OFFICIAL STATISTICS

WITH REGARD TO CROPS
Ottawa, June 13, 1917.—The Census and Statistics Office issued today a preliminary estimate of the areas sown to grain crops this spring, with a report of their condition on May 31 as compiled from the returns of crop correspondents. The reports from the prairie provinces state that the spring there is very backward, and seeding is consequently late. At the end of May severe frosts cut down the growing wheat plant, but rapid recovery was anticipated. Rain was needed for the germination of the later sown crops and of wheat sown on stubble.

AREA AND CONDITION OF WHEAT

It is estimated from the reports of correspondents that the total area sown to wheat for 1917 is 13,450,250 acres, as compared with 14,897,000 acres, the area sown, and with 12,900,600 acres, the area harvested in 1916. Thus, the area sown this year, whilst nearly 10% less than the area sown for 1916, is about 4% more than the area harvested for 1916. In arriving at these figures, the returns of the Census of 1916 have been included for Manitoba; for Saskatchewan and Alberta similar revisions have not yet been completed. As compared with the areas sown for 1916, the returns this year indicate small increases under wheat in each of the Atlantic provinces and in British Columbia and an increase of 25,000 acres in Quebec; but for each of the remaining provinces decreases are reported to the extent of 154,000 acres in Ontario, 254,000 acres in Manitoba, 927,000 acres in Saskatchewan and 158,000 acres in Alberta. Of the total area sown under wheat 809,250 acres were sown last fall, 12,641,000 acres were sown this spring. In the three prairie provinces the total area sown to wheat is estimated at 12,497,550 acres, comprising 2,476,850 acres in Manitoba, 7,605,700 acres in Saskatchewan and 2,415,000 acres in Alberta.

The average condition on May 31, in per cent of the stand in Ontario, is a full crop is for fall wheat for Canada 84% as compared with 90% on May 31 last year and with 91% the average condition on the corresponding date for the seven years ended 1916. In the prairie provinces the condition of wheat is 87% of the standard in Manitoba, 80% in Saskatchewan and 92% in Alberta. Converted into a standard of 100 are representing the average condition at the end of May of the past seven years 1910 to 1916, the average for the whole of Canada of fall wheat is 86, of spring wheat 94, and of fall wheat 93%. Thus, according to its reported condition on May 31, the anticipated yield per acre of wheat this year is 7% less than the average of the seven years 1910-16.

AREA AND CONDITION OF OTHER CROPS

The decrease in the area sown to wheat this year is partly due to the curtailment of the seeding season by the lateness of the spring and efforts were therefore apparently directed towards an increase in the areas sown to other crops. For oats, the acreage is 11,781,900 acres, as compared with 11,376,346 acres, the area sown, and 9,875,346 acres, the area harvested last year. Barley is sown to 1,954,100 acres as against 1,827,780 acres, the area sown, and 1,681,180 acres, the area harvested in 1916. Rye has a sown area of 159,478 acres, as compared with 147,170 acres, in 1916; peas 152,465 acres compared with 159,680 acres; mixed grains 558,250 acres, as compared with 410,796 acres; hay and clover 7,661,800 acres, against 7,892,902 acres; and alfalfa 84,900 acres, against 89,472 acres. The condition of these crops in per cent of the standard representing a full crop is for oats 85% compared with 90% last year and 92% the average at the end of May for the seven years 1910-16; for barley 87%, as against 89% last year and 92%, the seven years average; for rye 86% against 91% last year and 89%, the average; for peas 85% compared with 90% last year and 92%, the average; for hay and clover 90% compared with 95% and 92%, the average.

CONDITIONS IN ALBERTA

A telegram from the Alberta Department of Agriculture dated June 12 states that the general season is somewhat late, especially between Wetaskiwin and Crossfield. The weather is cool but crops are doing well. No frost has been reported since June 5. All grain for threshing is sown, but there is 40% for green feed yet to sow. There is plenty of moisture in all parts.

TWIN BROTHERS ORDAINED

On Wednesday at Esopus, N. Y., the twin brothers, Daniel and Timothy O'Sullivan, were raised to the priesthood in the study house of the Redemptorist Order. The young priests are natives of Cork, Ireland. They came to this country thirteen years ago after which they attended St. Ann's School, previous to going to college. They are brothers of the Rev. M. O'Sullivan, member of the Redemptorist Order and also of Thomas O'Sullivan, and of Denis O'Sullivan. Mrs. O'Sullivan, mother of the young priests, lives at Lachine. She was present at the ordination ceremony accompanied by two sons, two daughters, and two nieces.

The newly-made priests will celebrate their first Mass in St. Ann's Church next Sunday, one at 7:30 o'clock and the other at 10 o'clock. As a coincidence, it was in the same church and on the very same date thirteen years ago that the lads attended their first Mass in Canada.—Montreal Herald, June 15.

VACATION

SHIFTING RESPONSIBILITY

The oncoming vacation gives back to the parents a fuller share of the care of their children than they had exercised during the school year. Responsibility for the child rests in the parents. This duty is never transferred. God will exact an accounting at their hands. Those who have entrusted their children to the care of the priests, brothers, and sisters in the schools, colleges and academies, have the assurance that their spiritual needs are well cared for. When the restraints are loosened during the vacation the insistent duty of parents should reassert itself in the utmost safeguarding of the souls of those whom God has loaned them. The larger liberty enjoyed by the children during the summer months must mean greater oversight for their recreation, companions and associates. It would be criminal in the extreme to have the work of the school year destroyed in a few months. Now more than ever the coming generation must have the solid virtues of our holy Faith deeply grounded into it. What changes the War will bring cannot be foretold. This much, however, seems certain: there will be a loosening of moral restraints. This has been the effect in the other countries at war. Agencies that have come to be a part of life will be diverted into other uses. We shall come to understand that the bitter experience of juvenile crime and delinquency. To safeguard against these calamities nothing should be left undone. The responsibility of parents always sacred, always peremptory, is now doubly so. Take the time to watch over your precious possessions. Keep your children close to you. Be one with them in their lives. Above all, see to it that they approach the sacraments with even greater regularity than during the school year. In doing this you are doing your "bit" for your country and your Church.—New World.

FINDINGS OF A COURT

Legal proceedings have recently been terminated in an Illinois court, where an injunction had been brought towards restraining the officials of Cook county from paying for children who had been legally committed to the Kettler Manual Training School for Boys and the Katharine Kasper Industrial School for Girls, both of which institutions are connected with the Angel Guardian Orphanage in Chicago. The decree by which the suit was dismissed, for want of equity, embodies several interesting features. Not only did the court find that the county was in duty bound to support the dependents whom it had committed but that it "would require the investment by the county of Cook or by the state of Illinois of several millions of dollars to build, equip, and maintain public institutions for the proper care of such dependent children," all of which expenditure is made necessary under the present arrangements. Although, moreover, it was shown that "the schools are equipped, managed and conducted in an efficient manner, and such as to give the children so committed to them training," and that no trespass has been made on the laws prohibiting the public support of any sectarian institution, as such, we read that the case does not appear, is not without its bigots. The case at issue is obviously the result of bigotry. And bigotry in Illinois, as elsewhere, dies hard.—The Monitor.

To care very much about God, we must know Him; He is the All-Holy, Whom it is wise to know and to understand. Let us have recourse to Mary. She is His Mother and so can tell us about Him. She is our Lady of Good Counsel, and so will teach us what to do and what to avoid in order to please Him and win Him for our own.—R. G. S.

LEGAL AUTHORITY DISCOVERS THAT HIS OWN FINDINGS HAD BEEN STATED CENTURIES AGO

The latest number of the American Journal of Sociology, a magazine numbering among its contributors the most eminent of American sociologists, brings an interesting article from the pen of James Harrington Boyd entitled "Socialization of the Law."

"The great master-students," says Boyd, "in the development of the principles of jurisprudence of modern civilization were Friedrich Carl von Savigny, Bernard Windscheid, and Rudolph von Jhering." Of the latter we are told: "Dr. Rudolph von Jhering (1818-1892) died in Goettingen in the fall of 1892. Jhering was at the time of his death the most profound student of law that the world has known." The author then goes on to review in some detail the various published works of the learned scholar. Particular mention is made of his work entitled "Purpose in Law."

In connection with the latter work it cannot but be of genuine interest to point to a very telling but little known fact. In an issue of the Literarischer Handweiser or Literary Guide, Rev. Wilhelm Hohoff, a priest well-known for his writings on historical and sociological topics, reviewed the first edition of Dr. Jhering's work in question. In this review he points to the fact that the fundamental principles embodied in Jhering's work were already very clearly stated in the writings of St. Thomas of Aquin. Jhering thereupon wrote in the second edition of "Purpose in Law," the following words so remarkable and so instructive: "He (Hohoff) proves to me by quotations that this great mind has fully and correctly recognized the realistic, practical and social ethical, the historical as well as the ethical, the ignorance with which he reproaches me, I cannot deny, but with a much greater weight of reproach he hits the modern philosophers and Protestant theologians; who have neglected to utilize the magnificent thoughts of this man. I ask myself in astonishment:

"How was it possible that such truths, once uttered, could fall so completely into oblivion among our Protestant men of learning? What errors might have been avoided if they had known how to take them to heart. As for myself, I might never have written my book, had I known them, for the fundamental thoughts with which I was most concerned are to be found in full clarity and in most pregnant form in the writings of this mighty thinker."

Jhering closes with the remark that: "If my present book is to be a success, it must work to this purpose that Protestant science must avail itself of the help which it can obtain through Catholic Theology; those who allow the instruction, which they can obtain from their adversaries to go unnoticed, only harm themselves."

Surely these noble words of the learned Goettingen scholar have a very significant message, especially for those of our American sociologists, who, it would seem, consider themselves called to originate and propagate whatever is worth while in Social Science.—C. B. of C. V.

Beauty at your command

NATURE intends every girl and woman to be beautiful—a delight to behold, possessing a clear, glowing skin, bright eyes sparkling with life, an abundance of glorious hair, a perfect complexion, and a spirit of happiness to crown all—the happiness that comes from a knowledge of being beautiful, the happiness which adds to that beauty because it makes it more radiant, the happiness of a contented soul within.

It is easily possible for any girl or woman to add greatly to her personal attractions by knowing just what to do for skin, face, hands, eyes, hair and figure. To obtain the lack of correct knowledge of what to do and how to do it, that stands in the way of greater beauty. Show many a plain and even unattractive woman just what course to follow, and give simple, easy directions, and she will become more handsome like her fortunate friends.

Queen Margaret Beauty Courses

Fill just this need. In simple, understandable language they tell just what women and girls need to know to bring personal charm in their own hands to its highest point. Nothing like these clear helpful courses has ever been issued before. They are easy to follow and take little time. Some women are given recipes are given for various treatments. These may be applied at your dressing table for very little, and will save money which you would otherwise spend on expensive and sometimes harmful preparations. Every girl or woman who values her personal appearance should secure the complete set of Queen Margaret Beauty Courses. At the price $3, will be saved on toilet preparations alone in a few weeks.

Look over this partial list of subjects: GENERAL TALK ON BEAUTY—its causes—its hindrance—relation of health to beauty—aid to good looks—making the most of limited personal attractions—overcoming defects of complexion—mind in its relation to beauty. THE COMPLEXION—"Mix of Faces"—recipe for the complexion—the rain-water treatment—correcting an oily skin—how to banish blackheads—freckles—sunburn—pimples—treatment for blemishes—recipe for "Cream of Pond Lilies"—massage treatment for wrinkles—facial exercises—how to brush—digital pressure for wrinkles—getting rid of superfluous hair—securing regular features—color and smoothness of complexion. THE HAIR—How to have beautiful hair—hair health—stopping hair falling—the cure for dandruff—"The Queen Margaret Hair Wash"—recipe for exercise to promote growth—right and wrong methods of brushing—"The Crowned Glory"—Hair-Incisor—recipe for "The Loveliness OF HANDS"—Corrective recipe for excessive sweating—treatment for chapping—the amazing cure for stiff, rough hands—expressive exercises for giving flexibility—recipe for "Apple Blossom"—Whitening Lotion. THE EYES—The Eyes, the Windows of the Soul—harmless treatment for making eyes clear and bright—eye exercises—treatment for redness—how to have clear and bright eyes—recipe for "Green Eyebrow Cream"—eyes that will shine. THE FIGURE AND ITS DEVELOPMENT—The human form—how to develop the bust—how to put on flesh—how to reduce weight—massage treatment for perfection of form—easy and short exercises for figure improvement—and many other subjects too numerous to give here.

These courses are a constant friend and guide to the woman who is really desirous of appearing her best at all times. By their aid you will be able to attract your friends and if need increase the respect of a specialist in beauty culture. The recipes alone are worth ten times the cost of these wonderfully complete courses.

Send $3 to-day and begin your treatment at once. Tell us in two or three weeks how greatly you have benefited from the purchase of our complete courses by postal order or express order at our risk. The complete courses will be mailed you the day your order is received.

Aunt Honor's Keepsake, by Mrs. James Sadler. An interesting story with a strong religious character. It is set in every walk of American society, in every trade and calling, in every nook and corner. The story is a thrilling one.

Alvia, or The Heroine of Vesuvius, by Rev. A. J. O'Reilly. A thrilling story of the seventeenth century.

African Fabiola, The; translated by Right Rev. Mgr. Joseph O'Connell, D. D. The story of the life of St. Fabiola, who suffered martyrdom together with her slave, Felicitas, at Carthage in the year 293. One of the most moving in the annals of Christian history.

Alchemist's Secret, The; by Isabel Cecilia Williams. This collection of short stories is not of the sort written simply for amusement, but they have a simple, direct teaching, and they lead us to think of and to pity sorrows and trials of others rather than our own.

Alas Kitty Casey, by Marie Gertrude Williams. Kitty Casey is a really Catholic character. A girl threatened with misfortune, who in an endeavor to secure herself, and at the same time enjoy the advantages of the country, enters a convent, occupies a menial position in a hotel, taking the position of waitress refused by her maid, Kitty Casey. The story is well written, and is a tale of the South before the Civil War. Two other stories are contained in this volume: "Agnes," and "For Many Days."

Blakes and Langanas, by Mrs. James Sadler. This book is the masterpiece of the illustrious author whose writings have made a household word among the Catholics of America.

Borrowed From The Night, by Anna C. Minogue. Miss Minogue has a way of bringing to readers the delightful Southern character in all its charm and gentility. No one who has read "Borrowed From The Night," without being fascinated with Miss Minogue, whose early life is surrounded with so much interest.

Cardome, by Anna C. Minogue. A Romance of Kentucky. Much has been written of the troublesome times from 1860 to 1865, but seldom has a Catholic author taken this historic half decade as material for a story. Miss Minogue is a resident of Kentucky, and in Cardome presents a clear picture of the confusion and uncertainty which existed in that state. The story is a tale of the struggle between the North and the South, and is a story of romance and adventure.

Callista, by Cardinal Newman. A tale of the Fourth Century, attempting to imagine, and express the feelings and relations between Christians after the death of Christ. It is a story of Captain Ross, by Raoul de Navery. A thrilling story of fearlessness and adventure.

Catholic Cause, by Rev. J. M. Gifford, M. A. The adventures of Owen Evans Esq., Surgeon's Mate, set ashore with companions on a desolate island in the Caribbean.

Cineas, by J. M. Villefranche. A study of civilization, and a comparison of Christianity with Paganism and purely human philosophy, with Judaism also, towards the close of the reign of Nero. The author presents a clear and to meet and analyze the different conditions and understandings of the various religions. The author has created imaginary characters such as Cineas of the Roman Guard around whose conversion to Christianity the story is built.

Commander, The; by Charles D'Hericourt. An historical novel of the French Revolution.

Conscience's Tales, by Hendrick Conscience. Thoroughly interesting. By Anonymous. A Flemish life, including "The Recruit," "Min-Hot Noblemen," "Blind Ross," and "A Poor Nobleman."

"Deer Jane," by Isabel Cecilia Williams. A sweet, simple tale of a self-sacrificing girl, whose ambition to keep the little household together is told with a grace and interest that is irresistible. Faith, Hope and Charity, by Anonymous. An exceedingly interesting tale of love, war and adventure during the exciting times of the French Revolution.

Fernicelle, Fernicelle is the name of a large estate in Devonshire. The story is set in the Falkland, who with her family and adopted sister, Francis Macdonald, furnish a charming picture of the most influential life in the Falkland Islands. The innocent sufferer.

Four Great Evils of the Day, by Agnes Manning Happy-Go-Lucky, by Mary C. Crowley. A collection of Catholic stories for boys, including "A Little Heroine," "The Boy Who Wasn't," "The Boy and His Friends," "The Boys at Bolton," and "A Christmas Stocking."

Hawthornean, by Clara M. Thompson. A story of America's life founded on fact.

Heresy of Kilmagna, by Mrs. J. M. Gifford. History and fiction combined; very interesting.

The Crucible, by Isabel Cecilia Williams. These stories of high endeavor, of the patient bearing of pain, the sacrifice of self for others' good, are keyed to the divine truth story of Him who gave up His life and died on Calvary's Cross (Sacred Heart Review).

Kathleen's Motto, by Genevieve Walsh. An interesting and inspiring story of a young lady, who by her simplicity and industry, succeeds in spite of discouraging difficulties.

Lady Anabel and The Shepherd Boy, by Elizabeth H. Stewart. A Catholic tale of a young girl, who the daughter of a noble English family is recruited in the course of time into the ranks of the army. The story is a tale of love, war and adventure. The story is a tale of a young lady, who by her simplicity and industry, succeeds in spite of discouraging difficulties.
