A telegram was received yesterday from Rossland announcing that the cross-cut on the 350-foot level of the Sunset No. 2 had cut a vein eight feet wide, carrying good ore. The cross-cut is being driven southward from the No. 1 vein to cut the discovery vein, and the eight foot vein was a totally unexpected find. Sunset No. 2 is already in the shipping list, and the property is being developed on systematic lines.

Giant and Novelty.

The development of the Novelty is proceeding at an entirely satisfactory rate, and the showing is excellent. The ledge has been opened for about 150 feet, and the surface showing for the whole distance displays iron and copper in plenty. The new staft is now down about 25 feet, and the work of timbering has commenced. There is about three feet of ore at the bottom of the shaft, which promises to develop into a good body.

The Glant shaft is down about 80 feet. A slip in the bottom of the shaft has displaced the ledge, and the workings are now out of ore. The management is not tillpleased with the change, and it is confident that it will result in changing the dip of the vein at the lower levels into the Giant ground, whereas on the tormer dip the veln would have passed out of the Giant side ilines in a comparatively short distance more. The tunnel is in about 100 feet, and is now about under the old shaft at the top of the hill. Some ore is being met scattered through the face of the workings.

stock is being offered by Messas, Hall & Murray, is a proposition that has been well developed before the stock is offered to the public. The capitalization is small and the prospective profits are large. The company has laid out a town site on Lemon Creek, and has seven mineral claims, some of which have been working since November last, and have a large quantity of free milling ore blocked out of an average value of $14 per ton. They have purchased a 10-stamp mill, which is now being taken in over the new Government wagon road that starts at Kootenay Lake and goes in to Oro town site. They are erecting a saw mill, including planer, matcher and shingle mill, and have unlimited timber for supplying the mill, which will be running in a few days. An hotel has been public, and applications for a number of lots have been received. At present there are 30 men on the pay roll.

CASES OF A WILL AND A DRAIN

Non-Jary Sittings of the County Court Yesterday Presided Over by Judge McDougall.

by Judge McDougall.

Judge McDougall opened a non-jury sittings of the County Court yesterday. The first case on the docket was a contest over the will of the late Patrick Costello, who died on May 27 last. Costello made a will leaving his estate to his wife. When the will was about to be probated several relations took objections on the ground that the will was made just four days before Costello's death, that it was made under pressure and that the testator was of unsound mind. The estate consists of a house at 427 Adelaide-street west, valued at $1750. Judge McDougall upheld the will and reserved judgment as to costs.

The suit of Detective Verney against Police Comstable Guthrie was commenced, but was not finished at adjournment. The plaintiff and the defendant are neighbors and live at 327 and 329 Manning-avenue respectively. A drain running through Guthrie's property into Verney's home is the cause of the dispute. The drain is defective in Verney's property, and he wants Guthrie to pay a share of the cost for repairs.

Gentlemen—In the winter of 1884 I was taken with a severe attack of neuralgia in the head and shoulders. Since then it became seated, and I gave up the idea of ever being cured. Have taken medicine prescribed by different physicians, but all to no avail.

Some three months ago I was induced to try a bottle of Pame's Celery Compound. Before I had taken half of it I began to feel better. Sleep, which in my early days appeared so refreshing, has in these years of affliction been made up of frightful dreams; but not so now, as the medicine began to have a telling effect on my nerves.

I have taken three bottles of this glorious medicine, and to-day I cata siy that it is the first time in eleven years that I have felt none of those piercing pains to which I had once been a victim. Let me say to any person who may read this testimonial, in this province or elsewhere, that if you discredit this statement, just write me and I will only be too glad to inform you of what has cured me of neuralgia and a shattered nervous system.

Hurt His Leg and Wants Damage

Mr. Justice Falconbridge listened yesterday afternoon to the suit of R. S. Hasiam for $3000 damages against the Wyld-Grasett & Darling Company. Hasiam, a teamster, had fallen down an elevator shaft on Aug. 12, 1807, in the rear of the company's warehouse, and permanently injured his leg. The suit is in reality directed against the insurance company that had guaranteed the safety of the premises to the Wyld Company. Judgment was reserved. Mr. H. E. Irwin appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Wallace Nesbitt for the defendant.
