

Guest of Honor At Union Club

Sir James A. M. Aikens, Lieut. Governor of Manitoba, Was Guest of New Brunswick Barristers' Society Last Evening.

The Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and president of the Canadian Bar Association, Sir James A. M. Aikens, K. C., was the guest of honor at a dinner tendered him at the Union Club last evening by the New Brunswick Barristers' Society. In the absence of the president of the society, A. J. Gregory, of Fredericton, who was unable to be present because of illness, the vice-president, Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., presided and acted as toast master. He had seated at his left the guest of the evening, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and at his right, His Honor William Pasquier, the Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick. Others present were: Chief Justice Keown, Judge Crockett, Judge Armstrong, Hon. Robert Ritchie, L. P. D. Tilley, M. G. Teed, Daniel Mullin, J. S. M. Baxter, J. P. D. Lewis, W. J. Manning, R. S. Smith, L. A. Conlon, E. J. Hennebury, G. Earl Logan, G. V. H. Belyea, W. R. Scott, H. H. McLean, Jr., J. F. H. Teed, F. R. Taylor, C. F. Lynch, W. H. Harrison, J. R. Campbell, W. M. Ryan, Louis Ritchie, K. J. MacLachlan, E. C. Weyman, E. S. Ritchie, A. M. Wilson, S. B. Bush, Amongst the out of town lawyers were E. B. Hanson, A. R. Slipp, Hon. O. S. Crockett and J. F. Winslow, of Fredericton.

The toast to the King was responded to with musical honors. The proposing of the toast "Our Guest" was delegated by the toast master to His Honor Governor Pasquier, who introduced the guest of the evening in a very happy manner. He said that he had much pleasure in accepting the task imposed upon him, that he was proud to see the health of the guest of the evening, and equal pleasure in his office as Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick of extending a welcome to the province a welcome to the Lieut. Governor of Manitoba. He had known Sir James when but a struggling lawyer in the early days of Quebec. He had met him again as an opponent at Ottawa, and even as today when head of the great province of the west, he remained a gentleman and a man of high character. He had proposed the toast "Our Guest."

The toast was responded to by singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." In rising to reply Sir James spoke of his happiness in being a guest of the New Brunswick Barristers' Society in the opportunity it afforded him of meeting so many of his fellows. The pleasure of the evening was marred only by the fact that illness was responsible for the absence of two distinguished members of the society, its president, and Sir Charles Bell. Since meeting the members of the Bar of New Brunswick some six years ago, great events had transpired, the war had brought out the spirit of the nation; Canada, a spirit whose existence had not been known previous to the great struggle for democracy. Canadians at home and overseas had united in a supreme effort, and now, the final victory of the war was won. Canada had won her right to nationhood, and it was now incumbent upon the legal profession to strive towards the developing and fostering of a national spirit which should embody the ideals of the founders of the Dominion, and perpetuate the glorious traditions upon which was founded the greatness of the British Empire. This, he urged, could be accomplished by the union of lawyers of Canada in an association, which, embracing every province, could strive with a oneness of idea and a singleness of purpose towards instilling into the hearts of the people a spirit worthy of that of our splendid armies overseas.

One of the results of the war was intellectual ferment, temperamental restlessness, class consciousness and conflict. Now Canada was becoming normal in breath and blood, pressure and temperature, but it had developed by the war its national soul. Every nation worth a place in history had developed out of its history, its traditions, its religious faith, its ideals and purposes a dominating national spirit. True, it might require centuries to create it, but it was accelerated, as in Canada by the war. The birthplace of Canada, where he had breathed into it the breath of life, where it became a living soul, was in the East of Canada, and a peculiar sense, in Quebec and Quebec City, where the blood of Wolfe, representing the English, and Montcalm, representing the French—spirit flowed into our Canadian mother earth over towards our national soul, and where the British North America Act, formal expression of that soul, was framed. We are too prone to our progress to forget the past and the material part Quebec has played in it, too prone to think lightly of the love of the people of that province for the traditions, the moths, the laws peculiarly their own. Hence the sensitiveness of many Quebec lawyers to their excellent code of laws might be ruthlessly affected by an endeavor to have uniformity or similarity of business laws in the several provinces. It was never the intention of the Canadian Bar Association to interfere with that code system of Quebec but, on the contrary, to follow it by codifying or re-stating by statute the best principles of our laws relating to inter-provincial business.

We can learn much from the jurisprudence and the jurists of Quebec and should welcome all light from them in our attempted improvement. He spoke of the public spirit of the Bar, and of the giving at the present time of its great public service to our country, especially in the advancement of Canadian Jurisprudence, if the administration of justice giving it greater simplicity and efficiency and in upholding the honor of the

GIOLITTI WILL FORM CABINET

London, June 11.—Signor Giolitti, according to a Central News despatch from Rome, has approached the Socialists with a view to the formation of a coalition government whose foreign policy, he said, would not differ materially from that of the late government. The Socialists, however, are reported to have refused to co-operate.

THE GERMANS FACE ANOTHER ELECTION SOON

Coalitionists Have Won by Narrow Margin But Victory Only Temporary.

BITTERLY OPPOSED TO THE PEOPLE'S PARTY

By the Autumn They Hope to Be Able to Elect Clear Majority.

By S. B. Conger, (Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Berlin, June 10.—The present coalition parties, on the count-up today, have apparently a slender majority of about ten seats, with about 10 per cent of the vote still out. They are two holdovers from the constitutional National Assembly who continue to represent their districts in Parliament until their nationality is decided.

It is theoretically possible, should this lead be maintained when the time of the coalition government, on the present lines until the forty-two holdover members, of whom thirty-three are accredited to the coalition parties, retire, and then disappear the Reichstag and appeal anew to the country.

This is the solution of the crisis proposed by those socialists who are unalterably opposed to any pact with the People's Party of the old Liberal party, on account of its sponsorship and big business connections and at the same time are unwilling to go out into the wilderness of the opposition with the Independent Socialists and Communists. The solution would be admittedly temporary; new elections are inevitable by autumn. It is hoped by that time, particularly after the results of the Spa conference are known, that public opinion will have been sufficiently crystallized in one direction or another to permit the election of a new parliament in which some stable majority is possible. The favoring of the coalition parties, which favors the solution, points out that the months of June and July have been, ever since the beginning of the war, the most difficult from the viewpoint of political stability, and it is a guess that once these are over the German people may swing back to reaction on the nation's behalf.

Canada had won her right to nationhood, and it was now incumbent upon the legal profession to strive towards the developing and fostering of a national spirit which should embody the ideals of the founders of the Dominion, and perpetuate the glorious traditions upon which was founded the greatness of the British Empire. This, he urged, could be accomplished by the union of lawyers of Canada in an association, which, embracing every province, could strive with a oneness of idea and a singleness of purpose towards instilling into the hearts of the people a spirit worthy of that of our splendid armies overseas.

On the other hand, a plea for broadening the lines of the present coalition government by taking in the People's party, is being heard with growing insistence from all the non-Socialist parties, even the extreme conservatives of the National party who, with all their deep-seated and passionate dislike of socialism, know in their hearts that it is impossible to rule present Germany against the will of the labor. The Catholic organ, Germania, representing the views of the Centre party, which is itself erected on a coalition basis of workers, landowners, peasants, etc., united by a common faith, declares this is the best possible solution. The motto of Herr Stresemann, leader of the Peoples party, is "Barkis is willia."

The decision is for the moment up to President Ebert. The present ministers have placed their position at his disposal, giving him a free hand for cabinet making, the ministers negotiating the administration provisionally until a new cabinet is formed.

The decision to postpone the Spa conference is, under these conditions, received here with general satisfaction. Chancellor Mueller and his colleagues would undoubtedly have liked, for personal reasons, to conduct the negotiations at Spa and an early decision on the appeal for a stronger army is desirable, but other reasons all for a postponement.

The election of Chancellor Mueller, Vice-Chancellor Koch, Minister of Defense Gessler and nearly all the members of the present cabinet is now assured. Count von Bernstorff definitely has been defeated, but Matthias Erzberger returns triumphantly with a big majority from his home district. Von Koenitz, the author of the Mexican note of 1917, as successful candidate of the People's party at Frankfurt-on-Oder will be one of the automatic experts of the new parliament.

Bar and encouraging good fellowship among its members. Sir James paid a high compliment to the Bar of New Brunswick which, from the organization of the Canadian Bar Association had taken such a leading part in advancing its purposes.

Following Sir James eloquent address, the toast "The Supreme Court" was proposed by the toast master, and responded to by Chief Justice Keown and Justice Crockett. The toast "Promotion of Uniformity of Legislation in Canada," was proposed by the toast master and responded to by M. G. Teed, K. C., vice-president of the board.

The dinner was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

BOARD COMMERCE SUGAR JUDGMENT

Declares There Has Been Profiteering in Sugar of a Flagrant Character.

Ottawa, June 11.—(Canadian Press)—The first "sugar judgment" of the Board of Commerce since it abolished control of this commodity on February 26th was issued this evening. While dealing specifically with a complaint made by J. Gale, of Ottawa, against the firm of Durocher and Gosselin, general merchants of Eastview, the board declares that there has been profiteering in sugar of a flagrant character which has not been confined to those involved in this particular case.

The board's questionnaire system, which extends throughout Canada and whereby many thousands of traders report their costs and prices, discloses undoubted and indefensible profiteering in sugar by wholesalers and retailers alike, says the judgment and it goes on to state that there has arisen a new sugar profiteer—the pure speculator—who purchases second hand from wholesalers and retailers alike and then resells at relatively enormous profits, the consumer ultimately suffering.

The board is determined to put a stop to the practice, it mentions, says the judgment, "and it invokes, because it needs the assistance of the various attorney generals of the provinces. For the first time of any kind as a warning to all those persons who are engaged in profiteering the board states that it proposes to recommend the prosecuting attorneys of every firm and trader whose profits seem to the board to be unfair or whose prices seem to be unjust and unreasonable."

Referring to proceedings which it is taking and proposes to take against sugar profiteers, the board in its judgment states as follows: "The board will, so far as its powers extend, exercise in these proceedings such powers for the suppression of profiteering in sugar. It will prohibit all others than refiners from selling to wholesalers. It will prohibit the refiners from buying from others than refiners. It will prohibit speculators from buying or selling at all. It will define the legitimate trade of sugar refiners, wholesalers and retailers respectively. It will, in cases of justice, however, which is not always best served by insistence upon

EXAMINING INTO PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

Public Expenditures Aggregating $300,000,000 Came Before Committee Yesterday.

Ottawa, Ont., June 11.—(By Canadian Press)—Public expenditures aggregating approximately $300,000,000 and covering several items of public interest, including $121,640,016.62 for pay of Canadian forces overseas, came before the Public Accounts Committee today. The committee passed the formal motions asking for the production of documents, etc., also for the attendance of witnesses.

A. B. Copp and J. H. Sinclair, who have been prominent opposition critics of the government expenditure since this session, with J. Archambault, were the sponsors for most of the motions submitted today. The next session will be held Wednesday, when the Auditor-General will be the main witness examined.

This is the first sitting of the Public Accounts Committee this session; in fact for nearly two sessions. Interest, however, was somewhat lacking there being a bare quorum present. It was decided to call the House to reduce the quorum number from twenty-one to twelve.

Among the items named today were the following: $23,668.80 paid to Major R. Napier for travel and expenses; $45,103.12 for advertising and $27,103.50 printing in connection with the National War Savings Committee; $4,800 paid to W. S. Leckie, Secretary of the War Purchasing Commission; $17,124.63, visit of French missions; $1,793.03 to Colley & Scott, Customs brokers; $147,169,187.98 Outfits.

Druggists and Doctors Astonished At Wonderful Power of Nicotol

To Stop the Use of Tobacco

To Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco Try These Simple Tests

New York.—Mr. Tobacco User, any druggist will tell you that a remedy to be successfully sold must, above everything, possess merit, otherwise failure is inevitable. Nicotol, the famous remedy for the tobacco habit, was a success right from the start, simply because we published a few letters from some of the best known druggists in the country to give you an idea of what they think of Nicotol, and you may rest assured that they would not permit the use of their names unless Nicotol was something out of the ordinary. The Peoples Drug Stores have five of the best stores in Washington, D. C. They write: "Since we have handled Nicotol the sale has been greater than that of all the rest of the articles of this nature which we have ever sold. The demand was so great that we were compelled to order it from you direct." Schramm-Johnson, who has six stores in Salt Lake City, says: "We take this opportunity of expressing ourselves most warmly to Nicotol. We have enjoyed a very large sale of same and it has given entire satisfaction to our customers." Jacob Brothers, of Philadelphia, Pa., have this to say: "Our sales of Nicotol have passed our expectations. Our first order was placed late in March and we were forced to re-order before the end of April; the sales have kept up ever since. There is no doubt that we are receiving many repeat orders from our customers and many expressions of opinion regarding the merit of this article have been very favorable." Dr. Conner, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, tells how to detect the harmful effects of tobacco. Here is what he says: "Many men who smoke, chew or snuff incessantly and who are seemingly healthy are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been affected had it not been for the use of tobacco to excess, and thousands would soon not well if they would stop. The chief habit forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison which when absorbed by the system, slowly affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even cancer or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco to excess in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects, by making the following simple tests: Read aloud one full page from a book. In the course of reading your voice becomes muffled, hoarse and indistinct; you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh and it may be the beginning of more serious
