ELGIN, Feb. 6 .- Manning J. Collicutt, unable to engage a mill to cut his lumber, recently purchased from Robb & Sons, Amherst, a new mill, which he has placed about three miles from here, and has begun sawing. The recent heavy falls of snow have interfered with lumbering in the way of yarding logs, and nearly all have stopped and are now busy getting their lumber out. The roads are in a very bad condition, making it difficult for traffic outside and hard for mail drivers to make their routes on

The E. P. and H. railway has been running very irregularly of late, many days not getting in at all on account of the heavy falls of snow and bad condition of the rail. Mr. Simpson of Petitcodiac carries the mail when the train is not running.

A case of smallpox in a mill camp, Goshen, Kings Co., about seven miles from here, has made many of the residents here feel quite uneasy, as there is a great deal of traffic from there with this village. Two houses not far from here have been quarantined, as some of the inmates had been working there and came home when they found out what was the trouble. The school and church have been closed, but will re-open again on Monday if ther, are no new cases.

Some few are being vaccinated.

Miss Ella Smith of Moneton has charge of the primary department of the school here, in place of Miss Louisa Horsman, who is at Acadia this term. Mrs. George Dysart of Boston left for home today. Walton, executor, petitioned for a license to sell testator's right in the equity of redemption in certain lands, viz.: The Spoon Island Granite company's property, and the farm and homestead on which he and his family resided, the estate hav-ing realized insufficient means to meet its liabilities. It appeared from the petition that these properties are mortgaged to their full value, but it is hoped that the equity of redemption will bring in something to help matters The judge granted the license and advised that the sale should be held as near the properties as pas sible, as a means of obtaining the best offers. MAUGERVILLE, Sunbury Co., Feb. 4.—Memorial day was rather more honored in the breach than in the observance in this vicinity. The various vocations were plied as usual. The memorial staylor at St. John's Church of England here in the morning was very largely attended. The rector, Rev. The choir sang the hymns, Let Saints on Earth in Concert Sing, We Are Dying Day by Day, and O God, Our Help in Ages Past: Mrs. M. B. Mrs. Eleanor Rogers, widow of the late John Rogers, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. Archibald, yesterday morning, in the 90th year of her ige. The deceased had been confined to her bed for some months, but previous to that time had possessed an unusual measure of health and mental vigor, retaining a memory that carried her back to the early days of the century, of which she was able to talk most intelligently. The deceased was formerly a Miss Dodge of Massachusetts, but came to this county when a young girl, and resided with her uncle, Mr. Turnbull, one of the early settlers of Harvey. When quite young she was married to John Rogers of this place, who died some twenty years ago. monster chiravari WOODSTOCK, Feb. 8 .- At their convention yesterday the liberals nominated unanimously Stephen B. Appleby, K. C., as their candidate for vacant seat in the legislature for this county. The conservatives also had a convention, and in view of the short term which a member would serve, decided not to contest the seat. It is well known to liberals as well as to conservatives here that there would have been no difficulty in se curing a candidate had it been deemed advisable. Both parties desired to avoid a contest, and Mr. Appleby is far from objectionable to many conservatives. If Mr. White does not continue in the fied, Mr. Appleby will robably be elected by acclamation. A young boy named Willie West, rhose father works in Dickinson's larrigan factory, had a narrow escape from a violent death this morning. He was in a team owned by H. N. Payson, which ran away and dashed furiously down Main street to the Meduxnakik bridge. The sled struck on the end of the bridge and slewed, throwing young West heavily on the edge of the sidewalk. He was just bout to slip through and would have fallen to the ice beneath had not passing woman caught him, thereby saving his life.

The Salisbury and Harvey railway people have been experiencing a snow blockade this week on their road The regular train which left Albert on Monday morning did not reach this station until near midnight on Wednesday. Teams were sent out from here on Wednesday evening and the passengers were brought in from the train at the Coverdale crossing. Quite others have been at the hotels here for some days waiting for the train. The Free Baptist parsonage of this place was the scene of a very pleasant time on Wednesday evening, when the pastor, Rev. Abram Perry, and his wife were waited upon by a large number of their friends. The nature of the gathering was what might be termed a pound party. The visitors had a very pleasant time, and the genial host and hostess were the recipients of many valuable additions to their purse and larder.

GAME POACHERS CAUGHT.

(Chatham World.) A man named Petre, from the vicinity of Beaver Brook station, was before Police Magistrate Connors, a month ago, for killing caribou illegally, and was fined $50, which he did not pay. On Thursday last John and Victor Fournier, men who work on the railway near Beaver Brook station, were before the magistrate for assisting Petre to get the carcass out of the woods. Mr. Butler offered a plea of guilty on their behalf, but the magistrate refused to accept a ples of guilty by counsel, and required the men to attend and plead in person. They said Petre begged them to help him get the meat out of the woods as his family was starving, and they didn't know it was illegal to do so They were fined $50 each, and depart ed without paying. Game Warden Robinson, who was the complainant in each case, will ask the governmen to allow the fines to stand. Mr. Rob inson sold three-quarters of the confiscated caribou at auction in Chatham, the meat selling at seven cents

The Levin family disappeared almost immediately after the flames were discovered, but they were apprehended.

The fire was attended by more thrilling scenes than have been witnessed in Boston for a long time. Men and women jumped from the burning buildings, and firemen and policemen rescued others from smoke-filled corridors and hallways.

The building was occupied by 17 persons, and it is a miracle that more were not injured or killed.

The fire started on the first floor and was discovered by the watchman in a building of posite, who gave the alarm, but the building was enveloped in flames almost immediately afterward. When he reached the sidewalk the Levin family had just came from the building in their night clothes.

The second story was occupied by Daniel Hart, his wife, her sister and Hart's four children. Hart jumped from the second story windows seeing that exit by the stairway seemed impossible. Following him came his wife, her sister and all of the children being forced to jump. One of the children being forced to jump. One of the children heing forced to jump. From the rapidity with which the flames spreadt hrough the building a suspicion of incediarism was aroused, and Levin and his wife were taken into custody. Mrs. Levin says she and her husband locked the store door at 11.30, put out the gas and went to bed, and that she knew nothing more till she was awakened by the fire and was forced to run for life. Levin's 13 year old daug was awakened by the fire and was forced to run for life. Levin's 13 year old daughter is said to have told the pance, however, that her father did not come in to go to bed unu claims entire ignorance of the manner which the fire started. ome time after his wife.
