

"You will have broader markets, and will have them for all time. You have known suffering and have been patient. Let us end it. Take heart."

Another promise, not to relieve, but to end distress! I wonder what the agriculturists of all Canada, and of the West in particular, are saying to my right honourable friend today about their suffering and their patience!

The assurance given with respect to "blasting" was repeated at Victoria on June 17th without restriction to agricultural products. It was given as respects all exportable surpluses and to be made applicable on a world-wide scale. It was as follows. I quote from the Victoria Colonist of June 17th:-

"It is true we must have foreign markets, and as I said the other evening, we will blast a way to those markets on a world-wide basis with any exportable surpluses. We do not have to worry about that."

And at Vancouver, on the same day, resort to the same method was promised as a cure for all troubles and difficulties. I quote from the Montreal Gazette of June 19th:

"So will I, when the government is mine, continue to blast a way through all our troubles and difficulties."
