On the ground of health, it is necessary to request parents not to send their daughters confectionery, preserves or any other eatables, except, perhaps, fresh fruit. Our table is abundantly supplied with wholesome, nutritious food and a large part of the illness among the students is directly traceable to the mistaken kindness of "boxes from home."

At the close of each term a report of each pupil is sent to the parent or guardian, giving a record of attendance at church, morning exercises and recitations, together with rank in scholarship and department.
