KILLED BY HIS SISTER

Seattle Youth Recently Acquitted on Charge of Murder

George Mitchell, Who Killed "Holy Roller" Creffield, Shot Through the Head at Seattle Union Depot.

Seattle, July 12.—George Mitchell, a youth who recently shot and killed Franz Edmund Creffield, a "Holy Roller" prophet and was acquitted of the charge of murder on a plea of insanity, was today shot and killed by his sister, Esther, in the Seattle union station.

Esther Mitchell joined the "Holy Rollers" at Corvallis, Oregon, and was one of the most ardent of Creffield's followers. When her brother pursued the leader of the "Holy Rollers" to Seattle, and shot him in the street, he pleaded in justification that Creffield had deluded and wronged his sister. George Mitchell was acquitted on the charge of murder on Tuesday and nearly all of the following day he spent in searching for Esther in Seattle lodging houses. She had refused to be comforted after the death of Creffield and would not have anything to do with her brother. She was finally found, however, and came to the railroad station to see her three brothers, George, Perry and Fred, off to their home in Oregon.

The brother and sister were sitting on a bench in the station waiting room talking, and apparently on the best of terms. When the Oregon train arrived, George Mitchell was the first to get up. At this moment his sister stepped to his side and pointing a revolver at his head, fired the fatal shot before anyone else in the room realized what was happening.

Mitchell was arrested shortly after the shooting. Perry and Fred Mitchell were arrested as witnesses. They were found together on a bench, sobbing on each other's shoulders.

At the trial of Mitchell for the murder of Creffield, O. V. Hurt, of Oregon, was one of the chief witnesses. He had told Mitchell of Creffield's "Holy Roller" doings and so led to the murder. Hurt's story in court was in substance as follows:

"I told Mitchell of Creffield and of his practices and prayers and the effect of his prayers on the people. I told him that the wonderful power Creffield had over his followers, such that whatever he said they should do they did. I told him that the Creffield followers, including Esther, Donna (Mrs. B. E. Starr, another sister of Mitchell) and my wife would lie on the floor for hours. A few of them had the further power of going into trances at these times, and one of these latter was Esther Mitchell. During the trances they received messages from God. At times, while lying on the floor they would pray continually. At other times they would shout so that they could be heard half a mile away. I told him that Creffield would stand over them while they do this, or God would smile them. I said to him they were all in a religious frenzy, and were all crazy. I said my wife, son and daughter had all been sent to the insane asylum, and my wife would lie on the floor for hours from my home and sent to the Boys and Girls' Aid Society in Portland."

"I told him that at one time the Holy Rollers had had a burnt sacrifice, slaying two dogs and a cat. I told him there was talk of their offering up a little child. I told him, continuing the witness, 'how my family and his sisters had removed their clothing except light wrappers and would not sit in a chair. I told him how my family would not eat in my presence and how my wife would not have anything to do with her own child. She said it was not regenerated. I told him my wife had ruined my family, my wife and his sisters. My own daughter would have nothing to do with me and I sent her to the Boys and Girls' Aid Society. In a few days she wrote that she was ready to come back and she told me of Creffield's teachings."

TO OPEN EXHIBITION

As was announced some few days ago in these columns, Governor-General Lord Grey is coming west this fall and is already booked to open the New Westminster exhibition.

Captain McMorris, secretary of the Nelson exhibition, is corresponding now with a view to inducing his excellency to make his trip to the coast via the Crow's Nest Pass and to strike Nelson in time to open the exhibition in this city on September 19.

Earl Grey could not get a better invitation into the province than the Kootenay conditions than by accepting Captain McMorris' invitation and spending a few days in this city at fair time.

CONSTRUCTION OF K.C.R.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS FROM LONDON AND MONTREAL.

TWELFTH OF JULY, CELEBRATION AT CRANBROOK.

(Special to The Daily News)

Cranbrook, July 12.—Mr. Humphreys, who is interested extensively in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. and the big ranch up Wolf creek, has written to a friend in Cranbrook from London, Eng., stating that he met O. Hungerford Pollen in that city. He quotes Mr. Pollen as being his authority for the statement that the Kootenay Central railway would be completed by 12 or 15 months from 1st September next.

This report received a most important corroboration immediately after from a gentleman in direct touch with one of the biggest and most important industrial and financial institutions in the world. His version of the date for the intended completion exactly coincided with Mr. Pollen's statement. In an hour after it came out that the engineers for the government had gone up the valley and are encamped at Thunder Hill, where they are said to be engaged in making a triangulation survey work in connection with the line.

It can also be said that very recently the manager of a certain lumber company found it necessary to direct to the fountain head of all reliable information touching the intentions of the C. P. R., in order to get an assurance with regard to transportation before putting in a big sawmill near Mr. Hanson's place at Wase. Sir Thomas Shannessy is stated to have told him to go ahead with the erection of the mill, and that the C. P. R. would be operating the Kootenay Central before he would have necessity to move his lumber to the eastern market.

Any one of those facts, taken alone, would not carry an ounce of indication of the real set of the C. P. R. wind, but the four of them, coming together from unquestionable sources, point conclusively to the fact that construction will be, not alone continued, but pressed forward with vigor from Golden to the south end of the valley. To say that it will be built into Cranbrook would be inviting the lash of criticism from Fred Steele, and to assert that the Crow's Nest will be on the route is flat blasphemy in the eyes of people who can swing a pen of vitriol and a sword of smiting.

The Loyal Orange Lodge of Cranbrook, being augmented by a prominent from Fernie, duly celebrated the "Glorious Twelfth." No less than 25 men and a piper figured in the parade. When the march was over, the chapter of a life, with an active moral, was closed yesterday by his honor Judge Wilson when he sentenced Richard Struck to a year and a day in the hard labor in Nelson jail for robbery from the person.

Strong occupied an excellent and responsible position some years ago with the C. P. R., and is said to be a first class accountant—an expert in fact. While in the employ of the company a conviction for forgery deprived him both of reputation and occupation, and thereafter his line of descent ran through all the gamut of odd jobs, from a loafer, post-office swabber out of bars, general lounge and night hawk and finally, the conviction now recorded against him.

Last week Robert Robson, of Mayne, came into the city and started on one of his sprees, the periodicity of which tally with his acquiring a sufficiency of money for the purposes of a debauch. Early last Saturday he and Strong were drinking heavily together. Robson was drunk in a hotel parlor and fell off his chair in a stupor. A respectable man named Burns was in the room at the time. A few moments after Robson fell Strong came into the room and promptly proceeded to "roll" his friend for what he had done to him. He got some bills from one pocket, when Burns shouted to him not to rob the man. Strong took no notice of the objection, but turned Robson over to get at his watch and chain. The tugging at the chain awakened Robson who clutched at the pocket containing the watch. In the struggle the watch was broken and the chain was found by the chief of police in Strong's possession. Strong accounted for it by saying he found it on the floor of the parlor. O'Hearn, who was in charge of the bar, proved that his attention was called to what was going on in the parlor, whereupon he went into the room and asked Strong if he had taken the watch. Strong denied it. A few minutes Robson gave him his watch, with a small piece of gold chain attached, and a $5 bill for safe keeping. Burns and Strong had some words, Burns charging Strong with "rolling" Robson. O'Hearn kicked Strong out of the house.

The prisoner was defended by C. H. Dunlop, of the bar. At the close of the trial, Strong merely took the watch for safe keeping, fearing that Robson would be relieved of them by some less scrupulous convict. The prisoner swore that he took both the watch and chain to keep for Robson and that he had them both for an hour at the Queen's hotel when he gave the former to Robson, retaining the chain to get it mended.

When G. H. Thompson, who prosecuted, had finished his cross-examination of Strong and brought out the fact of the robbery of the case at present, it took his honor less than five seconds to make up his mind in the matter. His honor stated that he entirely believed the version of the case as presented by O'Hearn and that he did not believe the accused. He sentenced Strong to a year's imprisonment with hard labor.

The prisoner, unfortunately, more offences of this character committed in Cranbrook than the public are aware of. A few of the "unholy rollers" might well be sent to the penitentiary. The prisoner was taken to the jail and will spend a month here, the guests of Mrs. Smithingher's mother, Mrs. C. G. McKinnon.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierson, who recently purchased a ranch near Slovan, arrived this week, accompanied by several friends and family.

Mr. W. H. Brandon of Silvertown is visiting friends in Slovan. The local Orangemen gave a ball last night, the two brothers of the young man shot by his sister, Mrs. Creffield, widow of the "Holy Roller" leader who was killed by George Mitchell and Frank Hurt. Mrs. Creffield is now in the city, and will spend a month here, the guests of Mrs. Smithingher's mother, Mrs. C. G. McKinnon.

IS THE BEST

developed. The Flathead valley is a magnificent one and should afford homes for hundreds of settlers. Today everything is at a standstill owing to the failure on the part of the government to make the valley accessible, and, further, because of the license tangle. What the outcome of this latter feature will be no one can say. The licenses are only good for three years and unless holders get busy next season and make some improvements on their claims they are likely to lose them, and yet it is impossible for license holders to do anything owing to the inaccessibility of the country.

Mr. Yull's opinion is that the most economical and expeditious method for the government to pursue to open up this section is to build a wagon road from the summit to connect with the Fincher-Oil City road, already completed and in use.

In addition to the official regatta events there will be a good program of rowing races and aquatic sports generally, open to all comers.
