

MANY EXEMPTIONS ARE GRANTED ON PLEA OF DISABILITY

(Continued From Page 12)

support of mother. Exemption refused. L. Birch, 17 Lytton avenue, class E, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination.

TRIBUNAL NO. 350.

City Hall, Judge Coatsworth's Ch. Judge Coatsworth, C. B. Jacques, Major W. G. Pink, Mil. Rep.

W. Cornell, 328 Seaton street, class A, works in the postoffice, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

Harry Shaw, 162 1/2 St. George street, class E, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

Edward J. Stafford, 42 Avenue road, was sole support of an invalid mother. Decision reserved.

Hugh D. Powell, 14 Grosvenor street, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

Charles B. Simpson, 104 Charles street, class E, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

Basil Holland, 18 Irwin avenue, class E, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

Aggie Anderson, 36 Broadbalt street, class E, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

William J. Thompson, 10 Walter street, claimed he was only support of his aged parents, two brothers being at the front. Granted.

William Knowles, 18 Balmuto street, engaged in preparing anti-toxin for the C.E.F. Major Fitzgerald claimed exemption for him on those grounds. Granted.

Harry Casperson, 64 Farnham avenue, class C, by family doctor, exemption. Henry Kennedy, 121 Walker avenue, class D, exemption.

Rice Johnston, 18 Oriole gardens, has been rejected several times. He wanted time to finish his course at school. Granted.

Arthur Butler, 215 Cottingham street, sole support of family, a brother overseas and in an important business. Exempted.

Samuel Spangenberg, 201 Cottingham street, sole support of mother and sister. Exempted for a year.

John F. Boland, partner of Senator Claude Macdonell, claimed business obligations were his reasons. His partner might have to give up owing to ill-health. Exempted.

H. Earl Elliot, Upper Canada College, class E, exemption.

Norman E. Walker, 21 Walker avenue, who took charge of the services of the Children's Aid Society on Sunday mornings, claimed he was needed to maintain Christian work at home. Exemption refused.

Harry Casperson, 64 Farnham avenue, class C, by family doctor, exemption. Henry Kennedy, 121 Walker avenue, class D, exemption.

Rice Johnston, 18 Oriole gardens, has been rejected several times. He wanted time to finish his course at school. Granted.

Arthur Butler, 215 Cottingham street, sole support of family, a brother overseas and in an important business. Exempted.

Samuel Spangenberg, 201 Cottingham street, sole support of mother and sister. Exempted for a year.

John F. Boland, partner of Senator Claude Macdonell, claimed business obligations were his reasons. His partner might have to give up owing to ill-health. Exempted.

H. Earl Elliot, Upper Canada College, class E, exemption.

Norman E. Walker, 21 Walker avenue, who took charge of the services of the Children's Aid Society on Sunday mornings, claimed he was needed to maintain Christian work at home. Exemption refused.

R. Williams Co., exemption claimed by employers. Absent in Montreal; will appear at later date.

TRIBUNAL NO. 354.

City Hall, Judge Coatsworth's Ch. Judge Coatsworth, C. B. Jacques, Major W. G. Pink, Mil. Rep.

Edward J. Stafford, 42 Avenue road, was sole support of an invalid mother. Decision reserved.

Hugh D. Powell, 14 Grosvenor street, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

Charles B. Simpson, 104 Charles street, class E, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

Basil Holland, 18 Irwin avenue, class E, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

Aggie Anderson, 36 Broadbalt street, class E, exemption on religious grounds, ordered to pass medical examination. Decision reserved.

William J. Thompson, 10 Walter street, claimed he was only support of his aged parents, two brothers being at the front. Granted.

William Knowles, 18 Balmuto street, engaged in preparing anti-toxin for the C.E.F. Major Fitzgerald claimed exemption for him on those grounds. Granted.

Harry Casperson, 64 Farnham avenue, class C, by family doctor, exemption. Henry Kennedy, 121 Walker avenue, class D, exemption.

Rice Johnston, 18 Oriole gardens, has been rejected several times. He wanted time to finish his course at school. Granted.

Arthur Butler, 215 Cottingham street, sole support of family, a brother overseas and in an important business. Exempted.

Samuel Spangenberg, 201 Cottingham street, sole support of mother and sister. Exempted for a year.

John F. Boland, partner of Senator Claude Macdonell, claimed business obligations were his reasons. His partner might have to give up owing to ill-health. Exempted.

H. Earl Elliot, Upper Canada College, class E, exemption.

Norman E. Walker, 21 Walker avenue, who took charge of the services of the Children's Aid Society on Sunday mornings, claimed he was needed to maintain Christian work at home. Exemption refused.

Harry Casperson, 64 Farnham avenue, class C, by family doctor, exemption. Henry Kennedy, 121 Walker avenue, class D, exemption.

Rice Johnston, 18 Oriole gardens, has been rejected several times. He wanted time to finish his course at school. Granted.

Arthur Butler, 215 Cottingham street, sole support of family, a brother overseas and in an important business. Exempted.

Samuel Spangenberg, 201 Cottingham street, sole support of mother and sister. Exempted for a year.

John F. Boland, partner of Senator Claude Macdonell, claimed business obligations were his reasons. His partner might have to give up owing to ill-health. Exempted.

H. Earl Elliot, Upper Canada College, class E, exemption.

Norman E. Walker, 21 Walker avenue, who took charge of the services of the Children's Aid Society on Sunday mornings, claimed he was needed to maintain Christian work at home. Exemption refused.

Harry Casperson, 64 Farnham avenue, class C, by family doctor, exemption. Henry Kennedy, 121 Walker avenue, class D, exemption.

Rice Johnston, 18 Oriole gardens, has been rejected several times. He wanted time to finish his course at school. Granted.

Arthur Butler, 215 Cottingham street, sole support of family, a brother overseas and in an important business. Exempted.

Samuel Spangenberg, 201 Cottingham street, sole support of mother and sister. Exempted for a year.

John F. Boland, partner of Senator Claude Macdonell, claimed business obligations were his reasons. His partner might have to give up owing to ill-health. Exempted.

but had no record of his age with him. He was ordered to get a certificate of his age, and come again in three days. Also only 18, Wm. Tenby, clerk-maker, died by mistake registered for service. His father had to appear before the tribunal to get his son's exemption.

P. Hajdazy, an Austrian, disfranchised under the Wartime Election Act, was granted exemption.

N. A. Campbell, class D, had D. A. Campbell, of the Campbell Milling Co., appearing for him. He must return in a month for another medical examination.

Harold J. Ott, a munition worker, will appear again today at the tribunal. He said he considered his services at the munition works indispensable.

Sam Simons, traveler, class E, exempted.

Peter Sauder, a third-year medical student, with two brothers at the front, asked exemption because of his mother. He was in class A2, but was put in the next draft call instead.

Abraham Cohen, 17 Salem avenue, class A2, who gave domestic and business responsibilities for exemption, was given a private hearing. Judgment was reserved.

Justin R. McDougall, financial broker, 4 Rosedale road, appealed from the military medical examination, given in Montreal, and will be re-examined.

Robert A. Bathe, 163 Blecker street, deaf and dumb, was exempted.

J. F. A. Williams, 5 Howell street, window cleaner, asked exemption because he had served two months in the C.E.F. The claim was disallowed because, being in class A2, he was held to be fit for active service.

H. W. Chrysler, a teacher, 45 Cecil street, claimed ill-health in asking exemption, but being class A2 it was also disallowed.

W. J. Rowe, class E, exempted.

Consistent objections to military service when asked by Quakers might be allowed, stated Major T. P. Grubb, military representative. The exemption claim, however, of Alex. Dunn, class A, who said he was "a Christian, a follower of Jesus, and as such opposed to fighting," was refused.

Norman Smith, bank clerk, only son of a widowed mother, who is clearing up his deceased father's business, asked exemption. It was granted for three months.

Harold Meen, Wyndolite student, class E, exempted.

Cecil Harpham, class A, who is agent for Republic Truck Co., thought that if taken he would lose the agency. He requested for reservation, but he was advised to ask Ottawa. He was told the government would do everything possible to protect the interests of a Canadian soldier.

A letter was presented from a conscientious objector, a member of "The Brethren." He had never cast a vote, wrote, his conviction being based on quotation, "Ye are not of this world, even as I am not of this world." He was referred to the tribunal at Vancouver and College, where he belongs.

Lorne Scudliffe, 278 Huron street, class B2, exempted.

Louis Stone, Knox College, Presbyterian minister, asked permission to finish his college course. Adjudged till his class is called.

W. P. Augustine, 251 Major street, class E, exempted.

Nelson W. Briggs, 118 Brunswick avenue, class E, exempted.

C. O. Parry, 578 Spadina, class C, exempted.

Otto N. Bekel, 552 West Bloor, class C, exempted.

Wm. Gould, 66 Brunswick avenue, class D, exempted.

Fred G. V. Lamb, exempted.

mother and sisters. Decision reserved until Nov. 21.

Malcolm Lennox, 40 Grace street, class E, exempted.

George R. Baird, 921 College street, ordered to report for medical examination.

J. Harman, 101 Howland avenue, class A, whose doctors certified he had rheumatism and who also claimed exemption on domestic grounds, was also given exemption until October 31, 1919.

Lionel Davis, 82 Kendal avenue, barrister, class C, exempted.

Harvey Lorne McCallum, 44 Dupont street, asked exemption because of extensive financial obligations. He helped support his father and mother. Decision reserved.

Geo. Larkin, 102 Albany avenue, secretary-treasurer of Wm. W. Johnson, importer of wools and hides, gave business reasons for his exemption. Because of his being the sole support of his widowed mother, a brother, a sister, and had lost a brother at the Somme, his claim was granted.

H. E. Carlaw and W. H. Jarvis, both class E, exempted.

James W. Rush, John H. Beynon and Thos. A. Wilson, all class E, exempted.

Unconditional exemption until October 31, 1919, was granted Wm. E. Saunders, the sole support of his mother and invalid sister, and that the statutes did not recognize a Salvation Army officer as a divinity student.

Frank Smithers, 65 St. Patrick street, class C2, exempted.

Harry Sabel, 115 Peter street, will not be called to serve until B men are required.

Wm. Cline, 5 Grange avenue, class C, exempted.

Wm. R. Bell, 27 Soho street, class B, exempted.

Jos. H. Devenay, asked exemption but was told to wait until notified which tribunal to appear before.

TRIBUNAL NO. 357.

Osgoode Hall, Master-in-Cham. Judge Denton, G. R. Sweeney, Lieut.-Col. F. H. Brown, Mil. Rep.

H. Mannheim, 80 Baldwin street, owns a printing business which employs 25 men. He asked exemption from military service. He admitted that he had made practically no sacrifice on account of the war, and that he had made no attempt to join the army. J. Levinsky, of the tribunal, said: "I do not like to interfere in this case, but this man is a creature who would not doubt suffer should the business be closed. The outstanding liabilities are about $17,000, of which amount he owes me $12,000. He bought the business from me about two years ago, and prior to that he conducted it for me on a thirty-three per cent. bonus basis. Probably the enterprise represents an investment of about $23,000 to $24,000."

C. W. Randall, the military representative, asked why Mannheim undertook such a responsibility in war time. Mannheim replied that he "did not expect they would ever have compulsory military service here."

J. Levinsky pointed out that making a change in the business and the lowered value of printing machinery, lowered the value of the business to a sacrifice of 75 per cent.

Mannheim was given exemption until February to arrange his business affairs, and he will then have to come again before a tribunal.

L. A. Landman, a lawyer, living at 47 Dundas street, was granted exemption, his only brother being at the front and his father, owing to ill-health, being unable to work.

Russell Wile, a Russian Poland native, claimed to be under 20 years old,

TRIBUNAL NO. 360.

No. 3 Pol. Stn., 31 Claremont St. N. B. Gash, O. Hezlewood, Geo. Stagg, Mil. Rep.

Gory Adrian Bender, Trinity College third year arts and divinity student. Decision reserved.

John B. West, Trinity College divinity student, claimed incorrect medical class. Ordered to be re-examined and report Monday.

David Sadowsky, 208 Crawford street, class A2, mother appealed against decision of tribunal as to son's non-appearance, stating letter containing objection went astray for lack of postage. Case closed as far as tribunal was concerned.

TRIBUNAL NO. 361.

Y. M. C. A., 931 College St. G. Grant, F. B. Hayes, C. A. Muir, Mil. Rep.

H. Tugendhat, 245 Palmerston avenue, railway mail clerk, sole support

Doctors Recommend

BON-OPTO for the eyes

Physicians and eye specialists prescribe Bon-Opto as a safe home remedy in the treatment of eye troubles and to strengthen eyesight. Sold under money refund guaranty by all druggists.

mother and sisters. Decision reserved until Nov. 21.

Malcolm Lennox, 40 Grace street, class E, exempted.

George R. Baird, 921 College street, ordered to report for medical examination.

Harry Angendrant, 245 Palmerston avenue, class A2 man, special reasons brought exemption for six months.

Jacob Levy, 210 Markham street, main support of mother and sister. Ordered to bring them before tribunal.

J. F. Davis, of Davis Bros., 468 West King street, claimed exemption on personal grounds. Refused.

Arthur James Sawyer, 298 Crawford street, class E, exempted.

Richard J. Brady, 235 Shaw street, mother appealed as son is only support. Exemption granted for three months.

W. Carlton, 181 Bellwoods avenue, class E, exempted.

Sidney B. Holmes, 39 Lakeview avenue, appeal made by mother, as he is in class E. Exempted.

A. Bechling, employed by the Canadian Aeroplanes, Limited. Decision reserved until an official of company reported on his behalf.

James M. Palmer, 139 Grace street, sole support of mother. Six months' exemption.

C. S. Anderson, 332 Montrose avenue, electrical contractor, class B2, exempted.

W. P. Perry, 157 Markham street, class C, exempted.

G. D. C. Cameron, 380 1/2 Crawford street, class A2, ordered another medical examination and to report on Saturday, Nov. 10.

Chas. A. Harris, 1880 Davenport road, ordered to be examined and report Nov. 12.

TRIBUNAL NO. 362.

Y. M. C. A., 931 College St. H. E. Irwin, Canon H. C. Dixon, Tim O'Rourke, Mil. Rep.

William Norman Coates, 186 Concord avenue, aged 23, said he had always wanted to enlist, but that he was the sole support of a widowed mother. The evidence showed that two sisters assisted in the mother's support, and exemption was refused.

Tim O'Rourke, the military representative, was a little doubtful about the case of faith of Arthur Bourgois, 79 Clinton street, who changed from Catholic to International Bible Society in 1915. He claimed exemption on religious grounds, and was given a few hours to bring back a certificate that his faith was against military service. Henry Clay of the same address applied on the same ground, and was treated similarly.

D. J. Nicholl, 385 Manning avenue, belongs to a group of "believers" with no pastor, readers or offices in Canada. He is opposed to the taking of life, and would rather die than to serve as a farmer than a stretcher-bearer. He will appear again, with certificates of his standing with the brethren and their belief.

R. H. Blanchard, 126 Marguerite street, shell inspector, applied for exemption. He is the son of the late Capt. W. H. Blanchard of Peterboro, Imperial Army Veterinary Corps, who died in the case hospital last October. His elder brother has won the Military Medal and the youngest one only 19, is a gunner at the front.

"My brother George and I tossed up at the time he enlisted to see who would go and who would stay at home and look after mother, and he won," remarked young Blanchard. "My only remaining brother has taken holy orders."

"This family has certainly done its share," remarked Canon Dixon. "No slackers there. Remarkable Mr. O'Rourke. If all families did as well we would not need conscription."

TRIBUNAL NO. 363.

No. 11 Pol. Stn., 671 Markham St. D. MacDonald, W. Stockdale, Major B. G. Switzer, Mil. Rep.

"The case is a very sad one," said Major Switzer, in regard to the claim of George Joseph Gate. The young man is the only support of his widowed mother. His only brother fell at Zillebeke and the shock caused the death of his father. The mother comes from the old land and showed a list of her near relatives to Major Switzer when he investigated the claim.

"Twenty of them have been killed," said the major, who stated it was domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

Deliver or mail THE TORONTO MORNING WORLD to the following address for months.

Name

Address

R. M. D. or Street

Subscription rates are: For delivery by carrier in Toronto, Hamilton and Brantford, $5.00 per year—50c per month. For delivery by R. M. D. or to Postoffice, $4.00 per year—40c per month. Address THE WORLD, Toronto.

near relatives to Major Switzer when he investigated the claim.

"Twenty of them have been killed," said the major, who stated it was domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14, Column 7).

medical board, and will appear again today.

Fred Westman, 23 Fells avenue, aged 32, applied for exemption on domestic grounds and the importance of his present work as a dairy co-op assistant with the City Dairy. Major Switzer opposed the claim, while J. Findlay of the dairy gave evidence of his indispensability to the company. He was given exemption until January 15.

C. R. Whitelaw, 874 Bathurst street, (Continued on Page 14