for $2000 damages for the loss of two fingers. The defendant contended that the accident arose thru the plaintiff's own carelessness. Considerable evidence was given to the custom in regard to giving warning. On the findings of the jury, Justice Magee dismissed the action with costs. Herbert Lennox, M.L.A., appeared for plaintiff and Mr. Mullock for defendant. This case is of further interest in view of the fact that there is now before the legislature a bill respecting stationary engines.

Balm Beach.

The formal opening of the new clubhouse last night was in every respect a most enjoyable event. Fully 150 were present. In the absence of W. A. Lyon, president, who is in British Columbia, the chair was taken by W. J. Brandham, vice-president. Among those contributing to the pleasure of the evening were Mr. Landell, W. F. Archibald, Harvey Lloyd, F. M. Baker, Mr. Hardy, Mr. Riley, R. J. Winsor, Barker and Miss Mayflower Smith in song and musical selections. Miss Kay contributed a recitation and Miss Landell a piano solo. On behalf of the town council, John McP. Ross welcomed those present. Dancing was kept up until an early hour. The floor was in charge of Jas. McIvor, while refreshments were looked after by T. P. Hodgson. The assembly-room was beautifully decorated.

CARTOONS TELL THE STORY.

"I judge no one's money is safe in any insurance company," said Magistrate Denison, when George R. Burt of the Liszt Piano Company said he had a policy in the Toronto Life, "but I gather that from the newspapers, not that I read the insurance articles, but from looking at the cartoons."

Says Lawson in Romancing.

New York, March 23.—Alexander E. Orr, president of the New York Life Insurance Company, in an interview today denied the accusations made by Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, that agents of that company have been giving rebate on policies and giving away policies in return for proxies.

BURT COLLAPSED IN BOX

the board of directors. Mr. Phillips inquired of Mr. Hunter had told him that the Liszt Piano Co. gave a mortgage. The amount of the second loan was $50,000.

"I want to know," said the crown attorney, "if there is any money kept and fled away, showing to whom and for what amount these payments were made?"

"There would be the cheques to show the amount."

"If a loan of $6000 had passed, and $3000 were paid, and the former were to apply to you personally for the other $3000, would you pay it?" the witness was asked. He replied in the affirmative.

As He Was Told.

"A queer business," was the comment of the court, followed by Crown Attorney Curry's remarks, "and withheld knowledge whether there was a mortgage or not." To that the witness assented by the word "Yes." He added that he was there to do as Mr. Phillips authorized. He made no particular enquiries as to the securities for this loan. Their solicitors had told them there was a mortgage that covered the whole amount. The building of the piano factory did not come before the board of directors at all. He had heard the place was going to be built. Witness was not present at a meeting of the board of directors in October, 1903, that being the meeting at which the $60,000 loan to Burt was sanctioned. Witness did not know the why and the wherefore of the payment of $3000 to the City Realty Company. But he explained that a cheque had been made out, taken to the bank and cashed, and the money brought back to the office. It was credited to interest account. He did not know the amount of interest. He did not think that that would pass to the government as being interest on a mortgage supposed to be in existence, but that really did not exist. Neither witnesses nor the Messrs. Hall could throw any light on the item.

Referring to the action of the board of directors of the Toronto Life from any claim for rebates against the York Loan, witness said that that would be a benefit for the Toronto Life as against the York Loan. He had resigned to go into business for himself. He could see no future for himself, as the idea was to merge the company into a permanent company. That was in August, 1905.

Phillips' bank and cheque books from 1903 to the present were brought to the court in the afternoon, in pursuance of a subpoena.

Visits Registry Office.

Burt again took stand in the witness box and was closely questioned concerning his visits to the registry office—one of these being with Phillips—to make declarations. The witness expressed at the outset a good deal of ignorance. The declaration as to the dissolution of partnership was made on Sept. 6, 1905, by Joseph Phillips, and witness claimed that he himself made the suggestion that the formality should be carried out.

Burt explained that the affidavits which Phillips had made on Oct. 5,

1903, to the effect that he himself was sole owner of the Piano Company, was a pure mistake, and that as soon as it was found out, two years later, witness made the affidavit that he was the owner.

"Surely you do not expect us to accept that explanation. It does not satisfy me," said the crown attorney.

"It does not matter whether you are satisfied or not," replied the witness.

"Yes, but I am the one that must be satisfied before this investigation is ended, with the permission of his worship," replied the crown attorney.

"I am going to wait until the end of the enquiry," said Magistrate Denison.

In reply to the crown attorney, Burt said that if Sanderson had stated that Phillips got the plans for $135 or $150 he had told an untruth.

Witness said that when he borrowed the money it was his intention to carry on the business on his own account.

Magistrate Denison suggested to the crown attorney that it would be well to warn Burt in case he should be indicted for conspiracy.

The crown attorney said he did not intend to prosecute him for conspiracy in the matter. But he was going to use him as a crown witness and would protect him as far as he could and would make representations with that end in view to the attorney-general.

What Hooks Show.

Considerable time was subsequently spent by the crown attorney and witness in going thru the bank books of the Liszt Piano Company regarding loans received from the York Loan Company, and deposited in the bank. Burt said that he drew whatever sums he required. No amount had been fixed as his salary. It ranged from $15 to $40 a week.

Regarding a loan to which statements had been made, Mr. Jones said that evidence in connection therewith was contained in a written document made some time since. It was in the possession of the liquidator.

Mr. Curry sent for the document.

Then followed the series of questions which led up to the witness' collapse. There were records of payments and collections made by the York County Loan agents and handed over to Burt. The bank book, it would appear, showed deposits of only a small percentage of these, but a ledger had entries of the full amount of money, for which there were no corresponding items in the Dominion Bank book.

"Where was the balance put?" asked Crown Attorney Curry. "Did you own another banking account? Was the money put in any other bank than the Dominion?"

"I think there was another banking account," followed the witness. "My secretary tells me there was."

"What bank was it?"

"I do not know."

The question was repeated, and after some hesitation, witness said, "I think it was the Sovereign Bank, or the Montreal."

"Where did you deposit the rest of the money?" witness was asked. "You said it was yours. You ought to know." "I think it was in the Bank of Montreal."

"If it were your money you would know distinctly where it was deposited," said Crown Attorney Curry. "If it is not yours, you would not know. Where was the money deposited?"

"In the Bank of Montreal."

"Have you the bank book?"

"No."

"Who has it?"

"Miss Hudson."

The crown attorney called Miss Hudson for the book and at the moment the lady stepped forward, Burt collapsed.

BENCHERS' ELECTIONS.

Candidates Who Are in Field for Election or Re-Election.

Interest in the benchers' elections is growing keen. Already the secretary of the Law Society, has received several voting papers, but these will be rejected, as the only ballot papers that can be counted are those received within the stated period, March 28 and April 4, both days inclusive. Those who have already sent in a ballot should apply to the secretary for another ballot paper, fill it in and forward it within the proper time. The scrutineers will commence the counting of the ballots on April 6 in the presence of the treasurer of the Law Society and of C. H. Ritchie, K.C., who has, pursuant to statute, been appointed by convocation to preside. Mr. Ritchie's appointment does not render him ineligible for election.

No official list of nominations is made, but as far as can be learned candidates now in the field are:

For re-election:
Allen Bristol Aylesworth, Toronto; Walter Barwick, Toronto; Richard Bayley, London; Alexander Bruce, Hamilton; Francis Henry Chrysler, Ottawa; Alfred Henry Clark, Windsor; George Christy Gibbons, London; James Morrison Glenn, St. Thomas; Donald Guthrie, K.C., M.P., Guelph; William Drummond Hogg, Ottawa; John Hos-

Sept., Toronto; William Kerr, Cobourg; Gordon Alton Lash, Toronto; George Lynd-Stanton, Hamilton; Samuel George McKay, Woodstock; Donald Ban MacLennan, Cornwall; William David McPherson, Toronto; John Wallace Nesbitt, Hamilton; Wallace Nesbitt, Toronto; William Renwick Riddell, Toronto; Charles Henry Ritchie, Toronto; George Ferguson Shelpy, Toronto; Edward Sidney Smith, Stratford; Henry Hutton Strathy, Barrie; Daniel Edmund Thomson, Toronto; George Hughes Watson, Toronto; William Robert White, Pembroke; Matthew Wilson, Chatham.

Those announced for election: I. F. Hellmuth, K.C.; F. E. Hodgins, K.C.; James Bicknell, K.C.; F. W. Hartcourt, official guardian; H. M. Mowat, K.C.; C. A. Mastan, K.C.; E. B. Ryckman, K.C.; W. M. Douglas, K.C.; A. C. McMaster, John Cowan, K.C.; Sarnia; W. B. Northrup, K.C., M.P., Belleville; A. J. Wilkes, K.C., Brantford; C. H. Ritchie, K.C.; E. F. B. Johnston, K.C.; A. E. DuVernet, K.C.; R. M. Dennistown of Peterboro, Col. Farewell, Whitby; Donald McIntyre, K.C., Kingston.

A. B. Northrup, K.C., M.P., has been selected by the Hastings County Bar Association as their candidate. The Bay of Quinte district was for nearly a third of a century represented by the late John Bell, K.C., of Belleville. Since his decease no one has been elected to fill his place. By the death yesterday of Dr. Walker of Kingston the district between Cobourg and Cornwall is not now represented on the benches, and Mr. Northrup's friends feel that he should be elected to represent the important County of Hastings.

The Frontenac Bar Association yesterday decided to support Donald McIntyre, K.C., of Kingston.
