LIGHT BOOTS ARE GOING OUT OF STYLE

American Makers Introduced Them, But People are Getting Back to the Old Fashion.

LONDON, Oct. 6—The heavy boot has given place to the light one. Shopkeepers say that whereas some years ago heavily made boots were preferred, almost all classes of these are now a drug on the market.

In Leicestershire more than 30,000 operatives employed in making the heavier classes are now working on short time, and the fact is attributed to the exceptionally fine weather, but in the opinion of London makers the long summer has only brought matters to a crisis. The real reason is that the heavy boot has become unpopular.

"American manufacturers were the first to push the light boot in this country," said the manager of an American boot shop in an interview. "In America they cannot make a heavy boot, but in any case every one there prefers a light one.

"So popular have light boots become in London that scarcely any one will have the other kind. The reasons, I think, are that we do not now experience such hard winters as we used to, and that lighter boots and shoes are less tiring to walk in, more pliable and consequently more comfortable to wear.

"At first the American makers reaped the harvest, but now English makers are waking up and are manufacturing boots to compete with the American ones.

"I do not believe the question of cost has had much effect on the sales, for the one-price principle is now very widely adopted, and a heavy boot costs no more than a light one."

Mr. E. Swaysland, an expert in the boot trade, who has just returned from America, in an interview said that while British manufacturers were not at present in any grave danger from American competition, the English fiscal system naturally made it easy for any nation to dump an excess of goods into this country at whatever prices suited them best.

"When the American bootmakers' rate of wages is lowered," he added, "then, and not till then, will she come into serious competition with ourselves, and, being shielded by her fiscal system, will become very formidable."

Business is like unto a clock. The store's the face, the clerks are the hands, the key's advertising. Without a regular use of the key the whole running system becomes disordered, disorganized, rusty, useless.—H. M. Hill,

ROLLER SKATING

McCAW LEADS NIXON BY TWO MILES.

The Long Distance Race at the Roller Rink Ends This Evening—Very Interesting Contest.

The third night of the long distance race at St. Andrew's left McCaw still in the lead. Hunter, who was second up to last night, retired after skating twelve laps, as he had hurt himself on Thursday night, and it was thought advisable for him to discontinue.

McCaw's skate broke last night and Nixon gained twelve laps before he was able to get on the floor again. The race was interesting all the way through, the contestants showing fine bursts of speed even at the end of the hour.

Tonight is the last of the series and should prove the most interesting, as all the men are out to win, and even though McCaw has a good lead the others are still hopeful..

The standing of the men is:

	Last night. M. Laps.	Total. M. Laps.
McCaw.. 14	14	45 12

FOOTBALL

TWO FOOTBALL MATCHES TODAY.

St. Peters Play the Marathons, While the Beavers and Carleton Will Struggle For Supremacy.

On the Victoria grounds this afternoon the football matches will be between Carleton and the Beavers, and Marathons and St. Peters. The latter game is exciting a lot of interest as neither of these teams has yet been defeated and have not met. Of course today's game will not decide the series but it will go a long way to show which team in the league has the fastest bunch of players, and the backers of both the new clubs will be out in force to cheer along their respective teams. The teams are well matched, and a good game is expected. For the Marathons, Capt. Ellis will be back in the game, taking Jardine's place on the half line. The teams will have few changes from their line-up of last Saturday.

The Carleton-Beaver game also promises to be fast, as the Beavers are bent upon retrieving their defeats of the last two weeks, and Carleton intends making a strong bid for the cup. Carleton's line up is quite different—and promises to be stronger—than that of last Saturday. It is as follows:

Full—Cougle.
Halves—McKenzie (Capt.), Wright, Brown, Forbes.
Quarters—Pike, Baskin.
Forwards—McLaren, Stuart, Nelson, Davis, Murphy, Baskin, Shanklin, Ring.

MAY HAVE CROSS COUNTRY RACE.

Marathons Taking the Matter up—Prominent Merchant Offers Prize—Important Meeting Tuesday.

NUT BOY WINS BRILLIANT VICTORY.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Marathon A. A. Association held on Friday afternoon a number of important matters in connection with the association were considered. Several plans for the furtherance of athletics in the city in the coming months were talked over, but definite information regarding these plans is not forthcoming as yet. Members of the committee seen by the Sun stated, however, that it is not improbable that a cross country or a road race will be held shortly under Marathon auspices. Already assurance has been given officers of the association that a prize for the winner will be provided by a local merchant should the race be arranged for. The Marathon people would like to hear from any runners who would enter in a cross country or long distance contest during the latter part of this month or early in November. At Friday's meeting the committee discussed also some schemes for winter sports as well as the matter of the trips to be taken by the association football team.

A meeting of the association will be held in the Board of Trade rooms on Tuesday next at eight p. m. Business of special importance is to be considered. During the eventing there will be a short programme of vocal and instrumental selections. Those taking part will include H. V. McKinnon, F. J. McCafferty, Guy Smith, Charles Hoyt, William Donald and E. W. Appleby. Brief addresses will be made by Dr. Thos. Walker, B. R. Macaulay, E. L. Rising, Hon. R. J. Ritchie, T. H. Estabrooks, Hon. H. A. McKeown, Ald. J. E. B. M. Baxter.

All members are requested to be present. Persons desirous of joining the association are also invited to attend.

THE TURF

LEXINGTON, K. Y., Oct. 5.— Nut Boy, heavily backed by the New England contingent of horsemen, won the eighteenth transylvania stake in a drizzling rain this afternoon at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association meeting. The victory was brilliant, as Nut Boy defeated the best field of any trotting horses that has been brought together in a race this year, and closed his racing season by winning the most desired classic given for aged trotters. Much of the ease with which the son of Nut Pine defeated his large field was due to the generalship of Myron McHenry, who drove him. The pacing division of the Kentucky futurity fell to Brenda York without a struggle. The race was merely a workout for the good Moko filly and she could have won in much better time had it been asked of her.

The 2.18 class trotting was postponed on account of a rain which came up during the last heat of the Futurity. The horses were called to the post in the 2.18 class, but it was postponed before they could get off.

HERE'S A GOOD BASEBALL STORY.

"One of the cleverest bits of quick thinking in a game of baseball that ever came under my observation was years ago in Cincinnati," writes Hugh Fullerton, "and Bid McPhee pulled it off. How fast he thought only can be guessed. It must have been instantaneous. Bid was on first base, with nobody out, when some one drove a bounder straight at Wild Bill Everett, who was playing first for Chicago. Bill dug up the ball, touched first and made one of his copyrighted throws to second to catch Bid, having plenty of time for the double play.

"The ball disappeared. Dahlen, who was on second, never saw it. He thought the ball had hit Bid. The umpire, crouching to see the play at the base, lost the ball. Bid hesitated at second, glanced around, saw the entire Chicago infield running around wildly and tore on for third. At third, after turning the base, he hesitated again, looked back and then tore on home. From his actions both at second and home any spectator would have sworn Bid was as ignorant of the whereabout of the ball as were the Chicago players.

"The Chicago team was wild with excitement, and the crowd was mystified. No one knew where the ball was. The only clew was a yell of amusement from the Cincinnati bench.

"The ball had disappeared utterly and the umpire threw out a new one. After the game we learned what had become of the ball. Everett had hit Bid with it. The ball had struck him under the arm, and holding it tight against his body Bid had carried it entirely around the bases and to the bench, while acting as if he didn't know where it was."

A HANDSOME TROPHY.

The illustration above shows the handsome trophy which the makers of 20th Century Brand Fine Tailored Garments for men have donated for open annual competition at the Maritime Curling Bonspell, to be held at Amherst, N. S. It is probably the richest and handsomest trophy ever offered for any amateur contest in the provinces. It stands about fifty inches high. It is both rich and ornate in design and one of the most massive and expensive trophies ever made in Canada. The trophy will be exhibited here this fall. To each of the members of the winning rink the donors are also giving a $20 suit or overcoat, tailored in the best 20th Century Brand style.

There was another large crowd at the bazaar in the Church of the Assumption last evening. The usual games were indulged in by those present, who enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. Miss Florence Halpin sang very nicely during the evening and Wm. Lanyon rendered a solo with band accompaniment which was well received. . The bazaar will be brought to a close on Monday night. The festivities will suspend for this evening.

Ready for the cool weather when it comes. A full line of "Stanfield's" famous unshrinkable underwear now in at F. W. Daniel and Company's, Charlotte street. The greatest satisfaction has been expressed for the washing qualities of Stanfield's underwear—it seems to get softer and more elastic each time it is washed. It comes in several qualities and is more moderate in price than other makes. See advertisement on page 5.

If the police would visit the northerly extension of Exmouth street tomorrow, from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. they would find a gang of hoodlums, boys and girls, who terrorize the community by throwing stones and missiles of every description at church going people and citizens generally. They infest an alley there, and their conduct during the summer has been scandalous. Ringing of door bells is another of their pasttimes. Action is to be taken by the residents near the church to stop this carnival of obscenity. Last Sunday the noise and conduct of those hoodlums was simply disgraceful. A vigilance committee is needed.

On Thursday evening last the residence of Capt. and Mrs. G. F. Barlow, 300 Rockland road, was the scene of a pleasant event, when a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Rogers, who had just returned from Montreal, were present to celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding. Captain Barlow, who had not been home for some years, contributed to the interest of the occasion by giving some valuable information about the construction of the Panama canal, which he had visited, illustrating the same by a number of excellent pictures. After a bounteous supper, music and social intercourse was indulged in, all present extending to Mr. and Mrs. Rogers sincere wishes for many future years of wedded happiness.

COMFORT INSTEAD OF SPEED ON HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE.

No More Fast Boats Will be Built, But the New Ones Will be Most Luxurious.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The Hamburg-American Steamship Company has abandoned the policy of excessive speed in competing for Transatlantic traffic, and in future it will construct only large liners of moderate speed, but excelling all others in luxury and general comfort.

In explaining the reasons for the increase in the capital of the Hamburg-American Company, Herr Ballin, the general manager, announces that three more immense liners of the same type as the Amerika and the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria will be built.

The mail service between New York and Hamburg will be maintained solely by ships of this class. The Hamburg-American Company thus adopts the policy of leaving the task of building the fastest ships to the North German Lloyd Company.

Herr Ballin also announces that the American, West Indian and Asiatic services are to be largely extended. An entirely new line is to be established between Genoa and Brazilian and other South American ports. New ships are also to be built especially for trade in the Persian Gulf.

MURDERER SURRENDERS AFTER MANY YEARS

He Had Escaped from an Asylum—Was Confined for Shooting a Man the Day of His Marriage

DUBLIN, Oct. 5.—One of the most thrilling Irish crimes of the last century was recalled the other day, when William Thompson, an escaped murderer, who had succeeded in eluding the police for eighteen years, walked into the police barracks at Markethill, County Armagh, and gave himself up.

On March 2, 1888, a wedding was taking place in Knocknamuckly parish church, the bridegroom being a young widower named Thomas Thompson. His first wife, who was not long dead, was a sister to William Thompson, and there had been unpleasantness regarding the treatment of the woman by her husband. This was intensified by the fact that th husband had declined to attend the funeral.

On the day of the wedding William Thompson sat near the aisle, and as the bridegroom was passing in on his way to the altar, drew a revolver and shot him. The wounded man threw himself on his assailant, and, assisted by other men of the party, overpowered him after a desperate struggle.

The wound proved fatal, and William Thompson was tried for murder and sentenced to death. In addressing the court at the trial he explained at length his motive for the crime, alleging systematic ill-treatment of his sister. He expressly disclaimed any intention to set up a plea of insanity.

He was reprieved, however, on that ground, and was committed to Dundrum Criminal Asylum.

A few months later the murderer escaped from the asylum. No effort was spared to trace him, but although on several occasions the pursuers appeared to be on the track, Thompson was not seen again till he gave himself up.
