NEW LEADER OF THE BAR IN THE FRENCH CAPITAL

Henri Robert Succeeds the Noted
Maitre Labori

Though Still Young He Has Figured in the Most Noted Cases of the Last Twenty Years

Paris, July 17.—Maitre Henri Robert, a celebrated criminal lawyer, has been elected head, or "batonnier," as the title is, of the Paris bar. His immediate predecessor was Maitre Labori, the famous defender of Dreyfus. To the distinguished order of "avocats" belong some of the principal politicians of the day. Indeed, it may be said that both chambers of the legislature are largely recruited from lawyers and doctors.

President Poincaré would have been probably "batonnier" last year had he not been premier. M. Barthelemy, the actual head of the cabinet, already has occupied the position. Other lawyers of distinction in the present parliament are Maitre Millerand, late minister of war, and M. Aristide Briand, his colleague and superior in the cabinet.

The new "batonnier" is particularly "en vogue." The account of his career at the bar would be the record of the criminality of the last twenty years. Though he is still on the right side of fifty, and therefore to be accounted young in the great profession he adorns, he has been a prominent figure in "causes celebres" during two decades.

Of recent years his most famous client was Gallix, who embezzled a large sum of money from the Compagnie d'Escompte and then sailed the Southern Seas in a sumptuous yacht. He defended Wache de Roo, who shot his mother, of whom he was very fond, because she was going to marry again; and recently he defended a woman who killed a rival to her husband's affections, and succeeded, thanks to Maitre Robert, in eliciting the sympathy of the jury.

There is something irresistible in the eloquence of this famous pleader, who uses a latitude unknown in the foreign courts to secure the verdict. Every sort of appeal to sentiment and sensibility seems to be allowed by a French Judge, and "avocats" do not scruple to employ the arts of the stage to move the hearts of the good men and true who listen, in a judicial spirit, to their orations.

Te has the prodigious activity of great lawyers, of great workers who apply organization to enable them to accomplish more than the normal man. He seems to give more time to entertainment and to social life than the majority of his confreres, who allow all their energies to be absorbed by the Palais de Justice.

At his table one meets a particularly interesting society, ministers of the republic, dukes of the old regime, princes of the empire. He removed the barriers which others set up.

Perhaps the greatest claim of Maitre Robert to public gratitude is his campaign in favor of a remedy for juvenile crime. He has delivered several lectures on this subject, and calls for attention to the part home influence plays in the development of the precocious law-breaker.

In person Maitre Robert is tall and slim and he possesses the characteristic strong jaw of the successful legal wrestler. He is a man of the figure of the time.

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS

Like so many men at the top of the tree Sir Thomas Lipton has been asked for his recipe of success. On one occasion he replied: "Work hard, deal honestly, use careful judgment, do unto others as you would be done by, advertise freely and judiciously, and success is bound to follow." His counsel to young men is, in effect: "Beware of strong drink, be civil, and treat rich and poor alike, and always be punctual. If you stick to business business will stick to you." By such principles and maxims did Sir Thomas Lipton climb the ladder of success.

who read our article in last issue on the industrial expansion which has taken place in this province during the past twenty-one years must readily see that we are now almost as much interested in western markets as we used to be in purely local ones.

Take the factories from Sydney to Halifax and up to Amherst and consider how important it is to them that they should have a good connection with all the points in the near west and the far west, where their goods are consumed.

What we are coming at is this: The time is past when the I. C. R. can be purely a local road. If it wants to serve these provinces adequately, either by building its own line or acquiring one already built, it must extend to the west. Whenever it does this, it is not clear to everyone that it must put its local freight rates on a par with the company-owned roads, subject, of course, to such reductions as water competition may make necessary. We should not be all surprised if this were one of the chief reasons why the present readjustment has been started.

BIG, HEARTY BABY BOY

Mrs. Beck's Fondlest Hopes
Realized—Health, Happiness and Baby.

Upper Lahave, N. S., Can.,—"I wish to thank you for the benefit I received by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound from which I was a great sufferer, so that I was completely run down in health. Other medicine did not help me, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me well and strong. I now have a big, hearty baby boy, and praise your medicine for the wonderful lot of good it has done me."—Mrs. ISRAEL BECK, JR., Upper Lahave, Lunenburg Co., N. S., Canada.

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to a childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to some derangement of the feminine system, often curable by the proper remedies.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

A HINT TO THE FARMER AND THE DAIRYMAN

(Dominion Daily Bulletin.)

Frequent experiments have shown that one single test of a cow's milk is not reliable as an indication of what percentage of fat her milk normally contains. A great many well known causes affect the test, also some causes that are unknown at present even to the closest students. This variation in the test is one of the puzzles of the cow's individuality and because of these puzzling variations it is advisable to take composite samples at intervals so as to ascertain the average test.

Some recent painstaking investigations in one of the dairy research stations in England with seven cows for two days, even covering such details as a separate test of eleven successive pints, three times a day, from the four quarters of the udder, show that, while the average test with the cows giving thirty pounds of milk a day was 8.6 per cent, the variation was all the way from only six tenths of one per cent up to nine and a half per cent of fat.

This is clear proof of how misleading one single test may be. If the real carrying capacity of each individual cow is to be computed, it must be on the basis of her annual production of milk and fat less the cost of feed; regular weighing and testing give that knowledge which every factory patron should have of each cow he keeps.

BROWNVILLE TEAM WINS DOWNIE CUP

In the competition for the Downie cup among the branches of the St. John Ambulance Association on the Atlantic division of the C. P. R., held in the general offices, King street, yesterday afternoon, the team from Brownville Junction won premier honors with a score of 160 points. McAdam Junction took second place with 141 points and Aroostook Junction third with 135 points. Each team consisted of a captain and four members, and they were put through several tests of first aid, both as a team and individually, covering every description of accident.

READY-MADE FARMS PROVE SUCCESSFUL

C. P. R. Industrial Agent's Report
After Tour of Investigation

(Victoria Colonist.)

"Ready-made farms are in great demand on the prairies," says D. C. Alexander, industrial agent of the C. P. R., who visited Victoria yesterday, and the probability is that the Natural Resources Department of the great railway corporation which is responsible for them, will greatly extend their operations next year.

In Alberta and Saskatchewan, where I have been inspecting during the last few weeks, I find that they are a splendid success, not only in themselves, but in the type of immigration they are attracting from Great Britain and the United States. As a matter of fact, the demand for them has been greatly in excess of the supply and the coming year will doubtless see a far stronger demand than ever.

Additional farms in these territories are now being prepared for next year by the C. P. R., and it is expected that within the next few years there will be a great string of these ready-made farms in operation. General farming is the basis of the work in the meantime, but the department is taking a very keen interest in the development of the cattle breeding industry in the west, and greater works along this line are to be looked for in the future."

An agent of a trans-Atlantic steamship line has written Mayor Gaynor of New York stating that 30,000 persons who were curious to see a new liner during its first stay in New York contributed at 50 cents each, the sum of $15,844. A check for $5,000 of this was enclosed with the request that the mayor distribute it among worthy charities, while the rest was distributed in Hoboken and among seamen's societies.
