Of all diseases to which frail humanity is liable, there are none more generally neglected in their commencement, or more fatal in their termination than those arising from defective or suppressed perspiration, whether we regard them in the trivial light of a slight Cold, or whether we view them in the terrific form of Pulmonary Consumption—the latter, alas! but too frequently the sequel of the former. At the very first symptoms of a Cold, Hagar's Pectoral Balm should be administered. For sale by all dealers.

MESSRS. MILBURN, BENTLEY & PEARSON.

TROWBRIDGE, March 2nd, 1873.

GENTLEMEN,—About the first of November last I contracted a very heavy cold, which settled on my lungs, and through it I was so hoarse for about two months that I could hardly speak. I used a number of different dollar bottles without any good effect. One day, reading your almanac, I noticed that Hagar's Pectoral Balm was recommended. I resolved to try it, and after using three 25 cent bottles, was entirely well.

Yours truly,

CHAS. COSENS, P.M.

DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND STOMACH.

Sick Headache, Costiveness, Indigestion, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Foul Stomach and Breath, also Skin Diseases, such as Scurf, Scrofulous Sores, Swellings, Fever Sores, White Swellings, Tumours, Old Sores or Swellings, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Tetters, Erysipelas, Pimples, Blotches, Eruptions, Sore Eyes and all affections of the Skin, Throat, Kidneys and Lungs, and Impurity of the Blood.

There is scarcely any disease in which purgative and opening medicines are not more or less required, and much sickness and suffering might be prevented were they more generally used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of the body prevails; besides, it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases, which might have been avoided by a timely and judicious use of proper medicine. Great care has been taken to perfect to meet this want. They purify the Blood and remove all corrupt humours and unhealthy accumulations from the stomach, cleansing and invigorating the whole body. They are mild in their action. They do not leave the bowels costive. They can be taken at any time without injury to business. They purify and strengthen at one and the same time.

They are the most searching medium in use, removing all impurities from the blood, from which we derive our strength and mental capabilities. From the blood our systems are built up and kept in repair, hence it behoves us to keep our blood in a perfectly healthy condition; for when we purify our blood, we not only cure the disease, but we put our system in such an improved condition that we are less liable to disease.

The National Pills may be taken at all times without restriction to diet or occupation. They are sugar-coated and are put up in air-tight boxes and as a Family Medicine have no equal.
