the Grand. Marie Tavary, the prima donna, is said to be the possessor of a magnificent soprano voice. Her supporting company, it is claimed, is one of the best she has ever had. Among them are Mme. Thea Dorre, Albert L. Suille, Payne Clarke, the English tenric Max Eugene, the English baritone; signor A. Abramhoff, basso; William tephens, William Schuster and a core of others.

Since the death of Annie Pixley and the retirement of Lotta, Katle Emmett is about the only soubrette star on the American stage who has made a study of boy characters. She will make her first appearance in this city next week at the Toronto Opera House in "The Waifs of New York," of which an exchange says: "Katle Emmett is responsible for the chief interest in The Waifs of New York, the comedy melodrama which has made fortunes for its owners. It must be called a comedy melodrama because, while the play is very much like the old-fash-ioned thing we used to call melodrama without any prefix, it has a good deal more of the humorous and less of the thrilling. It tells a story of love and crime, and in the most wholesome style pats virtue on the back and literally ties the villain up in most uncomfortable knots." The usual Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees will be given during Miss Emmett's engagement.

Seats should be secured early, as the audience is sure to be a large one. The plan will remain open at Nordheimer's until Tuesday at moon.

That there should be a prospect of celebrating a thirteen-hundredth anniversary is sufficiently remarkable, even though the locality be Canterbury. It seems to carry one back to periods which cannot be grasped even by the imagination. However, the thirteen-hundredth anniversary of the baptism of King Ethelbert at Canterbury is to be commemorated by the restoration of the cloisters, chapterhouse, and crypt attached to the carthedral, and the Queen has sent £160 to help in perpetuating the memory of her Saxon ancestor.
